

CANCER PATH WIDENS

... Deblocking Antibodies May Join Fight

The New York Times

Carefree, Ariz. — A husband-wife research team has reported they have discovered the probable reason why cancer patients do not reject their cancers, even though the cancer — like a transplanted heart or kidney — is "foreign" to the patient's body.

Their discovery could lead to a way to treat cancer by helping the patient's immune mechanism to combat the foreign uncontrolled growth.

The work may also lead to a modification of present methods of treating cancer — extensive drug and radiation therapy and radical surgery — all of which may impair the patient's immune response.

Findings Presented

The research team, Drs. Karl and Ingegerd Hellstrom of the University of Washington School of Medicine in Seattle, presented their findings to an American Cancer Society seminar for science writers.

The Hellstroms' work centers on recent findings that many, if not all, cancer tissues contain substances called antigens that are not found in normal non-cancerous tissues. Such foreign antigens normally stimulate the production of antibodies to counteract them — just as disease-producing viruses and bacteria provoke the body's immune mechanism to produce antibodies which help the patient fight off his illness.

What has baffled cancer scientists, therefore, is the apparent inability of a cancer patient's immune mechanism to knock out the foreign growth.

Even more baffling was the Hellstroms' demonstration two years ago that in the cancer patient, one part of the immune response — white blood cells called lymphocytes — are "sensitized" to the antigens of the cancer tissue.

Foreignness Reunifiable.

In other words, the immune mechanism was capable of recognizing the foreignness of the cancer cells. The sensitized lymphocytes were also capable of killing the patient's cancer cells in test tubes, as well as cancer cells from other patients with similar tumors. Why, then, did the cancer in the patients grow unchecked?

Studies in animals with cancer and in cancer patients revealed that a substance, which the Hellstroms called "blocking antibody," apparently protects the tumor from attack by the sensitized lymphocytes. This finding has been confirmed in several other laboratories here and abroad.

The Hellstroms found evidence of the blocking antibody in 67 of 81 patients whose tumors were thriving, but only in three of 19 patients who were free of symptoms following treatment of their cancers.

This suggested that yet another substance — a "deblocking antibody" — was at work in patients who were effectively combating their cancers. The Hellstroms then discovered that deblocking antibodies did in fact exist in the blood serum of mice who had recovered from an experimentally induced cancer.

Animals As Factories

The Seattle scientists, who are both physicians, are now trying to use animals as factories for the production of deblocking antibodies. If their animal studies continue to go well, Dr. Ingegerd Hellstrom said, they should be ready to apply this treatment approach to human patients in about two years.

Another approach they are studying would use stored serum containing deblocking antibodies obtained from patients whose cancers had been effectively treated.

This serum could then be used to treat that patient should his cancer recur, or to treat other patients with the same type of cancer, Dr. Hellstrom said.

MARY MAGDALENE . . .

Ten Who Knew Jesus

Sixth of a Series

By JOHN J. STEWART

Mary Magdalene, she was called. Mary, a young woman of Galilee, where Jesus liked to be.

Mary had been mentally ill, her life a daily torment. Robbed of peace of mind, she lived in a hell on earth. She had despaired of finding happiness, until that glorious day when Jesus of Nazareth came into her life.

He was in Magdala one day, teaching the gospel of love, healing the sick, the lame and the blind. Somewhat fearfully, Mary had gone to Him, and in tender compassion He had blessed her and made her well. The story was told that He had cast seven devils out of her.

From that day, Mary Magdalene, like many other women of Galilee, had left her home and joined the Master's roaming disciples, traveling with Him from city to city throughout Palestine, tending to His domestic needs.

Seeing Him, hearing Him, being close to Him, being a part of His life, had made her own life meaningful and beautiful . . .

As Jesus hung upon the cross of Calvary, Mary Magdalene was one of those who stood at the foot of the cross weeping.

She it was who first entered the sepulchre early Sunday morning to anoint His crucified body. When she found the tomb empty, His body gone, she lingered in the garden of burial.

In deep sorrow she sank to the ground, sobbing. Jesus, whom she loved and worshipped, was dead. And now even His body was gone, stolen from its grave. Her own life was again dark and void of meaning.

"Woman, why weepest thou? Whom seekest thou?"

The tender voice, the soothing words fell upon her as a warm ray of light. Looking up, Mary beheld Jesus, the resurrected Lord. He smiled at her. "Mary."

In a rapture of joy she arose and held out her arms to Him. "Rabboni!"

MARY MAGDALENE, Who Worshipped Him.

Magdalene became the first mortal to witness the triumph of life over death.

To the adoring Mary, Jesus proclaimed his immortal victory: " . . . Go to My brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto My Father and your Father; and to My God and your God!"

Reputed 'Ringleader' Pleads Guilty To Charges In Alleged 'Bomb Plot'

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

One of the two men tagged by Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas as "ringleaders and organizers" in a recent alleged bomb conspiracy pleaded guilty Monday in Lancaster District Court to both felony charges of conspiracy and malicious destruction of property.

Dale Birkhahn, 24, of East Moline, Ill., pleaded guilty to the charges before Lancaster District Judge William Hastings, who deferred sentencing pending an investigation by the adult probation office.

Eight other persons — four other men and four women — have been charged with conspiracy in connection with reports of a conspiracy to bomb Lincoln buildings including the State Capitol and the Lincoln Police Department helicopter.

Three of the men and two of the women were also charged with a second felony offense of malicious destruction of property in connection with damage to the Brunswick Corp. property.

Preliminary hearings for seven of them originally scheduled last week have been postponed until April 21 at which time hearing for the eighth defendant was set.

Douglas said at the time the nine were charged that there was a plan drawn up to destroy some buildings and that the state had, in his opinion, "sufficient evidence to obtain a conviction."

He said that physical evidence in connection with the plot had been taken into custody but this did not include explosives of any kind.

According to Police Inspector Robert Sawdon, police learned of the alleged conspiracy when investigating the incident at Brunswick which included cutting a fence and painting of peace symbols and the words, "boom," "bang," "bomb," and signed "The Cat" atop the 150-foot water tower.

The conspiracy charge carries a prison sentence of one to two years. The property damage charge can bring a prison term of up to five years.

Tour Soviet Union

London (AP) — The London Symphony Orchestra, with conductors Andre Previn and Benjamin Britten, announced it will make a month-long, 16,000-mile tour of the Soviet Union and the Far East beginning April 13.

NU Faculty Role Diverse As Society

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of three articles on the University of Nebraska faculty.)

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The most striking aspect of the role of the university faculty member today seems to be that it is a diverse as modern society itself.

Gone are the days, most professors agree, when they can remain snug in an "ivory tower" divorced from the real world.

Yet few see themselves as angry activists seeking to revolutionize society from an intellectual pedestal.

Indeed, university faculties attempt to serve society in a multitude of ways, a conclusion evident from a look at the University of Nebraska.

Several Roles

The professor at NU may be one buried deep in research, or at work helping young people prepare for a particular vocation or profession, or trying to instill students with a thirst for knowledge.

The truth is that most are a bit of all three.

And although they are a collection of "highly autonomous individuals," they remain tied together by a desire to a search for truth within the tradition of a "community of scholars," according to NU Economics Chairman Wallace Peterson.

They are committed, Peterson said, to the idea "that truth and progress are attained through patient and rational investigation."

Various Disciplines

That quest takes faculty members in various disciplines to a wide variety of educational efforts, which include classroom teaching, research and publication, and consultation in the business world.

In the College of Agriculture, in fact, most professors are required to fill roles in relation to those three objectives — teaching, research and extension of knowledge into the field.

In a "somewhat unique" situation in the university community, ag professors are "assigned" to research projects, noted Ag Economist James Kendrick, who said the college is "one of the major sources of research" for the huge agribusiness industry.

Related To Lab

What the teacher-researcher learns in the classroom is directly related to what happens in the field laboratory, he explained, and problems which arise in the field are built back into classroom instruction and investigation.

Researchers and teachers in other colleges may be seeking answers to the best way to meet the needs of the public school, or the city planner, or the social worker, or the physician.

Or they may be teachers trying to instill in the minds of students an understanding of the human condition.

"We're in the business of human values and human communication," noted English Department Chairman Dudley Bailey.

'Our Best Gain'

"We operate on the assumption that human values are our best gain," he added.

People "get the idea that teachers are ultra-liberals" or "radicals," Bailey noted, but he said he believes "the reverse is true."

"They are conservatives" of American's cultural traditions, he said, "a conservative role" often "overlooked."

Some (teachers) feel deeply" and "talk strongly" about modern issues, he continued, because they "don't believe in the troubles of society."

Must Be On Guard

Yet Prof. Peterson said he believes the university professor must guard against the danger that the university might become an instrument for social change.

That danger, he suggested, is heightened by the demands that the faculty member "make his expertise available for the solution of a vast array of modern problems."

"The university is and should remain a sanctuary where the freest possible examination of all ideas takes place and the most penetrating and rational social criticism is possible," he said.

Nebraska law spells out the role of the University of Nebraska as an institution which "shall be to afford to the inhabitants of this state the means of acquiring a thorough knowledge of the various branches of literature, science and arts."

Train Many

Within that context, the professor has become part of an effort to train not only literary people, scientists and artists, but more specifically farmers, teachers, lawyers, engineers, sociologists and economists — and above all, according to NU faculty members, thinkers.

A "statement of Principles" of the university's Board of Regents calls higher education "the realm . . . where the responsibility for furthering the routes of truth and knowledge rests more heavily than in any other area of the educational system."

"In the realm of higher education the American right to question, to explore, to express, to examine and reexamine, is of necessity exercised continually.

"Were it not so, our diverse intellectual resources would become stagnant."

Turnout Of 20,000 Expected For Lincoln Primary Election

A light turnout of around 20,000 is predicted at the polls Tuesday for the city primary election by Election Commissioner Dean Peterson.

Voters will nominate candidates for mayor, City Council, Board of Education and Airport Authority. No issues appear on the ballot. The bus issue will appear later on the May 4 general election ballot.

The only real contest in the primary election are in the mayor and council races.

Unopposed

All those running for the Board of Education will be unopposed and Fred Eiche is unopposed in his bid for re-election to the Airport Authority.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. for the city's $7,138 registered voters. Some 153 absentee and disabled ballots have been taken out.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf is observers feel Peterson might end up as Schwartzkopf's opponent.

A close contest between the leadership being the key issue among the candidates.

Observers, though, wonder how much the leadership issue will be of concern to the average voter.

Voters will also nominate eight of the 17 candidates for the council seats up for election. Only one incumbent, Mrs. Helen Boosalis, is seeking re-election.

Three Holdovers

Councilman Tom Allman decided for business reasons not to seek a second term and both Erv Peterson and Davidson are campaigning for mayor. Holdover members are Dick Hartsock, Merle Hale and Pete Peterson.

In the full term race for the School Board, Ron Jensen is challenging incumbents Mrs. Catherine Angle, John Lux and Marvin Stewart for one of the three seats.

Karen Dinsmore is challenging incumbent Ed Copple for the short term on the School Board. Other City Council candidates are Bill Bennett, Richard Hansen, John Breslow, William Hermes, W. Richard Baker, Charles M. Hamilton, Robert Muggy, Bill Murrell, Nancy Childs, Jerry Polick, John Tomlinson, Steve Cook, Al Peters, Dallas Whitford and Charlene Rapp.

CANCER PATH WIDENS

•The New York Times

Carefree, Ariz. — A husband-wife research team has reported they have discovered the probable reason why cancer patients do not reject their cancers, even though the cancer — like a transplanted heart or kidney — is "foreign" to the patient's body.

Their discovery could lead to a way to treat cancer by helping the patient's immune mechanism to combat the foreign uncontrolled growth.

The work may also lead to a modification of present methods of treating cancer — extensive drug and radiation therapy and radical surgery — all of which may impair the patient's immune response.

Findings Presented

The research team, Drs. Karl and Ingegerd Hellstrom of the University of Washington School of Medicine in Seattle, presented their findings to an American Cancer Society seminar for science writers.

The Hellstroms' work centers on recent findings that many, if not all, cancer tissues contain substances called antigens that are not found in normal non-cancerous tissues. Such foreign antigens normally stimulate the production of antibodies to counteract them — just as disease-producing viruses and bacteria provoke the body's immune mechanism to produce antibodies which help the patient fight off his illness.

What has baffled cancer scientists, therefore, is the apparent inability of a cancer patient's immune mechanism to knock out the foreign growth.

Even more baffling was the Hellstroms' demonstration two years ago that in the cancer patient, one part of the immune response — white blood cells called lymphocytes — are "sensitized" to the antigens of the cancer tissue.

Foreignness Reconizable.

In other words, the immune mechanism was capable of recognizing the foreignness of the cancer cells. The sensitized lymphocytes were also capable of killing the patient's cancer cells in test tubes, as well as cancer cells from other patients with similar tumors. Why, then, did the cancer in the patients grow unchecked?

Studies in animals with cancer and in cancer patients revealed that a substance, which the Hellstroms call "blocking antibody," apparently protects the tumor from attack by the sensitized lymphocytes. This finding has been confirmed in several other laboratories here and abroad.

The Hellstroms found evidence of the blocking antibody in 67 of 81 patients whose tumors were thriving, but only in three of 19 patients who were free of symptoms following treatment of their cancers.

This suggested that yet another substance — a "deblocking antibody" — was at work in patients who were effectively combatting their cancers. The Hellstroms then discovered that deblocking antibodies did in fact exist in the blood serum of mice who had recovered from an experimentally induced cancer.

Animals As Factories

The Seattle scientists, who are both physicians, are now trying to use animals as factories for the production of deblocking antibodies. If their animal studies continue to go well, Dr. Ingegerd Hellstrom said, they should be ready to apply this treatment approach to human patients in about two years.

Another approach they are studying would use stored serum containing deblocking antibodies obtained from patients whose cancers had been effectively treated.

This serum could then be used to treat that patient should his cancer recur, or to treat other patients with the same type of cancer, Dr. Hellstrom said.

New York Times
News Summary

Boom Produces No Recognizable Democracy

(C) New York Times News Service

Rio de Janeiro — For seven years the military government of Brazil has said that repression was needed as a tool in the rebuilding of the economy and a democratic system. The economy is now booming, but there is as yet no recognizable democracy — a fact that has made the repression a subject for quiet debate among Brazilians who are still allowed to be politically active.

No Choice Seen

Beirut — Palestinian commando leader Yasser Arafat said the guerrillas had no choice but to fight against the Jordanian government because they needed Jordan as a base for attacks on Israel. Pro-commando publications in Jordan have reported that the guerrilla leaders had agreed upon a "scorched earth" policy to force King Hussein to yield to their demands.

Free Elections Advocated

Washington — Two South Vietnamese senators said in an interview that Gen. Duong Van Minh could probably defeat President Nguyen Van Thieu in next October's presidential elections if the voting was free and honest. The two senators are visiting the United States in an effort to gain support for free elections in South Vietnam.

Boggs Demands Hoover Be Fired

Washington — Hale Boggs, the House Democratic leader, accused FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover of tapping telephones of members of Congress and of spying on college students and faculty members. Boggs demanded that Atty. Gen. Mitchell ask for Hoover's resignation. The FBI denied that it tapped any congressman's telephone. (More on Page 2.)

Gun Law Upheld

Nixon's Intervention Criticized

London — A survey of reactions to President Nixon's intervention in the Calley case in nations friendly to the United States has shown them to be highly critical of Nixon's actions. Published comment has expressed shock over what is considered as interference in the normal process of law and some have said that ending the war would have been more appropriate.

Some Rates Not Fixed

New York — The New York Stock Exchange survived its first trading session without fixed commission rates on orders in excess of $500,000. According to brokers, the impact of the negotiated rates on the large blocs will not become clear for some time, but they foresee a speed-up in brokerage house mergers and some savings for institutional investors.

Police Corruption Cited

New York — The chief counsel of the State Commission of Investigation said New York City's Police Department had failed to stem the flow of narcotics and cited police corruption as one reason for the failure. The counsel said a long investigation had uncovered cases of policemen giving false evidence to effect the release of narcotics suspects and of direct involvement in the sale of drugs.

'Bugging' Of Informers
Sent Into Homes OK'd

Washington (AP) — In a major "bugging" decision, the Supreme Court Monday gave government agents permission to send informers into the homes of narcotics suspects with hidden radio transmitters and to use the recorded conversations for prosecution.

Moreover, said Justice Byron R. White in the 6-3 ruling, the agent does not need a search warrant since there has been no invasion of the suspect's "constitutionally justifiable expectations of privacy."

Normally, White said, no one has a right to expect that a person with whom he is conversing will not reveal the conversation to the police, especially "one contemplating illegal activities."

Douglas Dissents

The ruling, two years in the making and avidly sought by the Justice Department, evoked a plaintive dissent from Justice William O. Douglas. He asked: "Must everyone live in fear that every word he speaks may be transmitted or recorded and later repeated to the entire world?"

Justice John M. Harlan and Thurgood Marshall entered separate dissents saying the Constitution dictates the need for a search warrant.

Meanwhile, the court indicated strongly that it will provide no comfort for local officials who try to zone out Negroes from white residential areas.

Lackawanna Loses

The forceful hint came in the court's unanimous rejection of an attempt by the mayor and city council of Lackawanna, N.Y., to block construction of a housing subdivision for Negroes in an almost exclusively white neighborhood.

At the same time, the court split sharply and ruled naturalized American citizens living abroad can lose their citizenship if they don't take up residence in the United States for five years.

Justice Harry A. Blackmun said these naturalized citizens, unlike native-born Americans living here, can have their citizenship taken away by Congress.

He was supported by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Potter Stewart, White, and Harlan.

In a sharp dissent, Justice William J. Brennan Jr. said: "Since the court this term has already downgraded citizens receiving public welfare, and citizens having the misfortune to be illegitimate, I suppose today's decision downgrading citizens born outside the United States should have been expected."

Similarly irked, Justice Hugo L. Black recalled that in 1967 the court had held that no American can be deprived of his citizenship without his assent.

"Today, the court overrules that holding," Black said.

Registration Upheld

In another area, the court unanimously upheld the 1968 law that requires federal registration of manufacturers and importers of shotguns and rifles with short barrels, bombs, rockets, grenades and some other destructive devices.

The law was written after the court had invalidated an earlier registration procedure because Washington turned information over to state authorities.

Justice Douglas said no unconstitutional self-incrimination is at issue now since the government apparently keeps the information to itself.

Troop Level In Vietnam Drops To 300,000

Saigon (AP) — The U.S. Command announced Monday another cutback in American military manpower in South Vietnam dropping the number to about 300,000, lowest since late summer 1966.

President Nixon is scheduled to announce Wednesday the next round of troop withdrawals. He has already indicated that he will maintain or speed the present rate of 12,500 men a month.

The U.S. Command in Saigon announced a reduction of 4,600 men that dropped the over-all troop strength to 301,900 as of last Thursday. Since then, continuing withdrawals have lowered the total to 300,000 or a little below.

Marchers Serve Notice On 'Wall Street Barons'

New York (UPI) — Demonstrators led by two mules marched on Wall Street Monday.

"We are assembling here in the midst of bank power, brokerage power, corporate power, but there is no greater power than people power," the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, told the crowd of 4,000 gathered in front of the Old Treasury Building.

More than 2,000 persons had joined the 90-minute march, sponsored by SCLC, from Union Square Park to Wall and Broad Streets in the heart of the financial district.

Another 2,000 gathered at the rally which had much of the flavor of the civil rights rallies of the 1960s. Most of the demonstrators were young and more than half were white.

Abernathy demanded withdrawal of all American troops from Indochina by Aug. 28 — the eighth anniversary of the 1963 civil rights March on Washington — and allocation of 10% of all corporate capital to serve the "social needs of the people."

FBI Accused Of Using Soviet, Gestapo Tactics

(C) Washington Star

Washington — House Democratic leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana Monday charged the FBI with using "tactics of the Soviet Union and Hitler's Gestapo" and called for the immediate dismissal of J. Edgar Hoover as its director.

Boggs surprised other House Democratic leaders when he briefly took the floor without prior notice and called on Atty. Gen. John Mitchell to ask for Hoover's resignation.

Speaker Carl Albert commented that Boggs "didn't discuss it with me." It seemed unusual that Boggs would have made such a major statement without conferring with other leaders.

Shortly after making the statement, Boggs and his two chief aides left Capitol Hill for the opening baseball game and could not be reached for an explanation of why Boggs suddenly made the demand for Hoover's resignation.

He said that when the FBI "taps the telephones of members of the House and members of the Senate, assigns agents on campuses to infiltrate . . . adopts tactics of the Soviet Union and Hitler's Gestapo it is time that the director no longer be the director."

Boggs did not elaborate on the wiretapping charge, and House Republican leader Gerald Ford of Michigan asked Boggs to prove his allegations.

"The way that Mr. Hoover is running the country today, it is no longer a free country," Boggs said.

He said if recent FBI tactics reflect what "law and order" is supposed to be all about, "God help us."

New York Times

Boom Produces No Recognizable Democracy

Rio de Janeiro — For seven years the military government of Brazil has said that repression was needed as a tool in the rebuilding of the economy and a democratic system. The economy is now booming, but there is as yet no recognizable democracy — a fact that has made the repression a subject for quiet debate among Brazilians who are still allowed to be politically active.

No Choice Seen

Beirut — Palestinian commando leader Yasser Arafat said the guerrillas had no choice but to fight against the Jordanian government because they needed Jordan as a base for attacks on Israel. Pro-commando publications in Jordan have reported that the guerrilla leaders had agreed upon a "scorched earth" policy to force King Hussein to yield to their demands.

Free Elections Advocated

Washington — Two South Vietnamese senators said in an interview that Gen. Duong Van Minh could probably defeat President Nguyen Van Thieu in next October's presidential elections if the voting was free and honest. The two senators are visiting the United States in an effort to gain support for free elections in South Vietnam.

Boggs Demands Hoover Be Fired

Washington — Hale Boggs, the House Democratic leader, accused FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover of tapping telephones of members of Congress and of spying on college students and faculty members. Boggs demanded that Atty. Gen. Mitchell ask for Hoover's resignation. The FBI denied that it tapped any congressman's telephone. (More on Page 2.)

Gun Law Upheld

Nixon's Intervention Criticized

London — A survey of reactions to President Nixon's intervention in the Calley case in nations friendly to the United States has shown them to be highly critical of Nixon's actions. Published comment has expressed shock over what is considered as interference in the normal process of law and some have said that ending the war would have been more appropriate.

Some Rates Not Fixed

New York — The New York Stock Exchange survived its first trading session without fixed commission rates on orders in excess of $500,000. According to brokers, the impact of the negotiated rates on the large blocs will not become clear for some time, but they foresee a speed-up in brokerage house mergers and some savings for institutional investors.

Police Corruption Cited

New York — The chief counsel of the State Commission of Investigation said New York City's Police Department had failed to stem the flow of narcotics and cited police corruption as one reason for the failure. The counsel said a long investigation had uncovered cases of policemen giving false evidence to effect the release of narcotics suspects and of direct involvement in the sale of drugs.

'Bugging' Of Informers Sent Into Homes OK'd

Washington (AP) — In a major "bugging" decision, the Supreme Court Monday gave government agents permission to send informers into the homes of narcotics suspects with hidden radio transmitters and to use the recorded conversations for prosecution.

Moreover, said Justice Byron R. White in the 6-3 ruling, the agent does not need a search warrant since there has been no invasion of the suspect's "constitutionally justifiable expectations of privacy."

Normally, White said, no one has a right to expect that a person with whom he is conversing will not reveal the conversation to the police, especially "one contemplating illegal activities."

Douglas Dissents

The ruling, two years in the making and avidly sought by the Justice Department, evoked a plaintive dissent from Justice William O. Douglas. He asked: "Must everyone live in fear that every word he speaks may be transmitted or recorded and later repeated to the entire world?"

Justice John M. Harlan and Thurgood Marshall entered separate dissents saying the Constitution dictates the need for a search warrant.

Meanwhile, the court indicated strongly that it will provide no comfort for local officials who try to zone out Negroes from white residential areas.

Lackawanna Loses

The forceful hint came in the court's unanimous rejection of an attempt by the mayor and city council of Lackawanna, N.Y., to block construction of a housing subdivision for Negroes in an almost exclusively white neighborhood.

At the same time, the court split sharply and ruled naturalized American citizens living abroad can lose their citizenship if they don't take up residence in the United States for five years.

Justice Harry A. Blackmun said these naturalized citizens, unlike native-born Americans living here, can have their citizenship taken away by Congress.

He was supported by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Potter Stewart, White, and Harlan.

In a sharp dissent, Justice William J. Brennan Jr. said: "Since the court this term has already downgraded citizens receiving public welfare, and citizens having the misfortune to be illegitimate, I suppose today's decision downgrading citizens born outside the United States should have been expected."

Similarly irked, Justice Hugo L. Black recalled that in 1967 the court had held that no American can be deprived of his citizenship without his assent.

"Today, the court overrules that holding," Black said.

Registration Upheld

In another area, the court unanimously upheld the 1968 law that requires federal registration of manufacturers and importers of shotguns and rifles with short barrels, bombs, rockets, grenades and some other destructive devices.

The law was written after the court had invalidated an earlier registration procedure because Washington turned information over to state authorities.

Draft Quota Set At 156 For May

Nebraska has been assigned a draft quota of 156 for May, down 10 from the April call, state Selective Service Director Lee Liggett reported Monday.

At the same time, the state has been authorized to go as high as 125 in lottery sequence numbers in calling men for induction, Col. Liggett said. The previous high was 100.

The random sequence number limit to be observed in calling men for physical examinations has been raised from 150 to 175, he said.

George Wiley, director of the National Welfare Rights Organization, "to serve notice on the barons, the brokers and the bankers of Wall Street that poor people are on the march."

Wiley said working people were being asked to pay higher taxes while "the millionaires who live on Wall Street use oil depletion allowances and tax-free bonds so that they pay little or no taxes at all."

Salem Bank 'Insolvent'; Liquidation Is Ordered

By The Associated Press
The State Banking Department Monday declared the Bank of Salem to be insolvent and ordered its liquidation in receivership proceedings.

The bank was closed and taken over by the department March 26 on grounds it was being operated improperly. Its affairs had been under scrutiny by the department since that time.

In a "declaration of insolvency" signed by State Banking Director Henry E. Ley, the bank Monday was described as insolvent and, according to its books and records, "its liabilities exceed the value of its assets by more than the amount of its capital stock."

The declaration said also the bank "is unable to meet the demands of its creditors in the ordinary course of business; that it has violated the laws of the State of Nebraska; that it has conducted its business in an unsafe manner and that it should not be permitted to resume business but should be liquidated in receivership proceedings and dissolved."

Deposits Insured

Deposits of each depositor in the bank are insured up to $20,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. But depositors will have to wait a bit to obtain their money.

Ley said that under Nebraska statutes, stockholders or officers of the bank have 10 days in which "to make the bank whole." If the bank is not made solvent in that period, the FDIC will begin — on the 11th day — to pay off depositors.

The "declaration of insolvency" was filed in Richardson County District Court Monday, Ley said, and the 10-day waiting period began at that time.

Ley said there were no other new developments to report.

He had disclosed earlier that the unauthorized operation to which the Banking Department objected included sale of the bank without notification of the Banking Department.

Dr. Hember Acting State Veterinarian

Glenn Kreuscher, director of agriculture for Nebraska, announced two appointments Monday.

Dr. Ivan Hember will serve as acting state veterinarian. Dr. Hember practiced veterinary medicine at Grand Island from 1950 through 1966 when he joined the Nebraska Bureau of Animal Industry as a state supervisor. For the past three years he has served as assistant state veterinarian.

Kreuscher also renamed Dr. B. J. Swope veterinarian in charge of state meat inspection.

Dr. Swope graduated from Texas A & M in 1952, practiced veterinary medicine in Terrell, Texas, in 1953 through 1955, and spent four years in Montana with the animal health division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Swope came to Nebraska in 1959 as assistant veterinarian in charge of animal health division USDA and received his appointment as veterinarian in charge of state meat inspection in 1968.

"Applications for the post of state veterinarian are being accepted at this time," Kreuscher said.

HASTINGS EXHIBIT . . . extinct earthling subject.

Extinct Species Featured In Exhibit

Hastings — An ecology exhibit with modern man as an extinct species has just been opened at the Hastings Museum.

The exhibit portrays a display as it would possibly appear in a museum on another planet in the year 3003 A.D. It announces the news that the extinct earthling call "hu-man" was discovered when the space people landed at "Prime Landing Site: Omaha."

On display are the "ancient"

maps that were used to find the landing site. A number of "artifacts" found at the landing site are also displayed.

As presented by the exhibit, the space people determined that the earthlings died between 1995 A.D. and 2010 A.D. from starvation, suffocation, or poisoning and/or all three.

Among the "artifacts" recovered and now displayed are a gas mask, a "breastplate" made of aluminum can pull-tab maps that were used to find the landing site. A number of "artifacts" found at the landing site are also displayed.

Because some of the more pessimistic ecologists give man only 30 years more to live on the earth, the museum staff felt this type of exhibit would make people aware that time may indeed be short and possibly man should be included on the endangered species list.

$202,436 Migrant Education Grant Awarded To Nebraska

The Nebraska State Department of Education has been awarded a migrant education grant of $202,436. It was announced by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare Office of Education.

The money, made available through an amendment to Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, will finance summer educational programs for 750 children of migratory farm workers in western Nebraska.

Some $57 million is available this year for the education of 235,000 migrant children across the nation.

The five Nebraska school districts that will offer migrant education programs this summer are: Alliance school district in Box Butte county; Imperial in Chase county; Bayard in Morrill county; and Scottsbluff and Lyman school districts in Scotts Bluff county.

Programs will focus on reading and language arts, mathematics, and the social and natural sciences. Each child will receive individualized instruction.

Gorton To Visit

Canberra (UPI) — Defense Minister John Gorton will visit Washington April 26-28 to meet with U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and other officials, the Defense Ministry announced.

Peak Tells Of Planting Suitcase Holding Bomb

By WILLIAM A. STEPHENS
Omaha (UPI) — A black militant teenager sat calmly on the witness stand here Monday and told of how he planted a booby trap bomb and then went home to sleep without seeing if his trap had worked.

Duane Peak, 16, gave the testimony in the first degree murder trial of David Rice, 23, and Edward Poindexter, 26, also black militants.

The bomb exploded on schedule on an August night last year, killing Omaha Patrolman Larry Minard and injuring several other officers.

Peak, the key prosecution witness, also faces first degree murder charges, but will be tried later. The defense has alleged Peak made a "deal" with the Douglas County attorney's office to get off with a lighter charge.

In his testimony Monday, Peak said he aided Rice and Poindexter in rigging three sticks of dynamite and wire to blasting caps and a type of battery used in railroad lanterns. They were placed in a suitcase and armed to explode when picked up or moved.

Peak told of how the bombing was planned for one night at a special time because Poindexter knew two particular police officers were going off shift at that time.

Bombing Delayed
However, the actual bombing was delayed a few days for various reasons, he said.

On Sunday, Aug. 16, Peak said he went to the Rice house and got the suitcase. A vacant house on the Near North Side had already been chosen for the trap, he said.

The young Negro said he was "tense" handling the suitcase before he planted it in the threshold of the front door.

Peak testified he then went to the home of his sister, Delia Peak, 22, and asked her for a dime to make a phone call to police. She refused.

He then said he began walking down 24th St., a major thoroughfare on the Near North Side, stopping persons and asking for a dime. He finally got one.

Peak said he found a telephone booth and dialed the police emergency number "911."

"I raised my voice and put it in a lower tone," he said. "I told the man I saw a man dragging a screaming woman into the house."

"He didn't ask my name, just my address," Peak said.

Peak said he then went back to Delia's house, where he had been staying, and went to sleep. He said he did not hear the explosion a few minutes later.

Minard was killed when he apparently touched or tried to pick up the suitcase.

Captured Week Later

It was not until the noon news the following day that Peak learned the trap had worked, he told the court.

He was captured Aug. 28 after being in hiding a week. He then implicated Rice and Poindexter.

Late Monday the prosecution attempted to introduce literature of the national committee to combat racism, an outgrowth of the Black Panthers, of which Rice and Poindexter are officers in the Omaha chapter. The literature allegedly contained writings by the two on how to make various types of explosives.

Peak, also a member of the committee, testified earlier Monday he had been "living on the streets" of the ghetto area and his family has "split" when his mother died three years ago.

The trial began its second week Monday.

Salem Bank 'Insolvent'; Liquidation Is Ordered

By The Associated Press
The State Banking Department Monday declared the Bank of Salem to be insolvent and ordered its liquidation in receivership proceedings.

The bank was closed and taken over by the department March 26 on grounds it was being operated improperly. Its affairs had been under scrutiny by the department since that time.

Nebraska News

In a "declaration of insolvency" signed by State Banking Director Henry E. Ley, the bank Monday was described as insolvent and, according to its books and records, "its liabilities exceed the value of its assets by more than the amount of its capital stock."

The declaration said also the bank "is unable to meet the demands of its creditors in the ordinary course of business; that it has violated the laws of the State of Nebraska; that it has conducted its business in an unsafe manner and that it should not be permitted to resume business but should be liquidated in receivership proceedings and dissolved."

Deposits Insured

Deposits of each depositor in the bank are insured up to $20,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. But depositors will have to wait a bit to obtain their money.

Ley said that under Nebraska statutes, stockholders or officers of the bank have 10 days in which "to make the bank whole." If the bank is not made solvent in that period, the FDIC will begin — on the 11th day — to pay off depositors.

The "declaration of insolvency" was filed in Richardson County District Court Monday, Ley said, and the 10-day waiting period began at that time.

Ley said there were no other new developments to report.

He had disclosed earlier that the unauthorized operation to which the Banking Department objected included sale of the bank without notification of the Banking Department.

Dr. Hember Acting State Veterinarian

Glenn Kreuscher, director of agriculture for Nebraska, announced two appointments Monday.

Dr. Ivan Hember will serve as acting state veterinarian. Dr. Hember practiced veterinary medicine at Grand Island from 1950 through 1966 when he joined the Nebraska Bureau of Animal Industry as a state supervisor. For the past three years he has served as assistant state veterinarian.

Kreuscher also renamed Dr. B. J. Swope veterinarian in charge of state meat inspection. Dr. Swope graduated from Texas A & M in 1952, practiced veterinary medicine in Terrell, Texas, in 1953 through 1955, and spent four years in Montana with the animal health division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Swope came to Nebraska in 1959 as assistant veterinarian in charge of animal health division USDA and received his appointment as veterinarian in charge of state meat inspection in 1968.

"Applications for the post of state veterinarian are being accepted at this time," Kreuscher said.

HASTINGS EXHIBIT . . . extinct earthling subject.

Extinct Species Featured In Exhibit

Hastings — An ecology exhibit with modern man as an extinct species has just been opened at the Hastings Museum.

The exhibit portrays a display as it would possibly appear in a museum on another planet in the year 3003 A.D. It announces the news that the extinct earthling call "hu-man" was discovered when the space people landed at "Prime Landing Site: Omaha."

On display are the "ancient"

maps that were used to find the landing site. A number of "artifacts" found at the landing site are also displayed.

As presented by the exhibit, the space people determined that the earthlings died between 1995 A.D. and 2010 A.D. from starvation, suffocation, or poisoning and-or all three.

Among the "artifacts" recovered and now displayed are a gas mask, a "breastplate" made of aluminum can pull-tab rings, a peace symbol necklace, no-deposit-no-return-bottles, a transistor radio, a Mount Rushmore ashtray, two plastic "six-pack" can carriers, a plastic shopping bag, and three paperback books (worm holes and all).

Because some of the more pessimistic ecologists give man only 30 years more to live on the earth, the museum staff felt this type of exhibit would make people aware that time may indeed be short and possibly man should be included on the endangered species list.

$202,436 Migrant Education Grant Awarded To Nebraska

The Nebraska State Department of Education has been awarded a migrant education grant of $202,436, it was announced by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare Office of Education.

The money, made available through an amendment to Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, will finance summer educational programs for 750 children of migratory farm workers in western Nebraska.

Some $57 million is available this year for the education of 235,000 migrant children across the nation.

The five Nebraska school districts that will offer migrant education programs this summer are: Alliance school district in Box Butte county; Imperial in Chase county; Bayard in Morrill county; and Scottsbluff and Lyman school districts in Scotts Bluff county.

Programs will focus on reading and language arts, mathematics, and the social and natural sciences. Each child will receive individualized instruction.

Peak Tells Of Planting Suitcase Holding Bomb

By WILLIAM A. STEPHENS

Omaha (UPI) — A black militant teenager sat calmly on the witness stand here Monday and told of how he planted a booby trap bomb and then went home to sleep without seeing if his trap had worked.

Duane Peak, 16, gave the testimony in the first degree murder trial of David Rice, 23, and Edward Poindexter, 26, also black militants.

The bomb exploded on schedule on an August night last year, killing Omaha Patrolman Larry Minard and injuring several other officers.

Peak, the key prosecution witness, also faces first degree murder charges, but will be tried later. The defense has alleged Peak made a "deal" with the Douglas County attorney's office to get off with a lighter charge.

In his testimony Monday, Peak said he aided Rice and Poindexter in rigging three sticks of dynamite and wire to blasting caps and a type of battery used in railroad lanterns. They were placed in a suitcase and armed to explode when picked up or moved.

Peak told of how the bombing was planned for one night at a special time because Poindexter knew two particular police officers were going off shift at that time.

Bombing Delayed
However, the actual bombing was delayed a few days for various reasons, he said.

On Sunday, Aug. 16, Peak said he went to the Rice house and got the suitcase. A vacant house on the Near North Side had already been chosen for the trap, he said.

The young Negro said he was "tense" handling the suitcase before he planted it in the threshold of the front door.

Peak testified he then went to the home of his sister, Delia Peak, 22, and asked her for a dime to make a phone call to police. She refused.

He then said he began walking down 24th St., a major thoroughfare on the Near North Side, stopping persons and asking for a dime. He finally got one.

Peak said he found a telephone booth and dialed the police emergency number "911."

"I raised my voice and put it in a lower tone," he said. "I told the man I saw a man dragging a screaming woman into the house."

"He didn't ask my name, just my address," Peak said.

Peak said he then went back to Delia's house, where he had been staying, and went to sleep. He said he did not hear the explosion a few minutes later.

Minard was killed when he apparently touched or tried to pick up the suitcase.

Captured Week Later

It was not until the noon news the following day that Peak learned the trap had worked, he told the court.

He was captured Aug. 28 after being in hiding a week. He then implicated Rice and Poindexter.

Late Monday the prosecution attempted to introduce literature of the national committee to combat racism, an outgrowth of the Black Panthers, of which Rice and Poindexter are officers in the Omaha chapter. The literature allegedly contained writings by the two on how to make various types of explosives.

Peak, also a member of the committee, testified earlier Monday he had been "living on the streets" of the ghetto area and his family has "split" when his mother died three years ago.

The trial began its second week Monday.

'71 Farm Program Signup Period Is Over This Friday

Friday is the last day farmers can sign up for participation in the 1971 farm program or can make changes including filing an appeal for a change in conserving base, say state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) officials in Lincoln.

George W. Harnett, assistant production adjustment specialist for the state office, declined to predict the number of acres of land that would move to grain production from the conserving base, but he did indicate that a huge increase in grain production due to the conserving base change was unlikely.

Harnett said, "You have to remember that in Nebraska spring plowing is not usually practiced on grassland for a number of reasons. You have less moisture in an alfalfa or grass field and the nitrogen demand to decompose the grass residue is high so you can expect low production the first year," he pointed out.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A recent story in The Christian Science Monitor deals with the ruling military junta of Argentina. The last president of the country appointed by the military lasted nine months. Now, a new president is in office and faces what seem like insurmountable odds.

It has been almost five years now since the military took over the government from civilian authorities. The painful conclusion would seem to be that military rule is not the answer it might appear.

The military in Argentina has simply been unable to solve the economic and political problems that plague the nation. The same thing has been happening in Greece where the promised return to constitutional government just has never taken place.

One doubts that the failures of the military that can be observed could be attributable to a lack of ability. There is no question that the military in most lands has an abundance of men with ability.

Government, however, is more than simple ability. It is a system, composed of many parts and the military is but one part of that system. Government and the military are two separate things and the latter cannot effectively substitute for the former.

When you surrender or lose civilian control of the government, all sorts of things go down the drain. Government is the practice of an art, for one thing, which is a part of the fabric of a nation.

This means it involves the establishment and working of political parties, for instance, but this is not the case with military rule. In this nation, we often condemn our political parties and tend to look at them in a critical way.

Our political parties, however, are the life-blood of our political system. Through the parties, we develop the real grass roots of the system on which we depend.

When it comes to a national party convention for the selection of a presidential nominee, we lose sight of the fact that this is but the culmination of much prior work at lower levels of party activity. That convention is the product of party machinery in all the 50 states. The states have evolved from organization at the county and precinct level, leaving many thousands of people involved in the system from its beginning to its climactic naming of a presidential nominee.

And the issues that are a part of the parties have come up through the ranks, so to speak. These are the issues that have been hammered out within the states and then taken up anew in the platform committees of the national conventions.

In the workings of the parties are spawned many of the men and women who go on to take up politics as a career in life. With a successful background in party work, a candidate has the political experience and backing that are essential to a winning campaign effort.

It is the civilian governmental system, therefore, that hones the issues of the day and produces the men and women who carry the message of those issues to the electorate. And of course, the electorate itself is the ultimate part of such a civilian system.

It is a part, however, that is lost in military rule because there is no election in the military. It is this loss of responsibility to the electorate that is the final crippling blow to any dictatorial system, be it military or otherwise.

Again, we tend to be critical of our representative form of government and sometimes to feel far removed from it. But make no mistake about it—the people make the major decisions in this nation, even though they often do it indirectly.

It is the pressure of the voters that moves a political party and the people who are a part of it. No military government could ever experience quite the same thing and that is a serious sacrifice of motivation and responsibility. The Argentine situation gives us cause to contemplate the real value of the political system we have, despite the shortcomings that sometimes afflict it.

WASHINGTON—“There is one difference between a tax collector and taxidermist—the taxidermist leaves the hide.” So says Mortimer Caplan, who ought to know. As a former director of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, he has skinned his share of taxpayers. But this April 15, there will be about 5 million fewer victims.

Reforms approved by Congress in 1969 have raised the minimum filing requirements to $1,700 for a single person and $2,300 for a couple. There will be only about 72.5 million returns filed this year as compared to 77 million sent in by last April. Personal exemptions have also been increased to $625 from $600.

Nixon Challenged

Will Paul McCloskey become the Gene McCarthy of 1972? Will he pull the rug out from under President Nixon, so to speak, as McCarthy did to President Johnson in 1968? Doubtful. But he is the closest thing to a McCarthy or a Don Quixote, for that matter, that has surfaced so far in the Republican party.

McCloskey, a California congressman whose election defeat of Shirley Temple Black initially gave him some standing as a nationwide political entity, has received attention of late for his criticisms of President Nixon's war policies. In a speech Feb. 11th at Stanford, McCloskey proposed a national debate on impeachment of the President. He said his grounds were that Nixon overstepped his constitutional authority in using American support for the Laos and Cambodian incursions. Later he said he hoped some antiwar Republican would oppose Nixon's renomination, but that he would step in if no one responded.

About ten days ago, Rep. McCloskey said he would set up a campaign staff to challenge the President in next year's presidential primaries. He has already visited Wisconsin, a primary state. He is scheduled to visit another, Rhode Island. He is going on a ten-day trip to Indochina.

According to the Los Angeles Times, McCloskey decided to step in because Republicans the likes of Hatfield, Percy, Gardner and Lindsay have shied away from a definite commitment to oppose the President, because of offers of financial help which add up to a significant campaign fund, including promises from several millionaire industrialists across the country, and because of offers to help in his campaign by more than 3,000 volunteers.

His move now puts McCloskey eight months ahead of McCarthy's challenge to former President Johnson. The Times notes. How much of an issue will the war be next spring? Does McCloskey really think rank-and-file Republicans will turn against their most assiduous partisan or is it only a sense of vanity or conviction that moves him to attempt the hopeless? Nobody in his right mind would put a nickel on McCloskey's chances at the present time. But, except for those who sensed an opportunity to seize on an underlying and undefined mood of the country in the latter part of 1967, most people didn't think McCarthy would prove anything, either.

Election Change Proposed

Well, here it is, primary election day, the fourth Tuesday preceding the date of the city general election — which is held the first Tuesday in May in every odd-numbered year, in accordance with the City Charter. And state statutes dictate that the state primary shall be held the first Tuesday after the second Monday in May and the general election shall be on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in even-numbered years.

It's all part of the pattern we are used to. Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., would change that pattern somewhat.

Dominick proposes a new election day and a uniform closing time for voting in presidential and congressional elections across the nation in a bill that would, if passed, become effective Jan. 1, 1974.

Under his Senate bill, the first Monday after the first Sunday in November would be designated as election day and would also be a national holiday. All polls would close at the same Greenwich mean time across the nation — 11 p.m. Eastern Standard Time and 10 p.m. CST, for example. The national holiday aspect, Dominick said, would help increase voter participation not only by making it much easier for Americans to vote but by helping to focus attention on the importance of the election process.

He further argues that Monday is a better choice for election day than Tuesday because it causes the least possible interference with business. The uniform closing time “would eliminate the possibility that predictions based on earlier returns from one area may affect election results in areas where the polls have not closed. Solving this problem through the uniform closing time for all polls would be better than trying to restrict the flow of information on election returns.”

If elections for state or local offices which fall at the same time as presidential and congressional elections were made corresponding, there might be something to Dominick's proposal. There is, after all, nothing sacred about Tuesdays, and the other features of the measure are attractive. We are going through a period of adjustment to our revised holiday schedules. One more adjustment shouldn't be too high a hurdle.

Increasing Concern Over Indochinese Civilians
As Casualties Mount To No Explainable Purpose

NEW YORK — For millions of Americans, the Calley verdict has raised terrible questions about the responsibility for things that have happened in Indochina in the last six years. It is right and inevitable that we examine that record of the past. But it is more urgent that we face one simple fact about the present.

In this year, 1971, more civilians are being killed and wounded in the three countries of Indochina, and more made refugees, than at any time in history. Most of those casualties are caused, and people made refugees, by American and allied military activity.

That is the estimate of the experts on Edward Kennedy's Senate Subcommittee on Refugees, whose figures on the civilian toll of the war are recognized as the best available. In other words, as Americans are told by their government that the war is winding down, the number of Vietnamese, Cambodians and Laotians being killed and maimed and made homeless is at a record high.

The realities behind that fact can be illustrated in a number of ways.

In South Vietnam alone last year, the subcommittee estimates, the number of civilians killed averaged more than 500 a week. That was six times the American war deaths.

In the last three months of 1970, 150,000 people in South Vietnam became refugees. On the very day that Calley was sentenced for the massacre at My Lai, South Vietnamese troops began a sweep of the My Lai area that officials believed could drive 16,000 villagers there from their homes.

In Cambodia, a check last August showed 1 million refugees — in a country of 6 million people. The figure is undoubtedly higher now, after more American bombing. Cambodia used to live with political compromises that were awkward but at least did avoid the real ravages of war. The refugees and civilian casualties have come in the last year.

In Laos, with a population of only 3 million, 292,000 are officially on the books as refugees. And again the experts say that American bombing is the principal cause. People do not usually leave their homes merely because of the presence of Viet Cong or North Vietnamese troops in the area.

In the past, American politicians and generals who ordered saturation bombings and free-fire zones and the burning of villages and defoliation undoubtedly told themselves that such actions served a legitimate purpose — an earlier end to the war. For that reason, among others, it must be difficult to define “war crimes” in Indochina.

But that reason is no longer easy to argue. Can it really be said that killing and wounding civilians and driving them from their homes on such a scale serves any legitimate political purposes?

The United States is supposed to be withdrawing from Indochina. But as the ground troops leave, bombing and air support activities spread. The political aim is to maintain the present Saigon government in office. But can that end justify the use of military means that are necessarily indiscriminate, as the cruel figures of civilian casualties show?

The curious thing is that the cost of the war to the actual residents of Indochina hardly ever figures in official speeches. President Nixon, in his major talks on the war since Nov. 3, 1969, has spoken about American casualties and the defense of an independent

Lincoln, Neb.

With the hue and cry over the conviction of Lt. Calley, it seems to me that this country has a massive case of hypocrisy. It seems to me that all those people who are so white with anger over the verdict on Lt. Calley should answer themselves one question first. Suppose, instead of its being

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have searched for information about a “hair lip” and can find nothing. I am sure there is a scientific term for it which I don't know. I would appreciate a discussion of cause, effects, etc. I have been told that surgery is completely successful. Statistically how often does it happen and is it hereditary? — Mrs. A.W.

It's hare lip, not “hair,” which may have caused you some trouble. The more technical term for it is cleft lip, and there is a companion defect that often goes along with it, cleft palate.

The fetus, or baby-to-be, is formed in part from separate sections which subsequently fuse together. This is true of the skull, for example, with four separate bones which fuse and join into a solid bone structure.

Well, tissues of the mouth join together in similar fashion.

If this joining does not occur in the lip, there may be one cleft or two. Some cases may involve only the lip. Some extend up as far as the nose.

The companion fault, cleft palate, is a similar gap or lack of fusion of the roof of the mouth.

Either fault, but especially the latter, can be serious for the baby. With a cleft palate, when he tries to take food, some of it can get up into the nasal passages and cause him all sorts of trouble. A cleft lip can make it difficult for him to eat, the difficulty depending on the size of the fault or cleft.

When he is old enough to talk, or start learning to talk, the cleft palate and hare lip interfere very seriously. Indeed, with such defects, a person cannot speak entirely normally.

Appearance also is impaired.

Thus there is every reason to repair such defects as early in life as possible. While the correction can be made later on, and successfully, the final results will not be as good as when the correction is made in infancy—before the second year, and sometimes earlier than that, for cleft palate; at three months or sooner for hare lip.

Techniques have been worked out also for using plastic to close the cleft palate, then making the permanent repair with a second operation later on, with the idea of letting growth proceed as normally as possible instead of fusing the cleft solidly to begin with. The decision depends on the individual case.

Whichever course, the answer is yes, surgery is successful. Usually a scar, but often not very noticeable. In palate repair, a plastic surgeon and orthodontist may work together.

Without exact figures being available, it is thought that about a thousand babies a year in the U.S. are born with this type of defect.

It can be hereditary, but not necessarily so. A mother may have an infection (German measles is a ready example) during pregnancy, and a defect results.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any merit in drinking lemon juice in warm water on arising? Is this an old wives' tale or is it beneficial? — E.E.K.

The lemon juice provides some vitamin C. The water (and possibly the lemon) helps some people get their bowels operating in the morning. Chances are that just plain water, whether warm or not, could do as well. But the human race, as you may have noticed, dearly loves the idea that mixing up a potion of some sort is better than keeping things simple. I would say there is merit in your morning potion.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have trouble using my fingers and the doctors recommended neck traction to take pressure off a nerve. As I live alone, it is not always convenient to get someone to help me every day. I surely thought they would teach me how to use the equipment alone. — M. P.

Well, I'd go back to the doctor and ask him for such instruction. Alternatively, isn't there a visiting nurse organization in your city? Your doctor could refer you to it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If there is a mentally retarded child in a family, is it hereditary? Our son goes with a girl whose twin sister is retarded. So is it or isn't it? — Mrs. H. T.

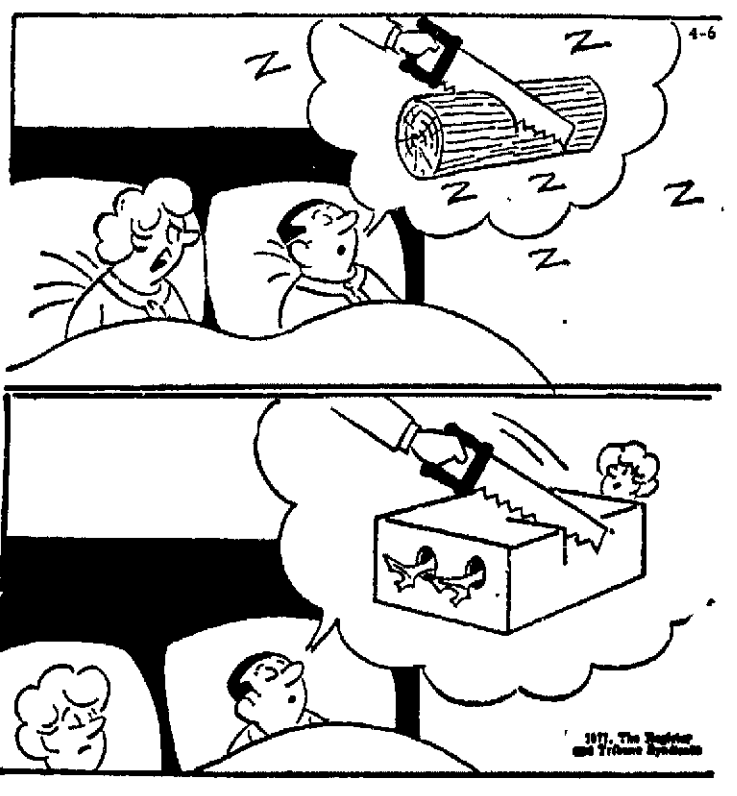

Some retardation is hereditary; much of it is not but is caused by infection, injury, or some influence that occurred before birth — the so-called “birth defects” which result from illness of the mother, or some other factor, while the fetus is developing. (Birth defects from German measles are an example.)

In the case of twins, one retarded and one not, I would venture the opinion that the cause is not heredity. To cite a well-known case, President Kennedy had a retarded sister, and the Kennedy family was very much interested in research to find causes and preventives of retardation.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. (c) 1971, Field Enterprises, Inc.

policy. Not only were returns open to the public, but he gave out lists of taxpayers, their taxable incomes and taxes paid to local newspapers. Instead of a public outcry, Horace Greeley said the open-book policy would "prove beneficial to the revenue as well as to the consciences of some of our best citizens."

Populists managed to get an income tax through Congress in 1894—this time with a levy of 2 per cent on incomes above $4,000—but the following year the Supreme Court ruled it unconstitutional. The Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution, ratified in 1913, gave Congress power to impose an income tax. It promptly levied a 2 per cent tax on personal income.

As lower and middle income taxpayers line up for their annual shearing, the IRS reports that more millionaires have managed to avoid paying taxes. In 1969, 56 persons reported an adjusted gross income of $1 million or more with no taxes due. That is a sizable jump from 31 "non-taxable" millionaires in 1968—and an even bigger jump from the 18 millionaires whose nontaxable returns for 1966 fueled demands for reform.

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once said that "taxes are what we pay for a civilized society." Most taxpayers, however, might agree more readily with Jean Baptiste Colbert, the 17th Century French official, who declared: "The art of taxation consists in so plucking the goose as to obtain the largest amount of feathers with the least amount of hissing."

Does McCloskey really think rank-and-file Republicans will turn against their most assiduous partisan or is it only a sense of vanity or conviction that moves him to attempt the hopeless? Nobody in his right mind would put a nickel on McCloskey's chances at the present time. But, except for those who sensed an opportunity to seize on an underlying and undefined mood of the country in the latter part of 1967, most people didn't think McCarthy would prove anything, either.

Election Change Proposed

Well, here it is, primary election day, the fourth Tuesday preceding the date of the city general election—which is held the first Tuesday in May in every odd-numbered year, in accordance with the City Charter. And state statutes dictate that the state primary shall be held the first Tuesday after the second Monday in May and the general election shall be on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in even-numbered years.

It's all part of the pattern we are used to. Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., would change that pattern somewhat.

Dominick proposes a new election day and a uniform closing time for voting in presidential and congressional elections across the nation in a bill that would, if passed, become effective Jan. 1, 1974.

Under his Senate bill, the first Monday after the first Sunday in November would be designated as election day and would also be a national holiday. All polls would close at the same Greenwich mean time across the nation—11 p.m. Eastern Standard Time and 10 p.m. CST, for example. The national holiday aspect, Dominick said, would help increase voter participation not only by making it much easier for Americans to vote but by helping to focus attention on the importance of the election process.

He further argues that Monday is a better choice for election day than Tuesday because it causes the least possible interference with business. The uniform closing time "would eliminate the possibility that predictions based on earlier returns from one area may affect election results in areas where the polls have not closed. Solving this problem through the uniform closing time for all polls would be better than trying to restrict the flow of information on election returns."

If elections for state or local offices which fall at the same time as presidential and congressional elections were made corresponding, there might be something to Dominick's proposal. There is, after all, nothing sacred about Tuesdays, and the other features of the measure are attractive. We are going through a period of adjustment to our revised holiday schedules. One more adjustment shouldn't be too high a hurdle.

Increasing Concern Over Indochinese Civilians
As Casualties Mount To No Explainable Purpose

NEW YORK—For millions of Americans, the Calley verdict has raised terrible questions about the responsibility for things that have happened in Indochina in the last six years. It is right and inevitable that we examine that record of the past. But it is more urgent that we face one simple fact about the present:

In this year, 1971, more civilians are being killed and wounded in the three countries of Indochina, and more made refugees, than at any time in history. Most of those casualties are caused, and people made refugees, by American and allied military activity.

That is the estimate of the experts on Edward Kennedy's Senate Subcommittee on Refugees, whose figures on the civilian toll of the war are recognized as the best available. In other words, as Americans are told by their government that the war is winding down, the number of Vietnamese, Cambodians and Laotians being killed and maimed and made homeless is at a record high.

The realities behind that fact can be illustrated in a number of ways.

In South Vietnam alone last year, the subcommittee estimates, the number of civilians killed averaged more than 500 a week. That was six times the American war deaths.

In the last three months of 1970, 150,000 people in South Vietnam became refugees. On the very day that Calley was sentenced for the massacre at My Lai, South Vietnamese troops began a sweep of the My Lai area that officials believed could drive 16,000 villagers there from their homes.

In Cambodia, a check last August showed 1 million refugees—in a country of 6 million people. The figure is undoubtedly higher now, after more American bombing. Cambodia used to live with political compromises that were awkward but at least did avoid the real ravages of war. The refugees and civilian casualties have come in the last year.

In Laos, with a population of only 3 million, 292,000 are officially on the books as refugees. And again the experts say that American bombing is the principal cause. People do not usually leave their homes merely because of the presence of Viet Cong or North Vietnamese troops in the area.

The curious thing is that the cost of the war to the actual residents of Indochina hardly ever figures in official speeches. President Nixon, in his major talks on the war since Nov. 3, 1969, has spoken about American casualties and the defense of an independent

Mrs. Dinsmore

Lincoln, Neb. It will soon be possible for registered voters in Lincoln to select members for the Lincoln Board of Education. These school board members are charged with the responsibility of insuring quality education for all children in our city. Successful pursuit of quality education cannot be based upon unsupported opinion, prejudice and controversy. This requires thoughtful deliberation based upon continued study and research as to what our ultimate educational objectives must be.

I am pleased to see that Mrs. Karen E. Dinsmore has availed herself as a candidate for the Board of Education. I feel Dr. Dinsmore has the educational background and sensitivity to make significant contributions for maximizing the educational opportunities to help each child become all that he is capable of becoming.

Right And Wrong

Lincoln, Neb. With the hue and cry over the conviction of Lt. Calley, it seems to me that this country has a massive case of hypocrisy. At the end of World War II, we hanged and imprisoned many Japanese and German military people because they had mistreated disarmed American soldiers, men who were avowed combatants.

It seems to me that all those people who are so white with anger over the verdict on Lt. Calley should answer themselves one question first. Suppose, instead of its being the trial of an American soldier accused of slaughtering civilians, it were instead the trial of a North Vietnamese lieutenant accused of shooting down disarmed American soldiers. His defense in complete honesty would be that he had been taught to regard Americans as enemies and to kill them wherever he found them. I may be wrong, but I suspect that those same people who regard Lt. Calley as an injured martyr would slaver for the chance to pull the trigger executing the Vietnamese.

It appears to me that if there is any miscarriage of justice in the case of Lt. Calley, it would be that he is being singled out for punishment while people as guilty as he is by the standards imposed on the Germans and Japanese after World War II are going scot free. But I believe that if it's wrong for Japanese and Germans to mistreat disarmed American combatants, it's equally wrong for Americans to slaughter Vietnamese civilians.

All Stand Accused

Lincoln, Neb. If, indeed, Lt. William Calley is representative of members of the United States armed forces in Vietnam, which I believe him to be, by virtue of the fact that he is employed as such, or was employed thus at the time of the My Lai incident, the guilty verdict brought against him on charges of premeditated murder must surely reflect upon the institution he represented while committing said crime. The act of war, or engaging in such, would seem to be a gross act of premeditated murder in itself on this premise, as some civilians are killed in any war.

The Calley case has set a very nice precedent for murder charges brought against any entity engaging in war. The United States federal government may consider itself accused, from the Commander-in-Chief down. It should have the same six jurors deliberating when it goes to trial; that is, if those six men aren't among the defendants.

Calls For Change

Lincoln, Neb. It is time for the taxpayers to rebel against the taxes. Although the state has dropped property taxes, the city and county have raised the valuation of real estate from 25 to 40 per cent. With the coming election, voters should get a new council. Councilwoman Mrs. Boosalis was one of the first to subscribe to the city sales tax. She says, "for incidentals"—$2 million for incidentals! Most of this comes from the people who can least afford it, especially since the revenue comes mostly from grocery sales. Groceries are a necessity, not a luxury.

So let us vote for new candidates for City Council, and there are many good candidates. We need new faces, new ideas. A change is always refreshing.

Lincoln, Neb. Unless public transportation systems come into more common use, private vehicles will become so numerous that we will end up in one tremendous traffic jam in the near future.

SPECTATOR

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have searched for information about a "hair lip" and can find nothing. I am sure there is a scientific term for it which I don't know. I would appreciate a discussion of cause, effects, etc. I have been told that surgery is completely successful. Statistically how often does it happen and is it hereditary?—Mrs. A.W.

It's hare lip, not "hair," which may have caused you some trouble. The more technical term for it is cleft lip, and there is a companion defect that often goes along with it, cleft palate.

The fetus, or baby-to-be, is formed in part from separate sections which subsequently fuse together. This is true of the skull, for example, with four separate bones which fuse and join into a solid bone structure.

Well, tissues of the mouth join together in similar fashion.

If this joining does not occur in the lip, there may be one cleft or two. Some cases may involve only the lip. Some extend up as far as the nose.

The companion fault, cleft palate, is a similar gap or lack of fusion of the roof of the mouth.

Either fault, but especially the latter, can be serious for the baby. With a cleft palate, when he tries to take food, some of it can get up into the nasal passages and cause him all sorts of trouble. A cleft lip can make it difficult for him to eat, the difficulty depending on the size of the fault or cleft.

When he is old enough to talk, or start learning to talk, the cleft palate and hare lip interfere very seriously. Indeed, with such defects, a person cannot speak entirely normally.

Appearance also is impaired.

Thus there is every reason to repair such defects as early in life as possible. While the correction can be made later on, and successfully, the final results will not be as good as when the correction is made in infancy—before the second year, and sometimes earlier than that, for cleft palate; at three months or sooner for hare lip.

Techniques have been worked out also for using plastic to close the cleft palate, then making the permanent repair with a second operation later on, with the idea of letting growth proceed as normally as possible instead of fusing the cleft solidly to begin with. The decision depends on the individual case.

Whichever course, the answer is yes, surgery is successful. Usually a scar, but often not very noticeable. In palate repair, a plastic surgeon and orthodontist may work together.

Without exact figures being available, it is thought that about a thousand babies a year in the U.S. are born with this type of defect.

It can be hereditary, but not necessarily so. A mother may have an infection (German measles is a ready example) during pregnancy, and a defect results.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any merit in drinking lemon juice in warm water on arising? Is this an old wives' tale or is it beneficial?—E.E.K.

The lemon juice provides some vitamin C. The water (and possibly the lemon) helps some people get their bowels operating in the morning. Chances are that just plain water, whether warm or not, could do as well. But the human race, as you may have noticed, dearly loves the idea that mixing up a potion of some sort is better than keeping things simple. I would say there is merit in your morning potion.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have trouble using my fingers and the doctors recommended neck traction to take pressure off a nerve. As I live alone, it is not always convenient to get someone to help me every day. I surely thought they would teach me how to use the equipment alone.—M. P.

Well, I'd go back to the doctor and ask him for such instruction. Alternatively, isn't there a visiting nurse organization in your city? Your doctor could refer you to it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If there is a mentally retarded child in a family, is it hereditary? Our son goes with a girl whose twin sister is retarded. So is it or isn't it?—Mrs. H. T.

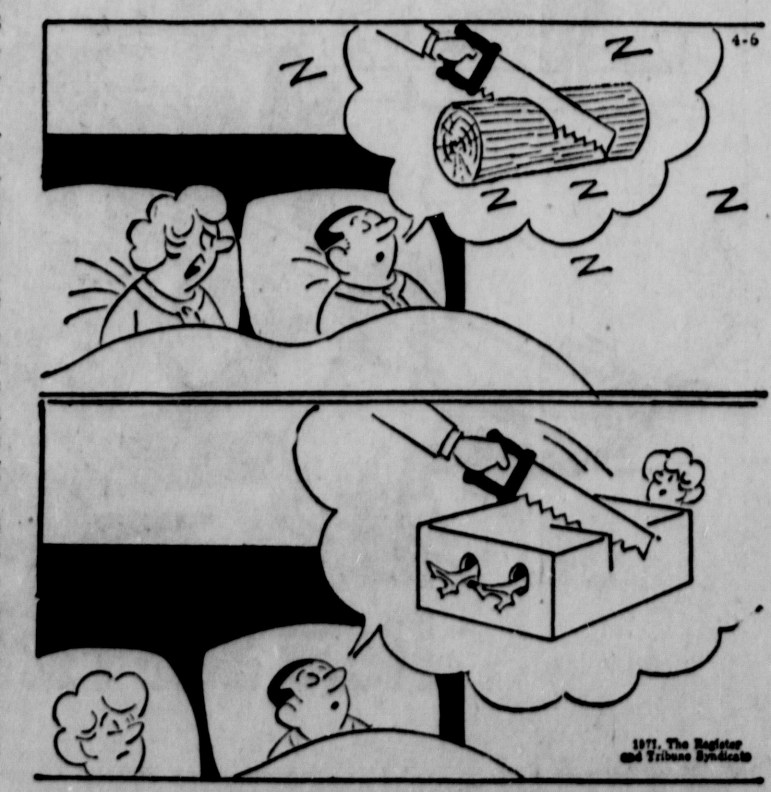

Some retardation is hereditary; much of it is not but is caused by infection, injury, or some influence that occurred before birth—the so-called "birth defects" which result from illness of the mother, or some other factor, while the fetus is developing. (Birth defects from German measles are an example.)

In the case of twins, one retarded and one not, I would venture the opinion that the cause it not heredity. To cite a well-known case, President Kennedy had a retarded sister, and the Kennedy family was very much interested in research to find causes and preventives of retardation.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in this column whenever possible. (c) 1971, Field Enterprises, Inc.

Women's Lib Attacked By Reader

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert Peterson is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by author and publisher Henry Schmidt.)

By HENRY SCHMIDT

A reader writes: I get riled up everytime I read about Women's Liberation in America where women are more free than in any nation in the world. Maybe it would be helpful in many of the nations of the world, but in this country, the need for liberation is a lot of nonsense. Liberation from what? From being a woman? I'll go along with equal pay for equal work, but beyond that?

Too many women in this country are pushing men around like pawns. They nab a man for marriage on a pretense of sincerity when all they want is free bed and board. They have some children, a few marital squabbles develop, and down they go to a lawyer to seek a divorce, claiming incompatibility or mental cruelty. Because they are women and have children, they are granted the divorce, grab the children as their private property, also the house which the husband has struggled to provide, and collect support and alimony. The ex-husband has to set up a lonely home of his own, is made to feel like a convict, with occasional visitations with his own children and is usually unable to remarry because of the prohibitive cost of maintaining two homes and two families. Women need liberation? Bah! Men do from women like this.

I wanted to get married again and the only way I could swing it was to ask my fiancée if she would work to help support the new home. So now, in actuality, my second wife is helping to support my first wife. In addition, my second wife would make a much better mother for my children than my first wife, but my first wife observes strict observance of the court-arranged visitation. Now I have a nice home where I would be able to have my children at least part of the time, and instead, I'm tormented by what I feel has been "The Great Child Robbery."

Question: — My mother's vision is getting very poor and it's especially hard on her, since she's always been such an avid reader. I heard that there are some books printed in large type which might be available. Could you tell me who publishes them?

Answer: Indeed there are books available for those with failing eyesight, some 1,500 titles put out by some 38 different publishers. I suggest that you look at a bibliography called "Large Type Books in Print." It's published by R. R. Bowker Co., New York City, but is probably in your public library.

It makes finding and ordering these special editions easy. The descriptions of the books are also in large type.

El-Al Airliners Leave Empty In Wildcat Strike

Tel Aviv (AP) — Three El-Al airliners left Israel empty when their cabin crews staged a wildcat strike.

The El Al strikers said they will continue their walkout on several flights a day until the company increases the number of stewards and stewardesses on the Tel Aviv-New York run from seven to nine.

Passengers scheduled to depart on the three flights to Zurich, London and Amsterdam-New York were transferred to other El Al flights and to other carriers, a company spokesman said.

The three airliners were expected to return with full crews, he added.

Attempt Fails To Move Proposal To Exempt Food From Sales Tax

Another committee effort to move the proposal to exempt food purchases from the sales tax to the floor of the Legislature failed Monday.

That apparently sets the stage for Sen. William Skarda's promised bid to ask the Legislature to extract the proposal from the Revenue Committee where it has been stuck for weeks.

The bill, LB567, is strongly supported by Gov. J. James Exon.

Monday's effort to move the bill to the floor failed on a 4-3 vote after the Revenue Committee was summoned into a special noontime executive session to attempt to take action on the proposal.

Five votes are required to advance or kill the bill.

Junkyards Regulations Bill Is Stalled On General File

A bill calling for the licensing and regulation of junkyards along public highways failed to draw enough support for advancement from general file in its first floor test in the Legislature Monday.

Senators voted 22-13 approval of Alliance Sen. Leslie A. Stull's LB398, but 25 approving votes were needed.

No further action ensued and the bill remains stalled on general file.

As written, LB398 would have required the Department of Roads — "if feasible" to screen existing junkyards located within 1,000 feet of Interstate or primary highways. An amendment offered by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter removed the words, "if feasible," thereby making screening mandatory.

Sen. Stull estimated 251 junkyards would be affected, and estimated screening costs at $2.5 million. However, the bill carries provisions whereby Nebraska could use available federal funds covering 75% of cost, leaving 25% to be borne by the state.

Opponents of the bill argued generally that junkyard operators should pay the screening costs. Defenders of LB398 contended the job won't be done without government help.

Rules Change Is Rejected

By United Press International

The Legislature refused Monday to accept a proposed rules change which would have lessened the body's power to kill bills.

Sent back to the Rules Committee for clarification was another proposed change which would alter the procedure for killing a bill.

Failing to get approval was a suggestion that it takes 25 votes to kill a measure on general file, rather than a simple majority.

Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln, sponsor of the proposed change, said it would put a kill attempt "on an even keel with an attempt to advance." It takes 25 votes to move a bill off general file, the point in the legislative process where bills are debated for the first time by the full Legislature.

Chilean Voters Support Allende

Santiago, Chile (AP) — Marxist President Salvador Allende's leftist coalition government has won a firm mandate in municipal elections to continue the transformation of Chile into a socialist state.

In final returns from Sunday's voting, Popular Unity candidates, including Communists and Socialists, received 1,375,063 votes — 43.7% of the 2,832,784 total.

The election was the first chance for Chileans to express what they thought of Allende's first five months in office.

Mansfield Urges U.S. Keep Nose Out Of Vietnam Voting

Washington (AP) — Senate Democrats Monday called on the administration to stay out of this year's elections in South Vietnam and prove U.S. dedication to self-determination.

"We have preached self-determination at least since the time of Woodrow Wilson," said majority leader Mike Mansfield.

"I think it is time to put that principle into effect and not just talk about it," he declared in a floor speech in which he called the war a "corrosive cancer on the body politic of America."

Introducing a resolution designed to guarantee U.S. neutrality, Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., accused the administration of actively working for re-election of President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

The two leaders are up for re-election in October following legislative elections in August.

Stevenson said the U.S. Information Service in South Vietnam has been promoting the Thieu-Ky regime.

He also said U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker was quoted in the South Vietnamese press last fall as saying the United States supports re-election of Thieu and Ky.

McCloskey To Go See For Himself

Washington (AP) — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, a young Republican who stands ready to challenge Richard Nixon for the presidency, accused the Pentagon Monday of willful refusal to give him information on U.S. bombing in Laos. So, he said, he's going to see for himself.

McCloskey, a Californian who has announced he's prepared to enter 1972 presidential primaries if President Nixon doesn't end the war, said in an interview he will spend about eight days in Vietnam and Laos, talking to troops and refugees and "getting the facts."

Dear Friend:

My campaign to serve as your mayor, and the emphasis of my administration as mayor, will be to "Put City Hall to Work for You."

There are not just campaign slogan words with me. They reflect an attitude of mine that has grown stronger during each of the eight years I have served on the City Council. They reflect my basic idea that government's job is to serve the people efficiently, with courtesy, and with a progressive thrust.

I have done all I could as councilman to move needed programs ahead, and to initiate new ones. The current administration is not progressive, in my view. It does not demand the efficient service to the people, and the economies in government, I know we need in Lincoln.

My job as mayor will be to create a climate for progressive growth and development of this city. We can be on the threshold of great years for Lincoln. The next decade can see us move ahead with strong economic and social gains. But we can't do it with a sit-on-your-hands administration. Neither can we do it with a top-sided free-zoning policy.

Solid development results through planned, balanced growth. This all begins with business-efficiency in city government. It is carried through by a mayor, city council, and all other commissions and committees of our local government, and with private enterprise.

More than anything else, I want to serve as your mayor. I don't want Lincoln to miss the great opportunities it has in this grand decade. You and your children should not miss them. My job as mayor will be to see that we do not. It is a job we must do together, for none of us can do it alone.

Let's begin doing that job together on Tuesday, April 6. I want and need your vote. You have my pledge that I will do my utmost to deserve the trust you put in me.

For a greater Lincoln,
Sincerely,
Ervin Peterson

Attempt Fails To Move Proposal To Exempt Food From Sales Tax

Another committee effort to move the proposal to exempt food purchases from the sales tax to the floor of the Legislature failed Monday.

That apparently sets the stage for Sen. William Skarda's promised bid to ask the Legislature to extract the proposal from the Revenue Committee where it has been stuck for weeks.

The bill, LB567, is strongly supported by Gov. J. James Exon.

Monday's effort to move the bill to the floor failed on a 4-3 vote after the Revenue Committee was summoned into a special noontime executive session to attempt to take action on the proposal.

Five votes are required to advance or kill the bill.

Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora had indicated that he might change his negative vote to affirmative in order to send the bill to the floor for debate.

But Kremer voted no again Monday on the motion to advance, noting that a full debate on the merits of the proposal can be secured on Skarda's motion to take the bill from the committee.

Kremer said he would have opposed the bill on the floor even if he had provided the fifth vote to move it out of committee.

Voting to advance were Sens. Rudolf Kokes of Ord, J. James Waldron of Callaway, Eugene Mahoney of Omaha and Skarda.

Nay votes were cast by Sens. Jules Burbach of Crofton, Jerome Warner of Waverly and Kremer. Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt was absent.

Local Sales Tax Repeal Bill To Be Revised

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer
Sen. Jules Burbach Monday decided to revise his proposal to repeal the 1969 local option sales tax act after it encountered strong opposition on the floor of the Legislature.

The proposal came to the floor in the form of a motion to introduce a new bill repealing the local sales tax law. Twenty-five votes were required.

After considerable debate and at the suggestion of Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, Burbach decided to take his proposal back to the Revenue Committee for possible amendment before attempting once again to bring it to the floor.

His amendments may transform the measure into a state aid bill for cities, counties and school districts, Burbach indicated.

Change Proposed

Carpenter proposed that the bill be amended to retain the local sales tax ordinances in Lincoln and Omaha and impose a state aid sales tax rate elsewhere in the state to provide revenue for cities and counties.

The 1969 law authorized cities of Jan. 1, 1973, providing the cities and the state "ample time" to develop a new alternative source of revenue for the cities.

Burbach believes the Legislature erred in turning over sales tax authority to the cities. If cities need sales tax aid, he thinks it is preferable for the state to provide such assistance through direct aid from the state sales tax base.

His new bill, sponsored by the Revenue Committee, would have repealed the local option law as of Jan. 1, 1973, providing the cities and the state "ample time" to develop a new alternative source of revenue for the cities.

Earnings Tax

Burbach suggested the possibility of an earnings tax as an alternative.

Sen. Glenn Goodrich of Omaha said the proposal could bring "financial catastrophe" to Omaha. Repeal of the 1% city sales tax "could mean absolute bankruptcy" for his city, he said.

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway said he would prefer that Omaha and Lincoln continue to levy their own sales taxes rather than see a statewide sales tax levy provide aid for the two large cities.

Sen. George Syas of Omaha said his city needs an alternative source of local revenue since it has already reached its charter limit on property tax rates.

Burbach said he does not intend "to pull the rug out from under" Lincoln or Omaha, and he doesn't want any more tax pressure placed on property. That's why he would give the cities time to develop an alternative, he noted.

Limit On Cigarette Sales Is Proposed

By The Associated Press
The Legislature took steps Monday to halt the stockpiling of cigarettes by retailers in Nebraska in advance of a prospective hike in the state cigarette tax.

Adopted 37-2 was a Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter resolution designed to limit sales of cigarettes by wholesalers to retailers to approximately past average sales.

Prompting the resolution is the bill, LB87, approved by the Revenue Committee, which would increase the state cigarette tax from 8 to 13 cents per package. Revenue from the added tax would finance construction of the new state office building and a new University of Nebraska fieldhouse.

Sen. Carpenter said retailers have sharply increased their orders for cigarettes from wholesalers in anticipation of the tax raise. He said this stockpiling could cost the state from $600,000 to $1 million in tax revenue.

Resolution 36 directs the tax commissioner to limit wholesalers to affixing tax stamps to cigarettes at a rate no greater than the weekly average last year.

The resolution states that "the emergency giving rise to this resolution shall exist until such time as LB87 has become law or has been rejected by this Legislature and ceases to exist."

Action Is Deferred On Calley Issue

The Legislature Monday deferred action on whether to involve itself in the Lt. William Calley case.

Action was put off until at least Tuesday on whether to adopt a resolution offered by Omaha Sen. Richard Proud which would commend President Nixon for his decision to review the case.

Calley was last week sentenced to life imprisonment by a military court martial as a result of the My Lai massacre in Vietnam three years ago.

Omaha Sen. P. J. Morgan also deferred action on his motion that the Legislature ask Nixon for clemency in the case.

Afternoon Wedding

At the Christ Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon, April 4, the marriage of Miss Rosalie Gail Cook, daughter of Mrs. Robert Cook, to Morey M. Anderson of Rochester, Minn., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Gerald Anderson of Lincoln, took place at 4 o'clock. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Melvin Ireland, and Mrs. Charles Axtell played the wedding music. Miss Beth Wieland was the vocal soloist.

Wearing alike, floor-length frocks of yellow organdy, flocked with white daisies and fashioned with ring collars and long sleeves, the attendants were Miss Joyce Cook of San Jacinto, Calif., the maid of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Teresa Alexander of Superior, and Miss Georgia Lord of Callaway. Each carried a basket of yellow daisies and acacia.

Tom Braun of Rochester, Minn., served as best man, and seating the guests were Joseph Singleton of Dix, and Kurt Schneider.

Silk crepe and pearl-encrusted Venetian lace in the daisy motif, fashioned the gown chosen by the bride. The lace and pearls patterned the Empire bodice and were repeated to form the ring collar and cuff the long, full sleeves. The skirt, given accentuated fullness on each side, was given back interest with a court train. Ornamenting the neckline was a cameo brooch which had been worn on her mother's wedding gown. Her veil of silk illusion was held in place with a bandeau of daisies, and she carried a nosegay of daisies, sweetheart roses, acacia and statice.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Phi Mu sorority. Mr. Anderson is a graduate of Doane College where he is a member of Sigma Phi Theta fraternity.

La Sertoma Officers Named

The Gateway La Sertoma Club of Lincoln held its annual inaugural dinner and dance in conjunction with the Gateway Sertoma Club on Friday evening, April 2. The installation of officers was held at the Elks Club.

Mrs. Dan Bergmeyer was installed as president for the 1971-72 club year, and the other officers who were installed include Mrs. Lowell Fastenau, vice president; Mrs. Dick Hartsock, secretary; and Mrs. Bill Rapp, treasurer.

Committee chairmen will include Mrs. Charles Cahill, ways and means; Mrs. Marvin Lyman, social and hostess; Mrs. Herbert Eng, membership and telephone; and Mrs. John Allington, sponsorship.

Talk Around The Town

They're home again — an eightsome — plus one — of travelers. It seems that shortly after Dr. and Mrs. Harold Morgan took off nearly two months ago for the South Pacific, via Hawaii, Dr. and Mrs. John T. McGreer boarded plane for Tahiti. Just a little later Dr. and Mrs. Richard Garlinghouse and Mrs. O. J. King left for exotic places in the South Pacific and they were followed shortly after by Adm. (Ret.) and Mrs. T. A. Donovan.

After seeing Hawaii Dr. and Mrs. Morgan continued on their trip, stopping here and there but eventually arriving in New Zealand where, in Dunedin, they were welcomed most enthusiastically by Dr. Neil Beggs who, in his homeland, emulates Dr. Morgan's fame when it comes to babies, maternal health care, and such. Dr. and Mrs. Morgan visited Dr. Beggs' clinic in Dunedin, which is one of many in New Zealand, and Dr. Morgan was surprised to find the Dunedin press waiting to interview him.

From Dunedin the travelers visited some of the New Zealand cities, then went on to Melbourne, Australia — There was a journey to Tasmania, and then back to Sydney, Australia.

Dr. and Mrs. McGreer did some touring after Tahiti and eventually landed in Sydney — as did Dr. and Mrs. Garlinghouse, Mrs. King and Adm. and Mrs. Donovan.

The travelers from Lincoln spent four or five days in Sydney and then boarded the SS Monterey for the trip home.

Since we seem to be on the subject of travel we'll just keep talking — and tell you that Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludwick, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bookstrom are back in town after a holiday in Hawaii where, of course, they devoted some time to Dr. Ludwick's brother and sister-in-law, Capt. William Ludwick, USN, and Mrs. Ludwick.

And then, there are cruise travelers — but you probably already know that Mrs. Frank Boehmer and Mrs. E. B. Drake returned a few weeks ago from a Caribbean cruise — and that Mrs. Vance Traphagen had a delightful ocean voyage from which she returned about a month ago.

But at the time some of the cruise and South Pacific travelers are arriving home, there are those who are planning trips abroad — and we'll mention them when they are back in town.

We count the day lost we have no guest to welcome — Today isn't lost, and the guest we have in mind, an exceedingly popular one, by the way — is a former Lincoln resident.

We're talking about Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel who is the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Chesen.

Mrs. Schimmel might have considered lingering a little longer but for the fact that she must be home in Tucson, Ariz., when the doors open on classes at the University of Arizona. Right now the Arizona 'coed' is visiting in Lincoln during the university's spring vacation.

Mrs. Schimmel is taking work in Graduate School.

DAR Officers Named

The Daughters of the American Revolution have quite a history to their credit, and another year went down in the history books of Deborah Avery Chapter of the DAR on Friday morning, April 2, when the group gathered for an election of officers.

New chapter officers who were elected at the meeting held at Hotel Radisson-Cornhusker include Mrs. Donald R. Witt, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. H. Claybaugh, historian; Mrs. Allen Edison, treasurer; Mrs. Harold Claytor, registrar; and Miss Helen Dunlap, librarian.

Mrs. John C. Cox was elected to the advisory council, and named to the nominating committee were Mrs. Levi Gay and Mrs. T. H. Goodding.

The above officers will be installed at the May meeting. Mrs. Fred N. Wells is the chapter regent.

In addition to the annual election, the business meeting included reports of the State DAR Conference, and a program — "Sights and Scenes from the Orient" — presented by Mrs. O. E. Kingery, Sr.

Mrs. Irma Coombs was hostess chairman for the meeting, and the committee included Mrs. Guy R. Davis, Mrs. John C. Cox, Mrs. G. A.

Ackerman, Mrs. C. C. Cartney, Mrs. Doane Pickering, and Mrs. J. H. Claybaugh.

Convention Held Here

Delegates from seven chapters of Gamma Phi Beta sorority in Nebraska and Iowa attended a Province Convention on Friday, April 2, and Saturday, April 3, which was hosted by the Pi Chapter of Lincoln.

The program centered around a preview of Gamma Phi Beta for the '70's, emphasizing alumnae relations and chapter programs. Alumnae and collegiates participated in the activities which were held at The Villager.

Honored guests included Mrs. Daniel H. Lundin of Seattle, Wash., national director of finance; and Mrs. Arthur O. Edwards of Minneapolis, Minn., international convention committee chairman.

General chairmen for the convention were Mrs. Harold Demaree of Lincoln and Miss Linda Thurber of Ralston.

MISS SUSAN BEACHLY

Of special interest to Lincoln this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. William L. Beachly of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Susan Marie, to Tom Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Williams.

The wedding will take place on Sunday, June 20, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the Vine Congregational Church.

Miss Beachly is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and now is completing her second year at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in Omaha.

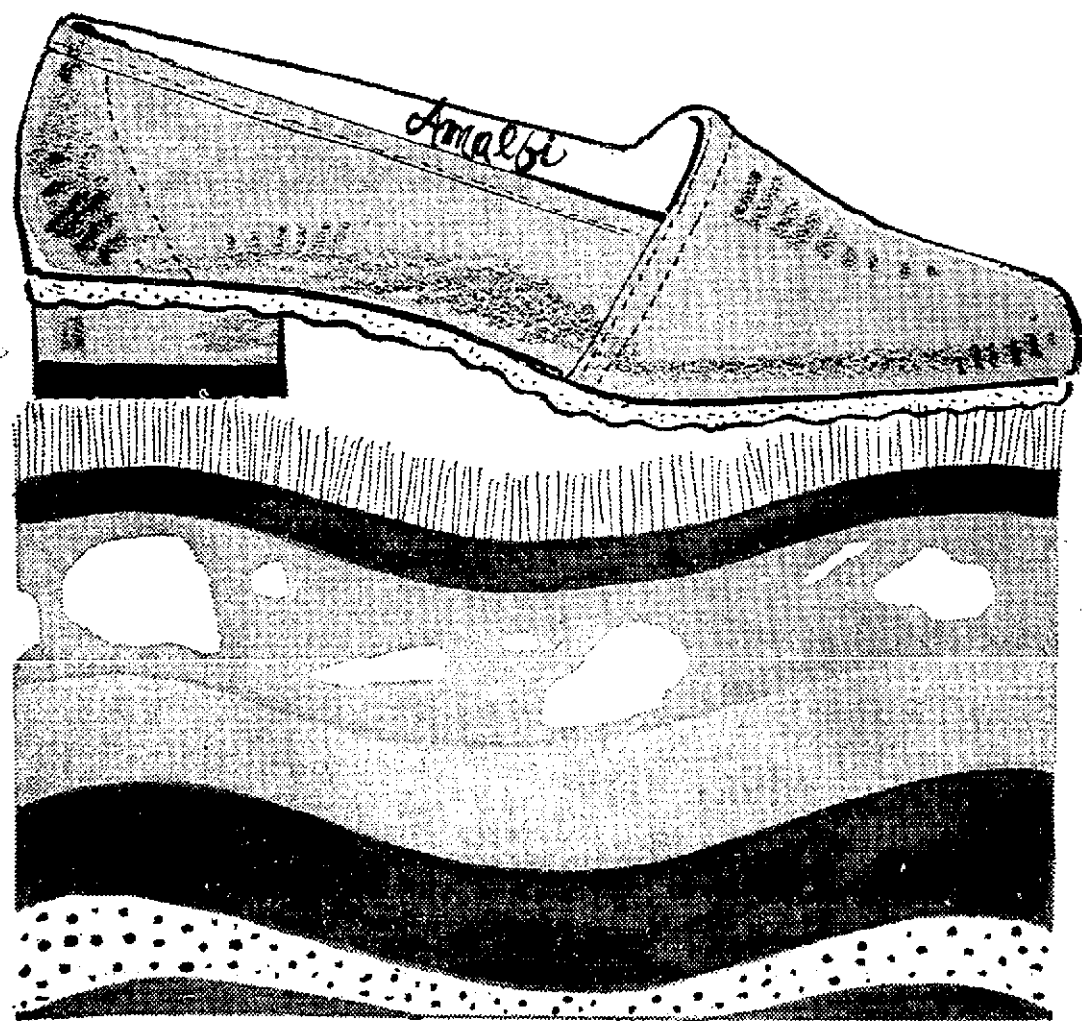

Mr. Williams was graduated from the University of Nebraska and also is completing his second year at the College of Medicine in Omaha.

PEO Group Will Meet

Mrs. Bernard Packett will entertain the members of Chapter AI of the PEO when the group meets at her home at 6123 A St. on Tuesday evening, April 6.

Assisting hostesses for the 7:30 o'clock meeting will be Miss Elizabeth Wright, Mrs. James F. Eno and Mrs. James Morrison.

On Saturday evening, April 3, the wedding of Miss Linda Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mann of Beatrice, and Leslie L. Loth of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Loth, also of Beatrice, took place at the Centenary United Methodist Church in Beatrice. The Rev. Orville Krebs, uncle of the bride, solemnized the 7 o'clock ceremony, and Miss Imogene Scammon played the wedding music. Mrs. Delores Bailey was the vocalist.

Alike frocks of silk organza over taffeta, in the lilac tone, were worn by Mrs. Ronald Wiens, who was her sister's matron of honor; bridesmaids Mrs. James Cook of Lincoln, Mrs. William Scheve of Sioux City, Iowa; and bridesmaids Miss Jerry Frye and Miss Linda Leinemann, both of Lincoln.

Lyle Loth of Lincoln served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers included Ronald Williams of Clay Center, Kan.; Charles Langley of Omaha; Terry Perkins of Hastings; Gordon Riemen of Lincoln; Jay Schultz, Ronald Wiens, Dennis Martz and Dennis Hunt.

The bride chose a gown of white crepe and re-embroidered lace for her wedding. The Empire bodice of lace was fashioned with a high neckline and deeply cuffed Bishop sleeves. The lace was repeated to form a front panel in the skirt and to border the chapel-length train. A pearl crown, accented with crystals, held in place her shoulder-length veil of imported silk illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis centered with two, deep purple orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Ben's School of Beauty and is careering in Lincoln. Mr. Loth is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and is associated with the A. C. Nielsen Co.

At a 4 o'clock ceremony on Sunday afternoon, April 4, the marriage of Miss Barbara Ann Petri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Petri, to Stephen Kent Cowel of Littleton, Colo., son of Mrs. N. V. Meeks of Lincoln, and Burdette Cowell of Ft. Collins, Colo., was solemnized at the Faith Lutheran Church.

The attendants, including Miss Cheryl Buhrdorf, the maid of honor; Mrs. Larry Honeycutt the bridesmatron, and junior bridesmaids Miss Terry Meeks and Miss Elizabeth Meeks wore shirtwaist frocks fashioned with pale pink crepe blouses and floor-length skirts of chiffon patterned in a floral motif. They carried bouquets of spring flowers.

Larry Unruh of Pawnee Rock, Kan., served as best man, and seating the guests were Ansel Walters of Littleton, Colo.; William Walters of Denver, and Tim Ailes.

The bride's gown of ivory crepe also was in the shirtwaist mode and was accented with ivory-toned rose point lace. The lace formed an overlay for the pointed collar and cuffed the Bishop sleeves. The lace was repeated at the waistline beneath which the slender skirt was floor length. A Camelot cap of lace and seed pearls held to the head her long veil, and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and gypsophelia.

Mr. Cowel and his bride will reside at 593 W. Crestline Ave. No. 2, Littleton, Colo.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and now is a member of the faculty in the Jefferson County, Colorado school district. Mr. Cowel attended the University of Nebraska and has completed a three-year tour of duty with the U.S. Army. He now is associated with the Pet Ranch, Wheatridge, Colo.

The wedding of Miss Julia Dell Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Wright, and Terry Lee Holman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin W. Holman, took place on Friday evening, April 2, at the United Church of Christ. The Rev. Riley Sanson solemnized the 7:30 o'clock ceremony.

Floor-length frocks of blue chiffon, designed in the Victorian mode and fashioned with high necklines and full, pleated sleeves, were chosen for attendants Miss Nancy Wright, the maid of honor, and bridesmaid Miss Nann Greb.

Loland Montrey served as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers included John Dell Wright, Michael Velte and Fredrick Wright.

The bride appeared in a gown of white chiffon and Chantilly lace. The lace, which patterned the bodice, was repeated to ornament the high collar and to cap and cuff the Juliet sleeves, and the A-line skirt was floor-length, and extended into a chapel train. Her train-length veil of Illusion was widely bordered with lace and was held to the head with a calot.

Meetings

The board of directors of the Women's Division of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce will meet Wednesday evening, April 7, at 7 o'clock in the third floor board room of the Lincoln Center Bldg.

The executive committee of the Women's Division will have a dinner meeting on Wednesday at 5:45 o'clock at Kuhl's Restaurant.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, a date of mine kissed me in the ear and injured my eardrum. He caused a suction which blistered the eardrum and made it hemorrhage. Altho my hearing is not permanently impaired, I have spent a considerable amount of money seeing an ear specialist. I really think this fellow should pay for all the medical expense since he caused the damage, but since he didn't do it intentionally, I suggested that he split the bill with me. He just laughed.

I know there is no way I can force him to pay, but under the circumstances, do you think I am being unreasonable in asking him to at least pay half?

NO JOKE IN INDIANA
DEAR NO JOKE: Certainly not! I've heard of girls paying thru the nose for a little thrill — but this is ridiculous!

DEAR ABBY: I wonder if any other woman has this problem? For years my husband complained about those ugly, woolly pajamas I wore every winter. We bought an electric blanket recently, and I got rid of my warm winter sleepwear and bought myself some sexy nylon nighties, which pleased my husband to no end. I was happy, too, because I was warm and cozy under that electric blanket.

Now, the problem: My husband says the electric blanket dries out his feet and makes his heels rough. He refuses to use it, except to warm up the bed before we get in. Both of us have sinus trouble and cannot sleep in a heated room.

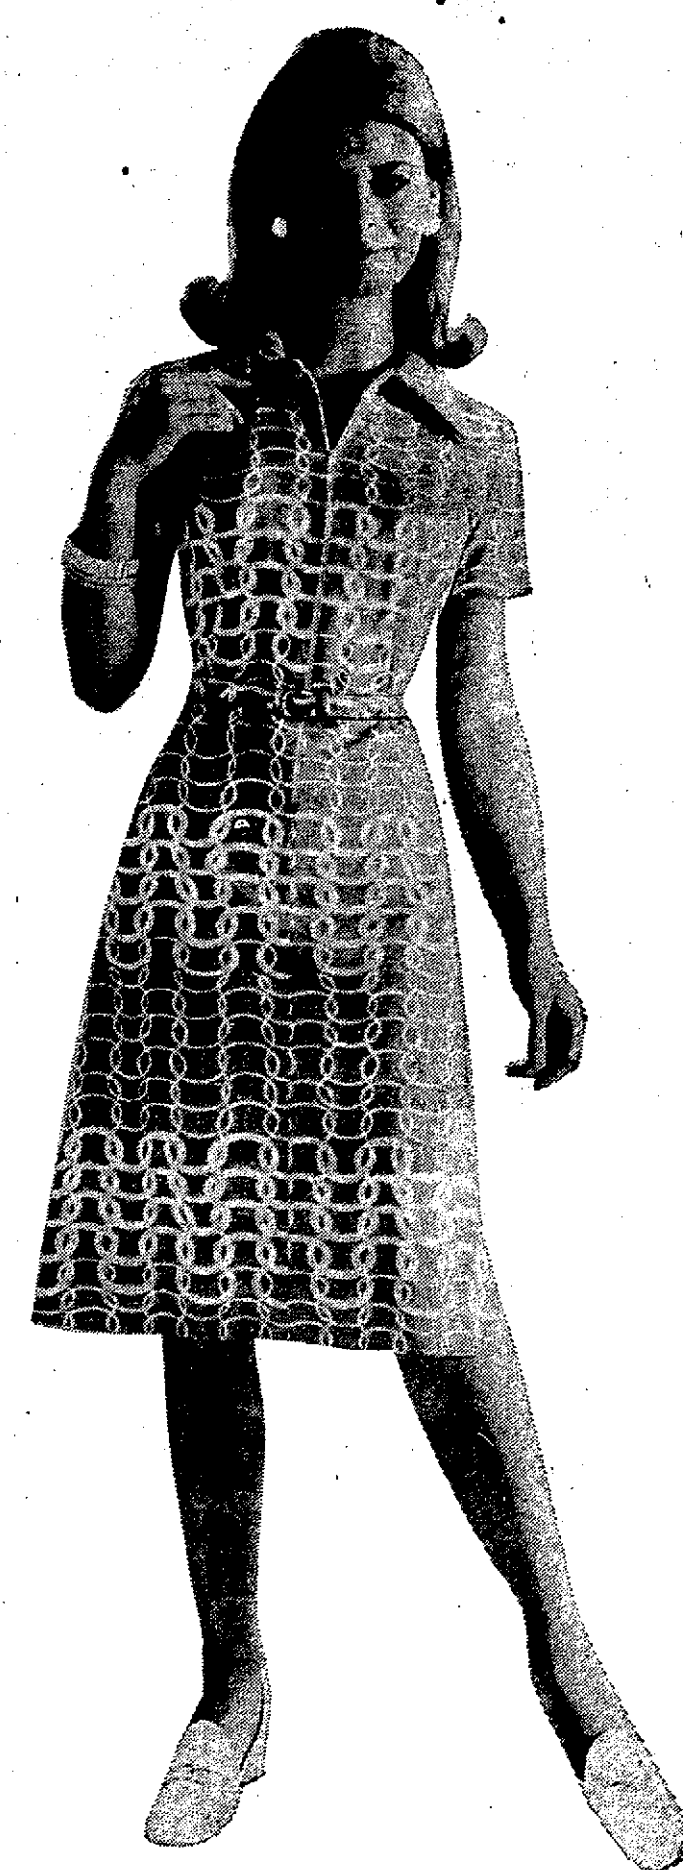

What's the solution? I don't want twin beds or bedrooms separate from each other. And if I go back to those ugly but warm pajamas my husband will think I'm being spiteful.

ICE COLD KATIE
DEAR KATIE: The electric blanket is not drying out your husband's feet. His skin is exceptionally dry in winter. Before bedtime, massage his feet with hand lotion. And if that doesn't eliminate the dryness, he'll be so touched with your eagerness to please him, I'll bet he lets you sleep in a gunnysack!

Liquor Control Commission Bills Split

Tuesday, April 6, 1971

The Lincoln Star 11

The Legislature Monday stamped its initial, but tentative, approval on a bill which would write into law all rules and regulations adopted by the Liquor Control Commission.

But, moments later, a companion measure which requires legislative approval to validate any commission rule or regulation tripped at the first floor hurdle, leaving the matter in doubt.

LB745, adopting all present rules and regulations, cleared its first barrier on a 27-14 vote. It needed 25 votes.

LB232, requiring legislative approval to validate not only present, but future, rules, was stalled on a 22-15 count.

'Too Much Latitude'
Both bills were sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who said the Liquor Commission and some other state agencies now "have too much latitude" in promulgating regulations.

The Legislature should retain firm control over liquor regulations by requiring that they be reviewed and written into the statutes, Carpenter insisted.

In other action during Monday afternoon's two-hour session, lawmakers agreed to schedule a major debate Tuesday on the proposal to increase state cigarette taxes by five cents a pack to finance a new state office building and a new University of Nebraska fieldhouse.

$7 Million Predicted
That bill, LB87, would raise nearly $7 million a year.

Meanwhile, the Appropriations Committee scheduled a decision-making executive session for state college budget requests Tuesday afternoon.

The committee may also begin making operational budget decisions for the University of Nebraska Tuesday. Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings said. Budget members did not meet Monday in order to allow staff personnel time to prepare data for decision sessions Tuesday and Wednesday.

Heading toward an Easter recess which begins Thursday, senators launched regular full-day sessions Monday.

Among bills advanced from first-round consideration was LB660, a proposal authored by Sen. Gerald Stromer of Kearney which would establish a student personnel services program in the Department of Education.

The measure, designed to assure that schools provide students with guidance, counseling, testing and other services, was moved ahead on a 30-2 vote.

An appropriations rider providing $58,500 to fund the program was advanced on a 27-2 count.

Also gaining initial approval was LB78, which excuses from prosecution for obscene entertainment theater employees who have no ownership in the operation.

Owners would be subject to prosecution for any offense under present obscenity laws. The bill, introduced by Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln, was advanced on a 38-1 score.

NU Disturbances Cost Taxpayers Reported $10,000

Two state patrolmen disclosed Monday that the May 1970 disturbance on the University of Nebraska campus cost taxpayers over $10,000 to service some 138 state troopers on hand at the campus to quell any possible problems.

4-State Arts Coalition Proposed By Varner

University of Nebraska Chancellor D. B. Varner Monday night unveiled a plan for a four-state coalition which he said could bring "major league" performing arts to the Midwest.

Varner told a news conference his proposal could include ballet, a symphony orchestra, a resident theatre company and possibly opera.

According to Varner, the group which he would like to see brought to the Midwest could be supported in an area bounded roughly by Omaha, Lincoln, Lawrence, Kan., Kansas City and Des Moines.

That area, said the chancellor, contains at least 100,000 college students and upwards of five million persons and "could support the arts on a scale such as found in New York, San Francisco or Boston."

Varner said he had discussed his proposal with Nancy Hanks of the National Endowment for the Performing Arts and Homer Wadsworth, president of the Kansas City Association of Foundations.

He proposed that it be sponsored by private foundations, state arts councils, local business communities and donations.

Varner proposed that a symphony orchestra could be based in one city, a resident theatre arts troupe in another and possibly a ballet in a third. The groups could then travel throughout the region, he said.

He said the performing arts field "is one of the areas where we do have a deficiency."

"We simply do not have the population base to support a major symphony on the level of Chicago, New York or Philadelphia," he explained, "but we could if we could put together a consortium of the four states, particularly where the states join to form a regional area."

High Court Told Prejudice Affected Case Against Indian

By The Associated Press
An attorney for an Omaha Indian convicted of rape and kidnap told the State Supreme Court Monday that his client's case had been affected by anti-Indian prejudice.

Attorney William Line of Fremont, representing Wayne Goham, made the contention in oral arguments before the court. Line is asking the Supreme Court to overturn a Thurston County District Court conviction of Goham.

Goham was one of six Indians charged in the case which involves the rape-kidnap of a coed in July, 1969. Goham was sentenced to life imprisonment on the kidnapping conviction and three to twenty years on the rape charge.

Line also contended that under retrocession, a process involving legal jurisdiction, the state has no authority to prosecute Goham.

Under the retrocession order signed last year by then Interior Secretary Walter Hickel, the federal government took over jurisdiction on the Omaha reservation with the federal government to prosecute major crimes and an Indian court to handle lesser offenses.

However, the State of Nebraska has contended it has concurrent jurisdiction and the question of who actually has jurisdiction has not been decided.

Arguing for the state, Asst. Atty. Gen. Raph Gillan pointed out that the offense had occurred in July, 1969 and Goham had been convicted nine months later.

Gillan contended the reaction of Macy and Walthill area residents was not prejudice against Indians but simply "a temporary emotional reaction."

Line had moved in the lower court for a change of venue but it was disallowed by Judge Joseph March.

Line contended a change of venue to a neighboring county "could not hurt and could only help in the administration of justice."

Judiciary Group Refuses To Reconsider Exon Bills

The Legislature's Judiciary Committee Monday decided not to reconsider its action last week in killing a pair of bills sponsored by Gov. J. J. Exon.

The committee voted 5-2 Monday not to reconsider after last week voting 6-0 to kill LB1004 and LB1005.

The two bills would have steeply increased prison sentences and parole conditions for assaulting or killing peace officers.

The Monday action was taken in an executive session of the committee called by chairman Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln to discuss bills now held by the committee.

In another action, the committee agreed to sponsor a resolution asking for an interim study between legislative sessions of methods to increase liaison between the committee and the State Crime Commission.

The committee also agreed to sponsor a companion bill to the resolution, creating the law enforcement advisory committee which would include members of the Crime Commission and Judiciary Committee.

Some Lancaster County Families To Receive 2 ADC Checks In April

Some Lancaster County Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) families will receive two welfare checks in April due to legislative action last week, according to Lancaster County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert.

Trabert said that his office is starting to modify the cases which will receive added funds due to the Legislature's passage of LB639 and LB639-A to comply with federal requirements.

Trabert said that the April checks which are going out this week will not include the added allotment — which is based on unmet need — but that this amount will be included in a supplementary payroll later in the month.

He said that the May ADC checks will reflect the cahnges in the regular monthly check.

He said he had no idea how many Lancaster County families will be benefitted by the upgraded program but said it will affect all those having an unmet need, which would be rather general for the unemployed ADC mothers.

The new maximum payment is $124, up from $110. Trabert said, noting that there will be many who will still have an unmet need after the increases.

Revised budgeting standards show the maximum for shelter and housing is now $107.71 as compared with the previous amount of $100.

Shown below are figures for total utilities and personal re-

Gov. Exon Seeks Action On Aerospace Museum

By The Associated Press
Gov. J. J. Exon has prodded the State Game Commission to move forward with the Strategic Aerospace Museum near Omaha.

He said there has been "an almost unbelievable lack of communication and cooperation" between Game Commission Director Willard Barbee and members of the Game Commission with civic interest in Omaha and Bellevue.

Barbee said his agency up to now has lacked legislative authority to spend money on the project.

C St. Closed

The city traffic engineer's office announced Monday that C St. at the west side of 14th is closed for a week for installation of a telephone duct.

Fifteen months ago Gov. Norbert Tiemann accepted for the state a 41.63 acre tract at the north edge of Offutt Air Force Base and a collection of military aircraft, missiles and artifacts.

Tiemann gave the Game Commission the responsibility to operate, maintain and develop the museum.

The 1969 Legislature appropriated $260,000 for a building but a requested appropriation for the operation of the air museum was not approved, Barbee said.

Gov. Exon complained that about all the Commission has done is to have an architect work on the design of a building for the museum. He complained also that the 3,000 square feet of display space being planned is not nearly enough.

Barbee said the building design involves only a central core, on which wings would be added later. "How much building do you think $260,000 can buy?" he asked.

Exon said the museum needs a much larger building which would cost between $9 and $11 a square foot. "as opposed to the $40 a square foot in the existing plan."

Douglas Says Fall Probably Caused Death Of G. Phillips

Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas said Monday that his office has practically ruled out homicide in the Friday death of George Phillips but indicated some investigation is continuing.

NU Law Official Endorses Switch With ETV People

Robert Berkshire, president of the University of Nebraska College of Law Alumni, has endorsed the conversion of the ETV building on the East Campus into a new law school building.

Berkshire, an Omaha attorney, said he backed Sen. Terry Carpenter's proposal that the ETV building be used for a law school and the present law school building on the main campus be assigned to the ETV department.

Berkshire said "Five out of every six applicants for admission to the NU College of Law are being denied admittance and many of those not admitted have good academic records. This limitation is primarily the result of a lack of adequate physical facilities."

Douglas said that the autopsy showed that Mr. Phillips died as a result of a blow to the head which was "probably caused from a fall."

Contrary to earlier reports, Douglas said that Mr. Phillips was not "badly beaten" but that the autopsy did show internal hemorrhaging which could have been caused by the fall.

Douglas said the pathologist estimated that Mr. Phillips had died 10 hours before the autopsy was performed and could have lived from four to six hours after the blow on the head occurred.

Mr. Phillips was found dead in bed at his home last Friday afternoon.

Beatrice Okays Annexation Plan

By Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice — "The city of Beatrice not only been kind but slow. All this should have been taken in years ago."

Mayor Bob Sargent, pushing several weeks for the annexation of some 15 businesses, along U.S. 77 saw his battle won Monday night.

Passed on final reading by a 5-3 city council vote was an ordinance annexing an estimated $1,500,000 in business property and the municipal airport. The strip extends approximately one and a half miles north of the present city limit.

Opposed at each legislative step, the measure brought a threat of litigation prior to the showdown vote. Attorney Lawrence Sandberg of Lincoln claimed the area is not adjacent to the city and could not legally be annexed. His further contention that the ordinance is "honestly a revenue measure" brought an acknowledgment from Sargent that this was one factor at issue. The mayor estimated the area's valuation at about 5% of the city's present total.

Objections that inclusion of the airport would cut into hangar revenue were also refuted by Sargent. Individual plane owners and the city airport authority had opposed the action.

Voting to annex were Councilmen William Jenks, Rod Moore, Harry Milke, Dr. S. H. Shick and Harley Kollekowski. Against were Larry Probst, Matt Hale and Ray Smith.

On other annexation matters, the council approved seven other actions on final reading which involved small tracts. One was rejected which would have taken in the former county fair grounds.

The council also:
—Referred to Board of Public Works nine bids on Paving Districts 238, 239, 245 and 246. Estate Construction Co. of Beatrice had apparent low of $132,239, well below the engineer's estimate of $168,850.
—Authorized construction of a Junior high school addition and three foot encroachment on High Street between Fifth and Sixth Street.
—Approved retail on-off sale beer license for May L. Leath at 713 East Court.
—Suspended rules and passed ordinance creating Paving Districts 247.
—Briefly discussed possibility of redistricting the city's voting wards.
—Authorized board of Public Works to prepare ordinance providing for alley improvement districts.
—Set April 19 for equalizing assessments on Paving Districts 235, 237 and 241.
—Accepted resignation from city library board of William Risp.

Prof. Rudolph To Head NU Search Committee

University of Nebraska Law Prof. Wallace Rudolph Monday was chosen chairman of the committee which will seek a successor to Joseph Soshnik as president of the Lincoln campus and outstate activities.

Soshnik has announced his resignation, saying he hopes to be able to complete his duties here sometime this summer.

A sixth faculty member was added to the committee Monday, according to Executive Vice Chancellor Merk Hobson, who represents the chancellor's staff on the panel.

Hobson said the new member is Associate Dean Hazel Anthony of the College of Home Economics. She joins five other faculty members on the 13-member committee.

A third student member is yet to be chosen, since one of the three students named by the student senate was ruled ineligible to serve.

He is John K. Hansen, who was ruled ineligible because he is not carrying a full time student load. Student affairs rules specify that parttime students may not participate in extracurricular activities.

The committee also includes representation from the council of deans and the council of directors, the student affairs staff and ex-officio representation from the two campuses in Omaha.

Some Lancaster County Families To Receive 2 ADC Checks In April

Some Lancaster County Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) families will receive two welfare checks in April due to legislative action last week, according to Lancaster County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert.

Trabert said that his office is starting to modify the cases which will receive added funds due to the Legislature's passage of LB639 and LB639-A to comply with federal requirements.

Trabert said that the April checks which are going out this week will not include the added allotment — which is based on unmet need — but that this amount will be included in a supplementary payroll later in the month.

He said that the May ADC checks will reflect the changes in the regular monthly check.

He said he had no idea how many Lancaster County families will be benefitted by the upgraded program but said it will affect all those having an unmet need, which would be rather general for the unemployed ADC mothers.

The new maximum payment is $124, up from $110. Trabert said, noting that there will be many who will still have an unmet need after the increases.

Revised budgeting standards show the maximum for shelter and housing is now $107.71 as compared with the previous amount of $100.

Shown below are figures for total utilities and personal re-

Family Size	Prev. Amt.	New Amt.

Buying K St. Plant Said 'Necessary Evil'

2-Year-Old Girl Listed As 'Fair' With Leg Burns

Tuesday, April 6, 1971 The Lincoln Star 13

By TOM EKVAL
Star Staff Writer

Purchase of the K St. plant by the city is a "necessary evil" to continue steam heat service to the downtown area, the City Council was told Monday.

Norman Krivosha, legal counsel to the Lincoln Electric System Administration Board and former city attorney, said the city "has a moral obligation" to continue the steam heat service.

The Nebraska Public Power District, which presently owns the plant and generates the steam heat for the city, has announced plans to discontinue the steam heat service next year.

Downtown Said Reason

Speaking to the council in a pre-council session, Krivosha said the administrative board would never have recommended the purchase of the plant had not the downtown been supplied with its steam heat from the plant.

"Nor should the city have gotten into the steam heat business," he said.

Plans are underway, council members were told, to phase out the steam heat system with stores possibly to be offered an electrically operated boiler instead.

Krivosha said that the city, by having the K St. plant, would get reserve power credit.

Self-Supporting Basis

Cost of the steam heat service will be borne by the steam heat users on a self-supporting basis, said Dale Renner, special assistant to the board, at the public hearing on the purchase.

Renner said further rate increases are planned.

Questions were also directed to Renner why the downtown users were not told three years ago they would have to convert by 1972 so that the city would not be in the position of having to continue the service.

Renner replied there was some question then whether the conversion could be done in time as well as how to tell them about any plans to discontinue service.

He also said that the closing of the A St. power plant will have no effect on a shortage of water during a power blackout.

Mrs. Boosalis had raised the question referring to talk during the City Council race from one candidate who had questioned whether water could be pumped during a blackout.

Elevated Reservoirs

Renner said that power could be supplied from the downtown facilities to the A St. water pumping facilities, adding that elevated water reservoirs have been built which would retain sufficient pressure to pump water despite a power blackout.

The council also approved the issuance of a $4.75 million electric system bond issue and set April 8 as the date of a special meeting for the purpose of awarding the sale of the bonds.

In other action, the council.

and countermanded as is provided in the first paragraph of Section 5 of Ordinance No. 8896. The coupons to be attached to the Series of 1971 Bonds shall also be executed as is provided in the first paragraph.

The Series of 1971 Bonds, the interest coupons to be attached thereto and the form for registration in the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts, of the State of Nebraska and the Finance Department of the City of Lincoln, shall be in substantially the forms set forth in Section 5 of Ordinance No. 8896, with such necessary or appropriate variations and omissions from and insertions in the forms set forth in Section 5 of Ordinance No. 8896 as are incidental to the Series of 1971 Bonds, their series, designation, date, numbers, denomination, aggregate principal amount, maturities, interest rate or rates, interest payment dates and redemption provisions.

SECTION 5. CREDITS TO CERTAIN ACCOUNTS IN THE ELECTRIC REVENUE FUND. In addition to the payments and credits required by Ordinance No. 8896 to be made from the moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund to the Bond and Interest Account for credit to the Interest Account and Serial Bond Principal Account therein and to the Reserve Account, there shall also be paid and credited from the moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund the following amounts at the following times:

(a) Commencing with the first business day of the month following the month in which the Series of 1971 Bonds are delivered, and on the first business day of each and every month thereafter, so long as any Series of 1971 Bonds are outstanding, there shall be credited from moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund to the Bond and Interest Account for credit to the Interest Account therein, an amount such that, if the same amount were so paid and credited to that sub-account on the first business day of each succeeding calendar month thereafter and prior to the next date upon which an installment of interest falls due on the Series of 1971 Bonds, the aggregate of the amounts so paid and credited to said Interest Account will on each interest payment date be equal to the installment of interest falling due on such date on the Series of 1971 Bonds, so as to provide for the payment of the interest on said Bonds.

(b) Commencing with the first business day of the month following the month in which the Series of 1971 Bonds are delivered and paid for, and on the first business day of each and every month thereafter so long as any Series of 1971 Bonds are outstanding, there shall be credited from moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund to the Bond and Interest Account for credit to the Serial Bond principal Account therein, an amount such that, if the same amount were so credited to that sub-account on the first business day of each succeeding month thereafter and prior to the next date on which any of the Series of 1971 Bonds mature, the aggregate of the amounts so credited to that sub-account will on the next maturity date be equal to the principal of the Series of 1971 Bonds becoming due on such date.

(c) On the day following the date of delivery of and payment for the Series of 1971 Bonds, after the credits required by Ordinance No. 8896 under this ordinance (if any) to be made in the month in which such delivery and payment have been made to the Operating and Maintenance Account, and the Bond and Interest Account, there shall be credited from the moneys in the Surplus Account, or from any other moneys lawfully available therefor, or any combination thereof, to the Reserve Account an amount such that the aggregate amount then on credit to the Reserve Account will equal the maximum aggregate debt service requirement for any future fiscal year thereafter for all Outstanding Bonds then outstanding and the Series of 1971 Bonds.

Council Okays Skinner For Civil Defense Post

The City Council Monday approved the appointment of Jasper Skinner as Civil Defense director.

The unanimous vote came with little discussion, a situation completely opposite the controversy over the first appointment by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf of John Tunberg, who was turned down.

The Lancaster County Board must also approve the appointment to the $6,000 parttime post. Two of the three commissioners, Kenneth Bourne and William Grossman, have indicated their approval of Skinner for the job.

Skinner, a 24-year Air Force veteran and presently an insurance agent, would replace Richard Vestecka, who resigned.

City Council members Monday were in receipt of a letter from County Commissioner Robert Collin in which he questioned whether federal aid would be received for a part time civil defense director.

City Atty. Dick Wood told the council that federal aid would be received, according to a conversation with Vestecka.

The council then acted on the appointment.

Both Krivosha and Renner said they doubted NPPD would be willing to extend its providing of steam heat until the users could switch to another means for heating.

Extension Suggested

Councilwoman Helen Boosalis had questioned whether an extension would be accomplished rather than the city's paying out $650,000 for something it does not want.

The city would also agree to provide NPPD with 18 megawatts of power through 1980.

Both Krivosha and Renner said they doubted NPPD would be willing to extend its providing of steam heat until the users could switch to another means for heating.

(c) On the day following the date of delivery of and payment for the Series of 1971 Bonds, after the credits required by Ordinance No. 8896 under this ordinance (if any) to be made in the month in which such delivery and payment have been made to the Operating and Maintenance Account, and the Bond and Interest Account, there shall be credited from the moneys in the Surplus Account, or from any other moneys lawfully available therefor, or any combination thereof, to the Reserve Account an amount such that the aggregate amount then on credit to the Reserve Account will equal the maximum aggregate debt service requirement for any future fiscal year thereafter for all Outstanding Bonds then outstanding and the Series of 1971 Bonds.

SECTION 6. APPLICABILITY OF PROVISIONS OF ORDINANCE NO. 8896 TO SERIES OF 1971 BONDS. The Series of 1971 Bonds, together with the interest thereon, shall be payable, on a par with the Outstanding Bonds and equally and ratably secured therewith, solely from the revenues derived from the electric system of the City, and shall not in any event be a debt of said City within the meaning of any constitutional, statutory or charter limitation upon the creation of general obligation indebtedness of the City. The Series of 1971 Bonds are hereby determined to be "Additional Bonds" issued pursuant to Section 13 of Ordinance No. 8896 within the meaning of such words as defined and used in said ordinance, and all of the provisions of Ordinance No. 8896, applicable to Additional Bonds issued pursuant to Section 13 thereof, shall be applicable to the Series of 1971 Bonds and are made a part hereof for the benefit and security of the holders from time to time of the Series of 1971 Bonds as though fully set forth herein, including without limiting the generality of the foregoing, all provisions of Ordinance No. 8896 relating to the establishment, maintenance, revision and collection of charges and rates for the use and services of the electric system; the pledge, collection, deposit and application of the revenues of the electric system and the maintenance of all the special funds and accounts created by Ordinance No. 8896; the maintenance and operation of the electric system; insurance; books and accounts and credits; the investment of moneys; the terms and conditions upon which further Additional Bonds may be issued payable as to principal, premium and interest on a par with the Outstanding Bonds and the Series of 1971 Bonds; limitations on amending Ordinance No. 8896; the terms and conditions upon which the City's obligations under Ordinance No. 8896 and the liens, pledges, dedications, covenants and agreements of the City therein made or provided for may be fully discharged and satisfied as to the Outstanding Bonds and the Series of 1971 Bonds and all other covenants, terms and conditions contained in Ordinance No. 8896 for the benefit and security of "Additional Bonds" issued pursuant to Section 13 of said Ordinance, as said words are defined and used therein.

No Senate Voice Raised Against Bill To Hike Trade With Red Bloc

Washington (AP) — Without a voice raised against it, the Senate approved Monday legislation designed to increase U.S. trade with Communist East Europe.

The key provision was included in a bill passed 66 to 1 which would expand the authority of the Export-Import Bank.

Under the section, American businessmen could seek the facilities of the bank to finance deals made with Soviet-bloc East European countries.

Hard Sledding Seen

Only a few years ago, such a provision could have been expected to arouse sharp debate in the Senate. It still may face hard sledding in the House.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., chief sponsor of the East-

West trade rider, told his colleagues the present restriction on such exchanges denies no products to Communist nations.

They obtain all of the items they need from industrial nations in West Europe or elsewhere in the world and U.S. firms simply lose the right to bid on the business, he contended.

The rider would remove the absolute ban on Export-Import Bank financing for U.S. export sales to Eastern Europe — a prohibition which originated in the House several years ago.

Such sales would be permitted if they were approved by the president and licensed by the Commerce Department.

Bank president Henry Kearns told the Senate Banking Committee he would follow the directives of Congress on the matter.

But Nixon administration officials testified against lifting the ban at this time.

However, many businessmen, including representatives of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, testified for the Mondale provision. Support was especially strong from grain producers and electronics firms, some of which have been caught in a recession.

The bill would raise the total loan, guarantee and insurance authority of the Export-Import Bank from $13.5 to $20 billion. The present authority has almost been used up.

It also would extend the life of the bank from June 30, 1973, to June 30, 1976.

ORDINANCE NO. 10134

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING AND PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE AND SALE OF FOUR MILLION SEVEN HUNDRED FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS $4,750,000 ELECTRIC SYSTEM REVENUE BONDS OF THE CITY OF LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, FOR THE PURPOSE OF PAYING ALL OR PART OF THE COSTS OF ACQUISITIONS, IMPROVEMENTS, EXTENSIONS, EQUIPPINGS AND FURNISHINGS TO THE EXISTING ELECTRIC SYSTEM OF SAID CITY; PRESCRIBING THE DETAILS OF SAID BONDS; LIMITING PAYMENT OF SAID BONDS SOLELY TO THE REVENUES TO BE DERIVED FROM THE OPERATION OF SAID ELECTRIC SYSTEM; PROVIDING FOR CERTAIN CREDITS TO ACCOUNTS IN THE ELECTRIC REVENUE FUND; AND MAKING APPLICABLE TO SAID BONDS ALL THE TERMS, PROVISIONS, COVENANTS AND CONDITIONS APPLICABLE TO ADDITIONAL BONDS ISSUED PURSUANT TO SECTION 13 OF ORDINANCE NO. 8896 OF THE CITY OF LINCOLN, NEBRASKA.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF LINCOLN, NEBRASKA:

SECTION 1. FINDINGS AND DETERMINATIONS. The Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, hereby finds and determines:

The City of Lincoln now owns and operates and has owned and operated for many years the electric system consisting of plants and properties owned, operated, leased, or controlled by the City of Lincoln for the manufacture and distribution of electricity for the purpose of supplying the City of Lincoln and adjacent territory and the inhabitants thereof with electric service. In order to meet the growing demands on said electric system it is necessary that certain acquisitions, improvements, extensions, equipments and furnishings of said electric system be undertaken, the cost of which additions, improvements, extensions, equipments and furnishings (including the cost and expenses of the issuance of the bonds hereinafter authorized) is not less than $4,750,000. It is desirable and necessary that the City issue revenue bonds payable from the revenues of said electric system in order to pay all or part of such costs.

SECTION 2. DEFINITIONS. Unless the context shall clearly indicate some other meaning, all words and terms used in this ordinance which are defined in Ordinance No. 8896 of the City of Lincoln enacted January 3, 1966, shall, for all purposes of this ordinance, have the respective meanings given to them in said Ordinance No. 8896.

Unless the context shall clearly indicate some other meaning, the following terms shall for all purposes of Ordinance No. 8896 and of any ordinance amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto (including for all purposes of this ordinance) and for all purposes of any opinion or instrument or other document therein or herein mentioned, have the following meanings, with the following definitions to be equally applicable to both the singular and plural forms of such terms and vice versa:

(a) "Series of 1971 Bonds" shall mean the $4,750,000 principal amount "Electric System Revenue Bonds, Series of 1971" authorized to be issued pursuant to Section 3 of this ordinance at any time outstanding.

(b) "Ordinance No. 8896" shall mean the ordinance of that number enacted by the Council of the City of Lincoln on January 3, 1966, authorizing and providing for the issuance of Electric System Revenue Bonds and, among other things, providing for limitations and conditions under which Additional Bonds may be issued thereunder.

(c) "Outstanding Bonds" shall mean all Electric System Revenue Bonds at any time outstanding issued pursuant to Ordinance No. 8896 prior to the adoption hereof.

Except for the Electric System Construction Fund created in Section 7 of this ordinance, all references herein to funds, accounts and sub accounts are to the funds, accounts and sub accounts bearing the respective designation created or established by Ordinance No. 8896.

SECTION 3. AUTHORIZATION, DETAILS, REDEMPTION AND SALE OF SERIES OF 1971 BONDS. Pursuant to the authority of the Constitution and laws of the State of Nebraska and the Charter of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, and particularly Sections 15-244 and 18-412, Reissue Revised Statutes of 1943 of Nebraska, as amended, and Section 44 of Article IX of said Charter, for the purpose of providing funds to pay all or part of the costs of acquisitions, improvements, extensions, equipments and furnishings to the existing electric system of the City of Lincoln (a revenue producing facility of the City of Lincoln), there hereby are authorized to be issued revenue bonds of the City of Lincoln in the principal amount of Four Million Seven Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($4,750,000), which bonds shall be designated "Electric System Revenue Bonds, Series of 1971" (hereinafter defined and hereinafter referred to as the "Series of 1971 Bonds"). The Series of 1971 Bonds shall be dated May 1, 1971, shall be of the denomination of $5,000 each, shall be numbered from 1 to 950, inclusive, in order of maturity, shall bear interest payable November 1, 1971 and semi-annually each May 1 and November 1 thereafter at such rate or rates per annum as shall be fixed by this Council by resolution at the time of sale of said bonds, and shall mature serially in numerical order on May 1 in each of the years and in the principal amounts as follows:

(1) In anticipation of the issuance of the Series of 1971 Bonds and the receipt of the proceeds thereof, the City Council by resolution has authorized payment from the Surplus Account, for certain of the equipments and furnishings to be financed from said Bonds, which resolution requires the Surplus Account to be reimbursed from such proceeds for such payments. An amount of the proceeds of the Series of 1971 Bonds equal to the amount paid to the date of delivery of said Bonds from the Surplus Account pursuant to said resolution shall be deposited in the Electric Revenue Fund to the credit of the Surplus Account as reimbursement for such payments.

(2) The balance in the Electric System Construction Fund, after the reimbursement required by (1) above has been made, shall be used and applied to the payment of the costs of those acquisitions, improvements, extensions, furnishings and equipping to the electric system to be financed from the proceeds of the Series of 1971 Bonds (including without limitation, legal, financial and engineering costs and the costs and expenses of issuing the Series of 1971 Bonds).

Pending their application to such purposes, the moneys on deposit in the Electric System Construction Fund shall be subject to the lien and pledge of Ordinance No. 8896 and of this ordinance, and shall be held for the benefit of the City for the purposes therein and herein provided, and for the benefit of the holder or holders of the Outstanding Bonds, and the Series of 1971 Bonds and any other Additional Bonds, as their interest may appear. Withdrawals from the Electric System Construction Fund shall be made in the manner withdrawals from other funds of the City are made.

In the event that the moneys on deposit in the Electric System Construction Fund are insufficient to pay all the foregoing costs referred to in paragraph (2) above, the Finance Director may pay over moneys on deposit in the Electric Revenue Fund on credit to the Surplus Account to the Electric System Construction Fund, to the extent of any such insufficiency. If after the payment in full of all the foregoing costs, or after adequate provision has been made for such payment, any moneys remain in the Electric System Construction Fund, such excess shall be transferred to the Electric Revenue Fund for credit to the Surplus Account, to be used and applied as are other moneys credited to that account, and the Electric System Construction Fund may be closed. Pending their application as provided in this Section, moneys on deposit in the Electric System Construction Fund may be invested in direct general obligations of, or obligations the payment of the principal and interest of which is unconditionally guaranteed by, the United States of America maturing in such amounts and at such times so that the payments to be made from such fund may be made.

SECTION 8. EFFECT OF INVALIDITY OF ANY PART OF THIS ORDINANCE. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 9. REPEAL OF CONFLICTING PROVISIONS OF ORDINANCES. Except Ordinance No. 8896, all ordinances, resolutions or orders, or parts thereof, in conflict or inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance are, to the extent of such conflict or inconsistency, hereby repealed.

SECTION 10. HEADINGS OF SECTIONS NOT CONTROLLING. The headings of sections of this ordinance are set forth herein for convenience of reference only and shall not affect the construction or interpretation of this ordinance or of any section hereof.

SECTION 11. PUBLICATION AND EFFECTIVENESS OF THIS ORDINANCE. This ordinance after its passage shall be published once in The Lincoln Star, a newspaper published and having a general circulation in the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, and shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage as provided by law.

Man Hospitalized In Cycle Mishap

A Lincoln man was being held for observation at Lincoln General Hospital following a motorcycle accident on A St. between 28th and Park Ave. late Monday afternoon, according to police officer Duane Bullock.

Bullock said John Butler, 27, of 1000 So. 35th suffered a broken rib, scrapes and possible internal injuries when the motorcycle he was riding was in collision with a car driven by William Pedersen, 43, of 3917 Dunn.

Police said that when the two vehicles collided Butler flew over the car and into a guard rail on the south side of the street.

Butler was eastbound on A and Pedersen was westbound on A turning left into a driveway at the time of the accident.

Student, 20, Dies; Apparently Shot Himself In Head

A 20-year-old University of Nebraska student from Norfolk died Monday night from an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound to his head, according to the sheriff's department.

Deputy Sheriff Wesley Alm said Daniel Miller, of 1404 No. 24th, was found laying dead in his room after friends in the house heard a gunshot blast moments after he told them he was going to kill himself.

There was a note found at the scene but no reason for the suicide could be determined from it. Alm said that the youth had taken a large quantity of tranquilizers a short time before he shot himself.

The Series of 1971 Bonds, the interest coupons to be attached thereto and the form for registration in the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts, of the State of Nebraska and the Finance Department of the City of Lincoln, shall be in substantially the forms set forth in Section 5 of Ordinance No. 8896, with such necessary or appropriate variations and omissions from and insertions in the forms set forth in Section 5 of Ordinance No. 8896 as are incidental to the Series of 1971 Bonds, their series, designation, date, numbers, denomination, aggregate principal amount, maturities, interest rate or rates, interest payment dates and redemption provisions.

SECTION 5. CREDITS TO CERTAIN ACCOUNTS IN THE ELECTRIC REVENUE FUND. In addition to the payments and credits required by Ordinance No. 8896 to be made from the moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund to the Bond and Interest Account for credit to the Interest Account and Serial Bond Principal Account therein and to the Reserve Account, there shall also be paid and credited from the moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund the following amounts at the following times:

(a) Commencing with the first business day of the month following the month in which the Series of 1971 Bonds are delivered, and on the first business day of each and every month thereafter, so long as any Series of 1971 Bonds are outstanding, there shall be credited from moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund to the Bond and Interest Account for credit to the Interest Account therein, an amount such that, if the same amount were so paid and credited to that sub-account on the first business day of each succeeding calendar month thereafter and prior to the next date upon which an installment of interest falls due on the Series of 1971 Bonds, the aggregate of the amounts so paid and credited to said Interest Account will on each interest payment date be equal to the installment of interest falling due on such date on the Series of 1971 Bonds, so as to provide for the payment of the interest on said Bonds.

(b) Commencing with the first business day of the month following the month in which the Series of 1971 Bonds are delivered and paid for, and on the first business day of each and every month thereafter so long as any Series of 1971 Bonds are outstanding, there shall be credited from moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund to the Bond and Interest Account for credit to the Serial Bond principal Account therein, an amount such that, if the same amount were so credited to that sub-account on the first business day of each succeeding month thereafter and prior to the next date on which any of the Series of 1971 Bonds mature, the aggregate of the amounts so credited to that sub-account will on the next maturity date be equal to the principal of the Series of 1971 Bonds becoming due on such date.

(c) On the day following the date of delivery of and payment for the Series of 1971 Bonds, after the credits required by Ordinance No. 8896 under this ordinance (if any) to be made in the month in which such delivery and payment have been made to the Operating and Maintenance Account, and the Bond and Interest Account, there shall be credited from the moneys in the Surplus Account, or from any other moneys lawfully available therefor, or any combination thereof, to the Reserve Account an amount such that the aggregate amount then on credit to the Reserve Account will equal the maximum aggregate debt service requirement for any future fiscal year thereafter for all Outstanding Bonds then outstanding and the Series of 1971 Bonds.

SECTION 6. APPLICABILITY OF PROVISIONS OF ORDINANCE NO. 8896 TO SERIES OF 1971 BONDS. The Series of 1971 Bonds, together with the interest thereon, shall be payable, on a par with the Outstanding Bonds and equally and ratably secured therewith, solely from the revenues derived from the electric system of the City, and shall not in any event be a debt of said City within the meaning of any constitutional, statutory or charter limitation upon the creation of general obligation indebtedness of the City. The Series of 1971 Bonds are hereby determined to be "Additional Bonds" issued pursuant to Section 13 of Ordinance No. 8896 within the meaning of such words as defined and used in said ordinance, and all of the provisions of Ordinance No. 8896, applicable to Additional Bonds issued pursuant to Section 13 thereof, shall be applicable to the Series of 1971 Bonds and are made a part hereof for the benefit and security of the holders from time to time of the Series of 1971 Bonds as though fully set forth herein, including without limiting the generality of the foregoing, all provisions of Ordinance No. 8896 relating to the establishment, maintenance, revision and collection of charges and rates for the use and services of the electric system; the pledge, collection, deposit and application of the revenues of the electric system and the maintenance of all the special funds and accounts created by Ordinance No. 8896; the maintenance and operation of the electric system; insurance; books and accounts and credits; the investment of moneys; the terms and conditions upon which further Additional Bonds may be issued payable as to principal, premium and interest on a par with the Outstanding Bonds and the Series of 1971 Bonds; limitations on amending Ordinance No. 8896; the terms and conditions upon which the City's obligations under Ordinance No. 8896 and the liens, pledges, dedications, covenants and agreements of the City therein made or provided for may be fully discharged and satisfied as to the Outstanding Bonds and the Series of 1971 Bonds and all other covenants, terms and conditions contained in Ordinance No. 8896 for the benefit and security of "Additional Bonds" issued pursuant to Section 13 of said Ordinance, as said words are defined and used therein.

So long as any of the Series of 1971 Bonds are outstanding, this ordinance and Ordinance No. 8896 shall constitute a contract of the City with every holder from time to time of the Series of 1971 Bonds and the coupons pertaining thereto, enforceable as provided in Section 16 of Ordinance No. 8896.

SECTION 7. APPLICATION OF SERIES OF 1971 BOND PROCEEDS; ELECTRIC SYSTEM CONSTRUCTION FUND. There is hereby created and established with the City Treasurer a fund to be known as the "Electric System Construction Fund." The proceeds of the sale of the Series of 1971 Bonds, including the interest accrued on said Bonds from their date to the date of delivery of and payment therefor, shall be received by the Finance Director, who shall deposit an amount equal to such accrued interest in the Electric Revenue Fund and credit the same to the Bond and Interest Account for credit to the Interest Account therein. The remainder of such proceeds shall be deposited in the Electric System Construction Fund, and shall be used and applied as follows:

(1) In anticipation of the issuance of the Series of 1971 Bonds and the receipt of the proceeds thereof, the City Council by resolution has authorized payment from the Surplus Account, for certain of the equipments and furnishings to be financed from said Bonds, which resolution requires the Surplus Account to be reimbursed from such proceeds for such payments. An amount of the proceeds of the Series of 1971 Bonds equal to the amount paid to the date of delivery of said Bonds from the Surplus Account pursuant to said resolution shall be deposited in the Electric Revenue Fund to the credit of the Surplus Account as reimbursement for such payments.

(2) The balance in the Electric System Construction Fund, after the reimbursement required by (1) above has been made, shall be used and applied to the payment of the costs of those acquisitions, improvements, extensions, furnishings and equipping to the electric system to be financed from the proceeds of the Series of 1971 Bonds (including without limitation, legal, financial and engineering costs and the costs and expenses of issuing the Series of 1971 Bonds).

Pending their application to such purposes, the moneys on deposit in the Electric System Construction Fund shall be subject to the lien and pledge of Ordinance No. 8896 and of this ordinance, and shall be held for the benefit of the City for the purposes therein and herein provided, and for the benefit of the holder or holders of the Outstanding Bonds, and the Series of 1971 Bonds and any other Additional Bonds, as their interest may appear. Withdrawals from the Electric System Construction Fund shall be made in the manner withdrawals from other funds of the City are made.

In the event that the moneys on deposit in the Electric System Construction Fund are insufficient to pay all the foregoing costs referred to in paragraph (2) above, the Finance Director may pay over moneys on deposit in the Electric Revenue Fund on credit to the Surplus Account to the Electric System Construction Fund, to the extent of any such insufficiency. If after the payment in full of all the foregoing costs, or after adequate provision has been made for such payment, any moneys remain in the Electric System Construction Fund, such excess shall be transferred to the Electric Revenue Fund for credit to the Surplus Account, to be used and applied as are other moneys credited to that account, and the Electric System Construction Fund may be closed. Pending their application as provided in this Section, moneys on deposit in the Electric System Construction Fund may be invested in direct general obligations of, or obligations the payment of the principal and interest of which is unconditionally guaranteed by, the United States of America maturing in such amounts and at such times so that the payments to be made from such fund may be made.

SECTION 8. EFFECT OF INVALIDITY OF ANY PART OF THIS ORDINANCE. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 9. REPEAL OF CONFLICTING PROVISIONS OF ORDINANCES. Except Ordinance No. 8896, all ordinances, resolutions or orders, or parts thereof, in conflict or inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance are, to the extent of such conflict or inconsistency, hereby repealed.

SECTION 10. HEADINGS OF SECTIONS NOT CONTROLLING. The headings of sections of this ordinance are set forth herein for convenience of reference only and shall not affect the construction or interpretation of this ordinance or of any section hereof.

SECTION 11. PUBLICATION AND EFFECTIVENESS OF THIS ORDINANCE. This ordinance after its passage shall be published once in The Lincoln Star, a newspaper published and having a general circulation in the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, and shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage as provided by law.

Buying K St. Plant Said 'Necessary Evil'

By TOM EKVAL
Star Staff Writer

Purchase of the K St. plant by the city is a "necessary evil" to continue steam heat service to the downtown area, the City Council was told Monday.

Norman Krivosha, legal counsel to the Lincoln Electric System Administration Board and former city attorney, said the city "has a moral obligation" to continue the steam heat service.

The Nebraska Public Power District, which presently owns the plant and generates the steam heat for the city, has announced plans to discontinue the steam heat service next year.

Downtown Said Reason

Speaking to the council in a pre-council session, Krivosha said the administrative board would never have recommended the purchase of the plant had not the downtown been supplied with its steam heat from the plant.

"Nor should the city have gotten into the steam heat business," he said.

Plans are underway, council members were told, to phase out the steam heat system with stores possibly to be offered an electrically operated boiler instead.

Krivosha said that the city, by having the K St. plant, would get reserve power credit.

Self-Supporting Basis

Cost of the steam heat service will be borne by the steam heat users on a self-supporting basis, said Dale Renner, special assistant to the board, at the public hearing on the purchase.

Renner said further rate increases are planned.

Questions were also directed to Renner why the downtown users were not told three years ago they would have to convert by 1972 so that the city would not be in the position of having to continue the service.

Renner replied there was some question then whether the conversion could be done in time as well as how to tell them about any plans to discontinue service.

He also said that the closing of the A St. power plant will have no effect on a shortage of water during a power blackout.

Mrs. Boosalis had raised the question referring to talk during the City Council race from one candidate who had questioned whether water could be pumped during a blackout.

Elevated Reservoirs

Renner said that power could be supplied from the downtown facilities to the A St. water pumping facilities, adding that elevated water reservoirs have been built which would retain sufficient pressure to pump water despite a power blackout.

The council also approved the issuance of a $4.75 million electric system bond issue and set April 8 as the date of a special meeting for the purpose of awarding the sale of the bonds.

2-Year-Old Girl Listed As 'Fair' With Leg Burns

Two-year-old Michelle Burrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sheldon of 4540 Baldwin, was listed in "fair" condition and "responding very well to treatment" Monday night at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha where she is recovering from burns received in a fire Sunday night, according to a hospital spokesman.

Michelle received second and third-degree burns over a large portion of her legs when one of the children she had been playing with in a garage at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Friede of 6500 Platte, tried to light a pop bottle containing gasoline and it exploded.

The girl was taken to the University Center after first being treated at St. Elizabeth Health Center.

Pursuant to L.B. 726, Sec. 84-1402, Neb. Rev. Stat. (Supp. 1967), the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission will hold a public meeting on Thursday, April 6, 1971 at 9:30 A.M. in the State Commission Conference Room, Third Floor, State Capitol Building.

ORDINANCE NO. 10134

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING AND PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE AND SALE OF FOUR MILLION SEVEN HUNDRED FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS $4,750,000 ELECTRIC SYSTEM REVENUE BONDS OF THE CITY OF LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, FOR THE PURPOSE OF PAYING ALL OR PART OF THE COSTS OF ACQUISITIONS, IMPROVEMENTS, EXTENSIONS, EQUIPPINGS AND FURNISHINGS TO THE EXISTING ELECTRIC SYSTEM OF SAID CITY; PRESCRIBING THE DETAILS OF SAID BONDS; LIMITING PAYMENT OF SAID BONDS SOLELY TO THE REVENUES TO BE DERIVED FROM THE OPERATION OF SAID ELECTRIC SYSTEM; PROVIDING FOR CERTAIN CREDITS TO ACCOUNTS IN THE ELECTRIC REVENUE FUND; AND MAKING APPLICABLE TO SAID BONDS ALL THE TERMS, PROVISIONS, COVENANTS AND CONDITIONS APPLICABLE TO ADDITIONAL BONDS ISSUED PURSUANT TO SECTION 13 OF ORDINANCE NO. 8896 OF THE CITY OF LINCOLN.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF LINCOLN, NEBRASKA:

SECTION 1. FINDINGS AND DETERMINATIONS. The Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, hereby finds and determines:

The City of Lincoln now owns and operates, and has owned and operated for many years last past, an electric system consisting of plants and properties for the manufacture and distribution of electricity for the purpose of supplying the City of Lincoln and adjacent territory and the inhabitants thereof with electric service. In order to meet the growing demands on said electric system it is necessary that certain acquisitions, improvements, extensions, equippings and furnishings of said electric system be undertaken, the cost of which additions, improvements, extensions, equippings and furnishings (including the cost and expenses of the issuance of the bonds hereinafter authorized) is not less than $4,750,000. It is desirable and necessary that the City issue revenue bonds payable from the revenues of said electric system in order to pay all or part of such cost.

SECTION 2. DEFINITIONS. Unless the context shall clearly indicate some other meaning, all words and terms used in this ordinance which are defined in Ordinance No. 8896 of the City of Lincoln enacted January 3, 1966, shall, for all purposes of this ordinance, have the respective meanings given to them in said Ordinance No. 8896.

Unless the context shall clearly indicate some other meaning, the following terms shall for all purposes of Ordinance No. 8896 and of any ordinance amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto (including for all purposes of this ordinance) and for all purposes of any opinion or instrument or other document therein or herein mentioned, have the following meanings, with the following definitions to be equally applicable to both the singular and plural forms of such terms and vice versa:

(a) "Series of 1971 Bonds" shall mean the $4,750,000 principal amount "Electric System Revenue Bonds, Series of 1971" authorized to be issued pursuant to Section 3 of this ordinance at any time outstanding.

(b) "Ordinance No. 8896" shall mean the ordinance of that number enacted by the Council of the City of Lincoln on January 3, 1966, authorizing and providing for the issuance of Electric System Revenue Bonds and, among other things, providing for limitations and conditions under which Additional Bonds may be issued thereunder.

(c) "Outstanding Bonds" shall mean all Electric System Revenue Bonds at any time outstanding issued pursuant to Ordinance No. 8896 prior to the adoption hereof.

Except for the Electric System Construction Fund created in Section 7 of this ordinance, all references herein to funds, accounts and sub accounts are to the funds, accounts and sub-accounts bearing the respective designation created or established by Ordinance No. 8896.

SECTION 3. AUTHORIZATION, DETAILS, REDEMPTION AND SALE OF SERIES OF 1971 BONDS. Pursuant to the authority of the Constitution and laws of the State of Nebraska and the Charter of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, and of the Nebraska Revised Statutes of 1943 of Nebraska, as amended, and Section 44 of Article IX of said Charter, for the purpose of providing funds to pay all or part of the costs of acquisitions, improvements, extensions, equippings and furnishings to the existing electric system of the City of Lincoln (a revenue producing facility of the City of Lincoln), there hereby are authorized to be issued revenue bonds of the City of Lincoln in the principal amount of Four Million Seven Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($4,750,000), which bonds shall be designated "Electric System Revenue Bonds, Series of 1971" (hereinafter defined and hereinafter referred to as the "Series of 1971 Bonds"). The Series of 1971 Bonds shall be dated May 1, 1971, shall be of the denomination of $5,000 each, shall be numbered from 1 to 950, inclusive, in order of maturity, shall bear interest payable November 1, 1971 and semi-annually each May 1 and November 1 thereafter at such rate or rates per annum as shall be fixed by this Council by resolution at the time of sale of said bonds, and shall mature serially in numerical order on May 1 in each of the years and in the principal amounts as follows:

Year	Amount	Year	Amount
1972	$100,000	1984	$180,000
1973	110,000	1985	190,000
1974	115,000	1986	195,000
1975	120,000	1987	210,000
1976	125,000	1988	215,000
1977	135,000	1989	225,000
1978	140,000	1990	235,000
1979	145,000	1991	245,000
1980	150,000	1992	255,000
1981	160,000	1993	270,000
1982	165,000	1994	285,000
1983	175,000	1995	295,000
		1996	310,000

Both principal of, premium, if any, and interest on the Series of 1971 Bonds shall be payable at the office of the County Treasurer of the County of Lancaster in the City of Lincoln, Nebraska.

The Series of 1971 Bonds maturing on or prior to May 1, 1981 shall not be subject to redemption prior to their stated maturities. The Series of 1971 Bonds maturing on and after May 1, 1981, shall be subject to redemption prior to their stated maturities, at the option of the City of Lincoln prior to their stated maturities, at any time on or after May 1, 1981, in whole, or in part from time to time in inverse order of maturities, at the principal amount thereof and the interest accrued thereon to the date fixed for their redemption, plus the following premium, expressed as a percentage of the principal amount redeemed:

Period During Which Redeemed (both dates inclusive)	Redemption Premium
May 1, 1981 to April 30, 1982	3%
May 1, 1982 to April 30, 1984	2 1/2%
May 1, 1984 to April 30, 1986	2%
May 1, 1986 to April 30, 1988	1 1/2%
May 1, 1988 to April 30, 1990	1%
May 1, 1990 to Maturity	none

In the event that at any time less than all the Series of 1971 Bonds of any given maturity are called for redemption, the Bonds of such maturity to be redeemed shall be selected by lot. In the event of redemption of any of the Series of 1971 Bonds, notice of such redemption shall be given and such redemption shall have the effect as provided in Section 4 of Ordinance No. 8896.

The Series of 1971 Bonds shall be offered for sale by the Finance Director for not less than the par value thereof.

SECTION 4. EXECUTION OF THE SERIES OF 1971 BONDS AND COUPONS AND FORM THEREOF AND FORM OF REGISTRATION CERTIFICATE. The Series of 1971 Bonds shall be issued in bearer form with coupons attached and without privilege of registration. The Series of 1971 Bonds shall be executed, sealed and countersigned as is provided in the first paragraph of Section 5 of Ordinance No. 8896. The coupons to be attached to the Series of 1971 Bonds shall also be executed as is provided in this paragraph.

The Series of 1971 Bonds, the interest coupons to be attached thereto and the form for registration in the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts of the State of Nebraska and the Finance Department of the City of Lincoln, shall be in substantially the forms set forth in Section 5 of Ordinance No. 8896, with such necessary or appropriate variations and omissions from and insertions in the forms set forth in Section 5 of Ordinance No. 8896 as are incidental to the Series of 1971 Bonds, their series, designation, date, numbers, denomination, aggregate principal amount, maturities, interest rate or rates, interest payment dates and redemption provisions.

SECTION 5. CREDITS TO CERTAIN ACCOUNTS IN THE ELECTRIC REVENUE FUND. In addition to the payments and credits required by Ordinance No. 8896 to be made from the moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund to the Bond and Interest Account for credit to the Interest Account and Serial Bond Principal Account therein and to the Reserve Account, there shall also be paid and credited from the moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund the following amounts at the following times:

(a) Commencing with the first business day of the month following the month in which the Series of 1971 Bonds are delivered, and on the first business day of each and every month thereafter, so long as any Series of 1971 Bonds are outstanding, there shall be credited from moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund to the Bond and Interest Account for credit to the Interest Account therein, an amount such that, if the same amount were so paid each succeeding calendar month thereafter and prior to the next date upon which an installment of interest falls due on the Series of 1971 Bonds, the aggregate of the amounts so paid and credited to said Interest Account will on such interest payment date be equal to the installment of interest falling due on such date on the Series of 1971 Bonds, so as to provide for the payment of the interest on said Bonds.

(b) Commencing with the first business day of the month following the month in which the Series of 1971 Bonds are delivered and paid for, and on the first business day of each and every month thereafter so long as any Series of 1971 Bonds are outstanding, there shall be credited from moneys in the Electric Revenue Fund to the Bond and Interest Account for credit to the Serial Bond principal Account therein, an amount such that, if the same amount were so credited to that sub-account on the first business day of each succeeding month thereafter and prior to the next date on which any of the Series of 1971 Bonds mature, the aggregate of the amounts so credited to that sub-account will on the maturity date be equal to the principal of the Series of 1971 Bonds becoming due on such date.

(c) On the day following the date of delivery of and payment for the Series of 1971 Bonds, after the credits required by Ordinance No. 8896 and this ordinance (if any) to be made in the month in which such date occurs have been made to the Operation and Maintenance Account and the Bond and Interest Account, there shall be credited from the moneys in the Surplus Account, or from any other moneys lawfully available therefor, or any combination thereof, to the Reserve Account an amount such that the aggregate amount then on credit to the Reserve Account will equal the maximum aggregate debt service requirement for any future fiscal year thereafter for all Outstanding Bonds then outstanding and the Series of 1971 Bonds.

SECTION 6. APPLICABILITY OF PROVISIONS OF ORDINANCE NO. 8896 TO SERIES OF 1971 BONDS. The Series of 1971 Bonds, together with the interest thereon, shall be payable, on a parity with the Outstanding Bonds and equally and ratably secured therewith, solely from the revenues derived from the electric system of the City, and shall not in any event be a debt of said City within the meaning of any constitutional, statutory or charter limitation upon the creation of general obligation indebtedness of the City. The Series of 1971 Bonds are hereby determined to be "Additional Bonds" issued pursuant to Section 13 of Ordinance No. 8896 within the meaning of such words as defined and used in that ordinance, and all of the provisions of Ordinance No. 8896, applicable to Additional Bonds issued pursuant to Section 13 thereof, shall be applicable to the Series of 1971 Bonds and are made a part hereof for the benefit and security of the holders from time to time of the Series of 1971 Bonds as though fully set forth herein, including without limiting the generality of the foregoing, all provisions of Ordinance No. 8896 relating to the establishment, maintenance, revision and collection of charges and rates for the use and services of the electric system; the pledge, collection, deposit and application of the revenues of the electric system and the maintenance of all the special funds and accounts created by Ordinance No. 8896; the maintenance and operation of the electric system; insurance, bonds and accounts and credits; the investment of moneys; the terms and conditions upon which further Additional Bonds may be issued payable as to principal, premium and interest on a parity with the Outstanding Bonds and the Series of 1971 Bonds; limitations on amending Ordinance No. 8896; the terms and conditions upon which the City's obligations under Ordinance No. 8896 and the liens, pledges, dedications, covenants and agreements of the City therein made or provided for may be fully discharged and satisfied as to the Outstanding Bonds and the Series of 1971 Bonds and such Bonds no longer deemed to be outstanding thereunder; and all other covenants, terms and conditions contained in Ordinance No. 8896 for the benefit and security of "Additional Bonds" issued pursuant to Section 13 of said Ordinance, as said words are defined and used therein.

So long as any of the Series of 1971 Bonds are outstanding, this ordinance and Ordinance No. 8896 shall constitute a contract of the City with every holder from time to time of the Series of 1971 Bonds and the coupons pertaining thereto, enforceable as provided in Section 15 of Ordinance No. 8896.

SECTION 7. APPLICATION OF SERIES OF 1971 BOND PROCEEDS: ELECTRIC SYSTEM CONSTRUCTION FUND. There is hereby created and established with the City Treasurer's fund to be known as the "Electric System Construction Fund." The proceeds of the sale of the Series of 1971 Bonds, including the interest accrued on said Bonds from their date to the date of delivery of and payment therefor, shall be received by the Finance Director, who shall deposit an amount equal to such accrued interest in the Electric Revenue Fund and credit the same to the Bond and Interest Account for credit to the Interest Account therein. The remainder of such proceeds shall be deposited in the Electric System Construction Fund, and shall be used and applied as follows:

(1) In anticipation of the issuance of the Series of 1971 Bonds and the receipt of the proceeds thereof, the City Council by resolution has authorized payments from the Surplus Account for certain of the equippings and furnishings to be financed from said Bonds, which resolution requires the Surplus Account to be reimbursed from such proceeds for such payments. An amount equal to the proceeds of the Series of 1971 Bonds equal to the amount paid to the date of delivery of said Bonds from the Surplus Account pursuant to said resolution shall be deposited in the Electric Revenue Fund to the credit of the Surplus Account as reimbursement for such payments.

(2) The balance in the Electric System Construction Fund, after the reimbursement required by (1) above has been made, shall be used and applied to the payment of the costs of those acquisitions, improvements, extensions, furnishings and equipping to the electric system to be financed from the proceeds of the Series of 1971 Bonds (including without limitation, legal, financial and engineering costs and the costs and expenses of issuing the Series of 1971 Bonds).

Pending their application to such purposes, the moneys on deposit in the Electric System Construction Fund shall be subject to the lien and pledge of Ordinance No. 8896 and of this ordinance, and shall be held for the benefit of the City for the purposes therein and herein provided, and for the benefit of the holder of the Outstanding Bonds, the Series of 1971 Bonds and any other Additional Bonds, as their interest may appear. Withdrawals from the Electric System Construction Fund shall be made in the manner withdrawals from other funds of the City are made.

In the event that the moneys on deposit in the Electric System Construction Fund are insufficient to pay all the foregoing costs referred to in paragraph (2) above, the Finance Director may pay over moneys on deposit in the Electric Revenue Fund on credit to the Surplus Account to the Electric System Construction Fund, to the extent of any such insufficiency. If after the payment in full of all the foregoing costs, or after adequate provision has been made for such payment, any moneys remain in the Electric System Construction Fund, such excess shall be transferred to the Electric Revenue Fund for credit to the Surplus Account, to be used and applied as are other moneys credited to that account, and the Electric System Construction Fund may be closed. Pending their application as provided in this Section, moneys on deposit in the Electric System Construction Fund may be invested in direct general obligations of, or obligations the payment of which is guaranteed by the United States of America maturing in such amounts and at such times so that the payments to be made from such fund may be made.

SECTION 8. EFFECT OF INVALIDITY OF ANY PART OF THIS ORDINANCE. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 9. REPEAL OF CONFLICTING PROVISIONS OF ORDINANCES. Except Ordinance No. 8896, all ordinances, resolutions or orders, or parts thereof, in conflict or inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance are, to the extent of such conflict or inconsistency, hereby repealed.

SECTION 10. HEADINGS OF SECTIONS NOT CONTROLLING. The headings of sections of this ordinance are set forth herein for convenience of reference only and shall not affect the construction or interpretation of this ordinance or of any section hereof.

SECTION 11. PUBLICATION AND EFFECTIVENESS OF THIS ORDINANCE. This ordinance after its passage shall be published once in The Lincoln Star, a newspaper published and having a general circulation in the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, and shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage as provided by law.

Council Okays Skinner For Civil Defense Post

The City Council Monday approved the appointment of Jasper Skinner as Civil Defense director.

The unanimous vote came with little discussion, a situation completely opposite the controversy over the first appointment by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf of John Tunberg, who was turned down.

The Lancaster County Board must also approve the appointment to the $6,000 parttime post. Two of the three commissioners, Kenneth Bourne and William Grossman, have indicated their approval of Skinner for the job.

Skinner, a 24-year Air Force veteran and presently an insurance agent, would replace Richard Vestecka, who resigned.

City Council members Monday were in receipt of a letter from County Commissioner Robert Colin in which he questioned whether federal aid would be received for a part time civil defense director.

City Atty. Dick Wood told the council that federal aid would be received, according to a conversation with Vestecka.

The council then acted on the appointment.

The contract with NPPD calls for purchasing the facility for $650,000, the money to be paid over an eight-year period at a 5% interest rate out of surplus electric funds.

The city would also agree to provide NPPD with 18 megawatts of power through 1980.

Both Krivosha and Renner said they doubted NPPD would be willing to extend its providing of steam heat until the users could switch to another means for heating.

Extension Suggested

Councilwoman Helen Boosalis had questioned whether an extension would be accomplished rather than the city's paying out $650,000 for something it does not want.

Renner said that power could be supplied from the downtown facilities to the A St. water pumping facilities, adding that elevated water reservoirs have been built which would retain sufficient pressure to pump water despite a power blackout.

The council also approved the issuance of a $4.75 million electric system bond issue and set April 8 as the date of a special meeting for the purpose of awarding the sale of the bonds.

In other action, the council.

Man Hospitalized In Cycle Mishap

A Lincoln man was being held for observation at Lincoln General Hospital following a car-motorcycle accident on A St. between 28th and Park Ave. late Monday afternoon, according to police officer Duane Bullock.

Bullock said John Butler, 27, of 1000 So. 35th suffered a broken rib, scrapes and possible internal injuries when the motorcycle he was riding was in collision with a car driven by William Pedersen, 43, of 3917 Dunn.

Police said that when the two vehicles collided Butler flew over the car and into a guard rail on the south side of the street.

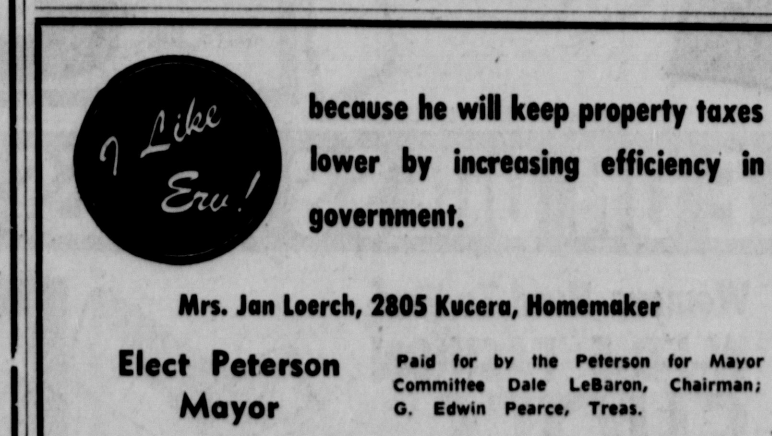

Butler was eastbound on A and Pedersen was westbound on A turning left into a driveway at the time of the accident.

Student, 20, Dies; Apparently Shot Himself In Head

A 20-year-old University of Nebraska student from Norfolk died Monday night from an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound to his head, according to the sheriff's department.

Deputy Sheriff Wesley Alm said Daniel Miller, of 1404 No. 24th, was found laying dead in his room after friends in the house heard a gunshot blast moments after he told them he was going to kill himself.

There was a note found at the scene but no reason for the suicide could be determined from it. Alm said that the youth had taken a large quantity of tranquilizers a short time before he shot himself.

"Each morn a thousand roses brings, you say; "Yes, but where leaves the roses of yesterday?"

Omar Khayam said that. The Persian poet did his best work while downing pints of wine. Don't knock the grape.

Roses are blooming in our garden again. We're pretty sure that's what gives the lady gardener hay fever, hey hey. Somebody told us the rose is wrongly blamed for hay fever.

Something else does it. The rose gets bum-rapped for it. Anyway, there something brings hay fever. Ah-choo!

We are bound for "the loveliest fleet of islands that lie anchored in any ocean." (That's Hawaii, brudda. Only Mark Twain, he said it better too much.)

You cannot think of going to Hawaii without a new bathing suit.

I said: "Why don't you wait until you get there? You always buy a new suit when you're there. This just makes two suits."

Well, logic is not getting any offers around here.

It seems just planning on going over, you have to get a new bathing suit.

Bathing suits are not for swimming, ducks. They are for parade purposes.

"Do you think it looks all right on me?" she asked. "I mean, you know, is it too scanty?"

There are several answers to this. All of them wrong.

Suppose you say: "It looks just fine."

She then says: "You don't really think so. What's wrong with it?"

You say: "What do you mean? I just said it looks fine."

She says: "It was the way you said it."

I slid away from the question.

I said: "Have you seen my glasses? I've been looking all over for them."

I intend to flake out under a coco palm. Let the trade wind massage a little of the sandpaper feeling off me.

As all old Hawaiians know, Hawaii is the navel of the

(The center of the navel is Honolulu—the exact geographical place is around Alapai and Beretania Streets.)

I went out and gave the roses a few bars of "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." Whacked it out on the guitar.

Some people have done very well with flowers by giving them a daily session of prayer. I mean they prayed out loud.

Some people have had good luck simply chatting with their garden.

Skeptics just use Plant-Gro and loosen the soil once in a while.

I think I'll run a test on this some day. Plant the same flowers on each side of the house.

On one side, I'll give them a sermon each day. On another side, I'll talk to them. On another side, music. And on the fourth, silence and fertilizer. Then we'll see. ("What will that boy think of next?" said grandma.)

Converse?

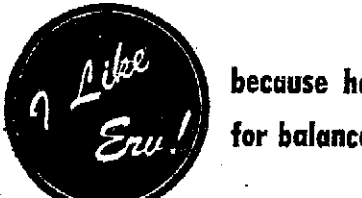

A noted publisher in Chicago reports a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in social and business advancement and works like magic to give you poise, self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances there are ways to make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventures in Conversation," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Send your name, address, and zip code to: Conversation, 835 Diversey Pkwy., Dept. 6854 Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do.

If you've ever had a hankering to be a racing secretary, Fonner Park's Dean Williams would likely turn the handicapping chores over to you for at least one race this week.

Williams, as a racing secretary, has to be proud of the field that will go to the post in Saturday's Gus Fonner Memorial Handicap, but he has an unenviable task as handicapper when he sits down to assign weights to the likes of Miss Spy Song, Spanish Key, Melmitch and Bold Accent.

For instance, do you drop Bold Accent in weight after two straight victories with her going against Spanish Key, whom she beat in one of those but who tied the track record for 6 furlongs Saturday, and Miss Spy Song, who has never been worse than second in her last nine outs.

The problem will become even more perplexing if Power Judge shows up after winning a $12,500 allowance test at Oaklawn Park Friday, going the 6 furlongs in 1:10.4-5.

—EITHER RACING TO CATCH A PLANE OR CATCHING A PLANE TO RACE—

Traveling Jim French Now Heads Derby Picture

By Associated Press

The Derby picture, which once looked like a head shot of Holst The Flag, turned into a group portrait after Holst The Flag's career-ending injury — and Jim French is right in the front row after winning the $133,400 Santa Anita Derby Saturday.

The Santa Anita Derby was Jim French's third race in as many weeks and followed his third-place finish in the Bay Shore at New York's Aqueduct March 20 and his third in the Florida Derby at Gulfstream March 27.

Johnny Campo, who trains Jim French for Frank J. Caldwell, said he has not determined what the colt's next race will be but "of course, the Kentucky Derby is in the picture."

About three hours before Jim French beat the best in the West, another Campotrained 3-year-old, Neil Hellman's Good Behavior, won the $56,800 Gotham at Aqueduct. Good Behavior, however, has not been nominated for the Kentucky Derby, which does not take supplementary nominations.

In another Kentucky Derby test, Poastoral Stable's Twist The Axe, eligible for the big one in Louisville, won the $50,000-added Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn Park.

Three-year-olds also were featured at Golden Gate Fields, where a trio of Derby ineligible — Dr. Knighton, Primato and Dominant Star — were the first three finishers in the $27,200 Gold Rush Stakes.

Saturday's big race for older horses was the $115,600 John B. Campbell Handicap at Bowie, won by longshot Bushido.

Angel Cordero Jr. got Jim French to the finish of the 1 1/4-mile Santa Anita Derby by 1 1/4 lengths over Arthur A. Seeligs Jr.'s favored Unconscious, with Fritz and Seelich's Vegas Vic third and R. G. Buc's Crimson Demon fourth in the field of 10 that carried level weights of 120 pounds.

Unconscious, losing for the first time in four starts this year, and Vegas Vic both are eligible for a trip to Kentucky and plans are to race them in the $100,000-added California Derby at Golden Gate April 17. Unconscious definitely is being aimed for Louisville.

Braves Trip Reds

By Associated Press

Dick Bosman pitched a six-hit shutout as the Washington Senators crushed Oakland, 8-0, and won the ceremonial American League Baseball opener Monday for the first time since 1962.

In the two National League first-day games, the Atlanta Braves tripped the Cincinnati Reds, 7-4, and Houston trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-2, in a night game.

Felix Millan opened the eighth inning with a triple and scored the tie-breaking run on Woody Woodward's throwing error to give the Braves a win over the defending National League champions. The Astros rode to victory on Denis Menke's three RBIs and the ten-hit pitching of Larry Dierker.

President Nixon missed the rare Senators' opening game victory as M. Sgt. Daniel L. Pitzer, a former Vietnam prisoner of war, was chosen by the White House to throw out the first ball.

Six walks, a pair of crucial errors, and a hit batter helped the Senators to all their runs in the first five innings. They scored twice in the second without a hit and twice again in the fourth on just one hit, a bunt single.

Frank Howard and Mike Epstein each drove in two Senators' runs while Howard saved Bosman's shutout with a leaping catch at the left field fence that robbed Felipe Alou of a homer in the third inning.

A chilled Riverfront Stadium crowd of 51,702—largest in Cincinnati history—saw the Braves capitalize on six errors, including three by third baseman Woodward.

The Reds battled back from a 4-0 deficit to tie the game in the sixth with the help of Tony Perez's two-run homer. But their defense failed in the eighth when Millan tripled to deep left off reliever Wayne Granger and scored as Woodward threw the ball away after fielding Clete Boyer's bouncer.

Cecil Upshaw, who relieved knuckleballer Phil Niekro in the sixth and blanked the Reds over the final three innings, picked up the victory.

Rookie Cesar Cedeño racked a single and double, scored one run and drove in another, as the Astros took advantage of some early wildness by Dodger ace Bill Singer.

Singer loaded the bases on two walks and a hit batsmen with none out the first and Houston picked up two runs in the inning without benefit of a hit.

PICKOFF ATTEMPT FAILS

Longshot Bettor's Delight

It was in that race that a longshot bettor's delight "stole" the race with Heritage going off as a 12-1 shot to return $28.40 to those gambling two bucks on its nose.

The 4-year-old gelding, who had just been acquired by Lawrence Gohlhinger of Tabor, Iowa, from Bob Ellis, had had three bad races since coming to Fonner, but had proven he could run at Turf Paradise.

At that Phoenix track, he had won at 6 furlongs in 1:12, and finished second in two races at 6 furlongs that had been won in 1:10.2-5.

We've seen it written, as a joke, about women at the race track, but didn't believe it ever really happened. But it did Saturday.

Fighting For Flag Again

They're telling this one on Sam Britt of Grenville, N.M., owner of Princess Khal. Seems a car load of hippies came through the small New Mexico town early this spring and stopped for gas.

Britt, noticing an American flag draped from one of the car windows was defaced by odds and ends hanging on it and told the group he didn't think that to be very patriotic.

Asking them to remove the items from the flag, Britt explained, "I fought for that flag once." Refusing to follow his request, one of the hippies offered, "I also fought for it once."

With that remark, Britt countered, "And if you don't do what I say, you're about to have to fight for it again." His request was granted.

Fans wondering about Pago Moon's absence from the paddock aren't any more disappointed about it than owner Boyne Ferguson.

His star is hobbling around here on bad feet as the result of a bad shoeing job. Ferguson hopes to have his prize thoroughbred well in time for the Fonner Mile on April 24.

Pole Vaulters Pace Charts Of High School Trackmen

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

A review of the best times and distances posted by Nebraska high school track stars during the 1970 season, in order to update the state's all-time top ten in the five field events and three relays, shows that the pole vault was the dominate event.

Seven vaulters from last spring cracked the all-time list and 11 leapers who scored in the state meet, including the gold medal winner, return again this season for another try.

North Platte's Bill Lauer now heads the all-time list in the event after becoming Nebraska's first 15-foot vaulter during his junior year.

Brian Myers of Norfolk, second at 14-8 1/4, Grand Island's Marv Dethloff, fifth at 14-8 and Win Buckley, Lincoln Southeast, Tom Waddle and Ron Schwab, both of Lincoln East, and Mark Prauner of Fremont, all tied for the final spot on the list at 14-0.

Those six completed their high school eligibility last season.

Early season indications are that the pole vaulters will continue their assault on the records again this spring. Fremont's Mike Cockerham has already assured himself a place on the all-time list with a 14-1 leap.

Lauer, Fremont's Glen Gumb and North Platte's Rick McKain are eligible again this spring.

Four class champions are among them, headed by Lauer and Class D pole vault titleholder Gene Schaeffer of Bertrand.

The other two are Class D long jump king Greg Schneider of Hayes Center, who gained the all-time list in his specialty with a 23-3 1/4 effort last year, and Class B high jump winner Pat Phillips of Bridgeport. Though Phillips is not on the all-time chart, he has already cleared 6-3 this spring to threaten the leaders.

Oldtimers are rare on the all-time list except in the long jump. Though just one track star of the past remains among the top ten in the discus and high jump from the 1940 season and none from farther back than 1957 in the shot put, four long jumpers from 1929, 1931, 1932 and 1936 are still among the leaders.

The relays are even more fully dominated by the recent years. A 1962 quartet from Grand Island in the 880 is the oldest from the three events.

COPPLE HORSE TAKES GRAND CHAMPIONSHIP

Vallerina Miss, 1970 world champion owned by Marvin E. Copple of Lincoln, won the grand championship in the 2-year-old halter mare class at quarter horse shows at both Sioux Center, Iowa, and South Sioux City the past weekend.

Copple's Two Eyed Dandy was also first in the 2-year-old gelding division at both shows.

Baseball's Carl Mays Dies From Pneumonia

San Diego (AP) — Carl Mays, the New York Yankees pitcher who threw the pitch that killed Cleveland batter Ray Chapman in 1920, is dead. He was 79 years old.

Mays, the winner of 208 games as a hurler for four major league clubs and later a scout for 20 years, died Sunday in suburban El Cajon Valley Hospital. He had been suffering from pneumonia the past few weeks.

Husker Gridders Hold 2nd Scrimmage In Three Days

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska's footballers were sent through their second contact session in three days Monday and head coach Bob Devaney said he noticed some improvement in his No. 1 offensive unit.

"Our No. 1 offensive unit looked better today (Monday) than they had in the Saturday scrimmage," he allowed in discussing the 15-minute session that matched the No. 1 offense against the No. 1 black-shirted defensive forces.

While Saturday's contact session was a full-fledged scrimmage, Monday's session was limited to only one station of the Huskers' multi-stationed practice routines.

Admitting that it was a bit unusual to have two contact sessions almost back-to-back, the Husker leader explained, "We wanted to get more film to study before our Friday scrimmage."

Devaney has scheduled another full-fledged scrimmage for Friday before the squad breaks for spring vacation and won't resume drills until April 19.

With the exception of the No. 4 units going against each other, the No. 1s were the only comparable units opposing each other in Monday's contact work.

"Our No. 2 defense was tough on our No. 3 offense," Devaney pointed out. "And our No. 2 offense looked good against the No. 3 defense."

The Husker coach was particularly pleased with the work of sophomore quarterback David Humm as well as his supporting cast on the No. 2 unit.

Defensively, John Peterson was promoted to the No. 2 middle guard, replacing John Bell, who is due for knee surgery this week, and Jim Branch was moved up to share strongside linebacking chores on the No. 1 unit with Bruce Hauge.

In the No. 2 backfield were Gary Dixon and David Goeller at I-back, Glen Garson at flanker and Powell and Damkroger splitting the fullback chores while Frosty Anderson was the split end.

Devaney was pleased with both Dixon and Randy Butts as I-backs Monday, noting, "Both were running real tough." Butts shared time on the No. 1 unit with Jeff Kinney.

Also catching the head coach's eye this spring have been sophomore ends Jeff Hill and Tim Lackovic, along with tackle Darryl White.

A study of films of Saturday's scrimmage resulted in some lineup changes, the most notable being the advancement of White to share time with Carl Johnson at No. 1 right tackle, Brent Longwell to No. 1 tight end where Jerry List is still hobbled by a foot injury, Humm to the quarterback spot on the No. 2 unit, Damkroger to the No. 2 unit at fullback and Garson to the No. 2 unit at flanker.

Southern Sports Figure Is Dead At Age Of 86

If you've ever had a hankering to be a racing secretary, Fonner Park's Dean Williams would likely turn the handicapping chores over to you for at least one race this week.

Williams, as a racing secretary, has to be proud of the field that will go to the post in Saturday's Gus Fonner Memorial Handicap, but he has an unenviable task as handicapper when he sits down to assign weights to the likes of Miss Spy Song, Spanish Key, Melmitch and Bold Accent.

For instance, do you drop Bold Accent in weight after two straight victories with her going against Spanish Key, whom she beat in one of those but who tied the track record for 6 furlongs Saturday, and Miss Spy Song, who has never been worse than second in her last nine outings.

The problem will become even more perplexing if Power Judge shows up after winning a $12,500 allowance test at Oaklawn Park Friday, going the 6 furlongs in 1:10 4-5.

Speaking of weights, bettors here Saturday saw a rarity when Rushing Roman was returned to the paddock for two more pounds when an error was discovered just as the horses were going into the starting gate. Rushing Roman with his weight boosted to 117 pounds then finished second in the second race.

Longshot Bettor's Delight

It was in that race that a longshot bettor's delight "stole" the race with Heritage going off at a 12-1 shot to return $28.40 to those gambling two bucks on its nose.

The 4-year-old gelding, who had just been acquired by Lawrence Gohlhorst of Tabor, Iowa, from Bob Ellis, had had three bad races since coming to Fonner, but had proven he could run at Turf Paradise.

At that Phoenix track, he had won at 6 furlongs in 1:12, and finished second in two races at 6 furlongs that had been won in 1:10 2-5.

We've seen it written, as a joke, about women at the race track, but didn't believe it ever really happened. But it did Saturday.

We stood in the betting line for what seemed like several minutes while a woman, who had laid a dollar at the window, sorted through combs, tissues, lipstick and whatever else a woman carries in her purse to come up with enough nickels, dimes and pennies to make up another dollar.

Racing fans, who have seen a bright red bus parked outside the north end of the grandstand each Saturday here and may have thought it had gotten lost en route to a Nebraska football game last fall, can relax. It's simply Raymond Francis Barry's entourage from Lincoln.

A review of the best times and distances posted by Nebraska high school track stars during the 1970 season, in order to update the state's all-time top ten in the five field events and three relays, shows that the pole vault was the dominate event.

Seven vaulters from last spring cracked the all-time list and 11 leapers who scored in the state meet, including the gold medal winner, return again this season for another try.

North Platte's Bill Lauer now heads the all-time list in the event after becoming Nebraska's first 15-foot vaulter during his junior year.

Brian Myers of Norfolk, second at 14-3/4, Grand Island's Marv Dethloff, fifth at 14-6 and Win Buckley, Lincoln Southeast, Tom Waddle and Ron Schwab, both of Lincoln East, and Mark Prauner of Fremont, all tied for the final spot on the list at 14-0.

have already negotiated 14-0 in the early weeks of the season this year.

Though Lauer was the only one to take over the top position on any of the eight all-time lists, Myers was joined as the holder of a runnerup spot by Steve Mansted of Wahoo in the shot put and three relay teams — Bellevue in the 880 and two mile and Omaha North in the mile.

Every one of the eight events has at least one newcomer on the all-time list as a result of 1970 action. In addition to the seven vaulters, three shot putters and high jumpers, two long jumpers and a discus performer gained the honor in the five individual events.

In addition to Lauer, Columbus high jumper Steve Eymann also became a state record holder while earning his place on the all-time list. His 6-6 jump, though the best ever at a state meet, ranks third on the all-time all-season chart.

Jim French must wonder whether he's racing to catch a plane or catching a plane to race. But one thing's certain, after three weeks of flying and running the 3-year-old son of Graustark holds a prominent spot in the Kentucky Derby picture.

$133,400 Santa Anita Derby Saturday.

The Santa Anita Derby was Jim French's third race in as many weeks and followed his third-place finish in the Bay Shore at New York's Aqueduct March 20 and his third in the Florida Derby at Gulfstream March 27.

Johnny Campo, who trains Jim French for Frank J. Caldwell, said he has not determined what the colt's next race will be but "of course, the Kentucky Derby is in the picture."

About three hours before Jim French beat the best in the West, another Campot-trained 3-year-old, Neil Hellman's Good Behaving, won the $56,800 Gotham at Aqueduct. Good Behaving, however, has not been nominated for the Kentucky Derby, which does not take supplementary nominations.

In another Kentucky Derby test, Poastoral Stable's Twist The Axe, eligible for the big one in Louisville, won the $50,000-added Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn Park.

Three-year-olds also were featured at Golden Gate Fields, where a trio of Derby ineligible — Dr. Knighton, Primato and Dominant Star — were the first three finishers in the $27,200 Gold Rush Stakes.

Saturday's big race for older horses was the $115,000 John B. Campbell Handicap at Bowie, won by longshot Bushido.

Angel Cordero Jr. got Jim French to the finish of the 1 1/4-mile Santa Anita Derby by 1 1/4 lengths over Arthur A. Seelgion Jr.'s favored Unconscious, with Fritz and Seelgion's Vegas Vic third and R. G. Buc's Crimson Demon fourth in the field of 10 that carried level weights of 120 pounds.

Unconscious, losing for the first time in four starts this year, and Vegas Vic both are eligible for a trip to Kentucky and plans are to race them in the $100,000-added California Derby at Golden Gate April 17. Unconscious definitely is being aimed for Louisville.

—AT FONNER PARK— Sammy Sioux Wins Allowance Chase

Grand Island — Sammy Sioux, ridden by jockey Wayne Anderson, nipped a field of seven to win the featured Grand Island Drive-In Barbers purse Monday afternoon at Fonner Park.

The brown filly, toured the 6 1/2 furlong allowance chase in 1:19.4-5 in the scamper for four-year-olds. She returned $15.00, $5.80 and $4.40 while McBlue paid $3.80 and $3.20 and Gibby Bo showed to pay $4.40.

Owned by Doreen Klein and trained by R. L. Allee, Sammy Sioux was making her second start of the season.

PICKOFF ATTEMPT FAILS

Husker Gridders Hold 2nd Scrimmage In Three Days

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska's footballers were sent through their second contact session in three days Monday and head coach Bob Devaney said he noticed some improvement in his No. 1 offensive unit.

"Our No. 1 offensive unit looked better today (Monday) than they had in the Saturday scrimmage," he allowed in discussing the 15-minute session that matched the No. 1 offense against the No. 1 black-shirted defensive forces.

While Saturday's contact session was a full-fledged scrimmage, Monday's session was limited to only one station of the Huskers' multi-stationed practice routines.

Admitting that it was a bit unusual to have two contact sessions almost back-to-back, the Husker leader explained, "We wanted to get more film to study before our Friday scrimmage."

Devaney has scheduled another full-fledged scrimmage for Friday before the squad breaks for spring vacation and won't resume drills until April 19.

With the exception of the No. 4 units going against each other, the No. 1s were the only comparable units opposing each other in Monday's contact work.

"Our No. 2 defense was tough on our No. 3 offense," Devaney pointed out. "And our No. 2 offense looked good against the No. 3 defense."

The Husker coach was particularly pleased with the work of sophomore quarterback David Humm as well as his supporting cast on the No. 2 unit.

Powell broke loose for a touchdown gallop that spanned the length of the field.

In the No. 2 backfield were Gary Dixon and David Goeller at I-back, Glen Garson at flanker and Powell and Damkroger splitting the fullback chores while Frosty Anderson was the split end.

Devaney was pleased with both Dixon and Randy Butts as I-backs Monday, noting, "Both were running real tough." Butts shared time on the No. 1 unit with Jeff Kinney.

Also catching the head coach's eye this spring have been sophomore ends Jeff Hill and Tim Lackovic, along with tackle Darryl White.

A study of films of Saturday's scrimmage resulted in some lineup changes, the most notable being the advancement of White to share time with Carl Johnson at No. 1 right tackle, Brent Longwell to No. 1 tight end where Jerry List is still hobbled by a foot injury, Humm to the quarterback spot on the No. 2 unit, Damkroger to the No. 2 unit at fullback and Garson to the No. 2 unit at flanker.

NWU Splits Twin Bill In Season's Opener

... BACHMAN HOPES SCRIPT FOLLOWED

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

Coach Ron Bachman hopes the Nebraska Wesleyan baseball team's opening doubleheader Monday afternoon at Sherman Field is an indication of things to come.

The Plainsmen made a comeback in the second game for a 7-4 win after losing the first contest, 8-2, to Northwestern of Orange City, Iowa. But it was the mistakes NWU made that concerned Bachman.

"Last year in our opener, we played almost a flawless game and we had a losing season," Bachman said.

"Against Northwestern today we not only made fielding errors, but also mental errors. I expected the fellas to make the errors, though, and maybe this means we'll have a winning year."

"Overall we played good in both games especially our hitting. Even if we didn't get a lot of hits, we hit the ball hard.

"Mike (Garlow) and Earl (Nannen) weren't used to throwing off the mound but they came on strong after bad starts."

Northwestern scored five runs on five hits in the first inning of the initial game and three runs on two hits in the first inning of the second game.

Garlow who pitched the opener for NWU only allowed three runs and three hits after the first inning but the Plainsmen couldn't overcome the big lead.

However, in the second tilt NWU broke loose for three runs in the fifth frame and four in the sixth in rallying for the win. Pinch hitter Frank Irions slammed the key single down the rightfield line driving in two runs in the fifth.

Bachman said Northwestern's Bob Vermeer was having trouble with left-handed batters so he inserted Frank Irions who is a switch hitter.

Nannen only allowed one run and three hits after the first inning in picking up the win.

Bachman was also pleased with the performance of freshman Gene Boeka. Boeka was one for three, scored two runs and drove in two runs.

NWU travels to Omaha today for a doubleheader with Creighton starting at 2 p.m.

Theismann Inks Pact With Toronto

Toronto (AP) — Jon Bassett, chairman of the board of the Toronto Argonauts, said Monday he has signed Notre Dame quarterback Joe Theismann to a two-year contract with the Canadian Football League club.

Theismann, fourth-round draft choice of the Miami Dolphins, thus surprised the Canadian team which had given up on him after he was reported to have reached agreement with the National Football League team.

Bassett said Theismann turned his back on the Dolphins after a contract they sent him to sign apparently did not agree with the terms he had settled on in earlier talks at Miami.

Hopes Of Playoff Losers Tied To Pitching Staffs

By Associated Press
The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Minnesota Twins, divisional champions wiped out in playoffs last year, begin the 1971 baseball season today with all their hopes tied to the strength of their pitching staffs.

And no one knows it more than the two managers — Danny Murtaugh, whose Pirates finished first in National League East and then lost to Cincinnati in the playoffs, and Bill Rigney of the Twins, who won in American League West before bowing to Baltimore in the playoffs.

"This is a better team at this point than we had last year," an optimistic Murtaugh says. "But we learned from last year that you can never get too many sound pitching arms on your side."

"I've always felt with this team that if it got any kind of pitching it could win," Rigney says thoughtfully. "It would be a shame if that talent would go to waste because we don't have pitching."

The Pirates seemed to have strengthened their pitching with the addition in off-season trades of Nelson Briles from St. Louis and Bob Johnson from Kansas City. The Twins, however, may just be on the other side of the fence.

Briles and Johnson add depth to a holdover quartet of starters that lists Dock Ellis, Luke Walker, Steve Blass and Bob Moose. While not one posted as many victories as Minnesota's Jim Perry, the Pirates' pitching staff would seem to be in better shape than the Twins.

Rigney released two potential starters last week in Luis Tiant and Dave Boswell after according to Bill Zepp's demands to be traded and dealing him to Detroit. That left a staff led by the 24-game winning Perry, Bert Blyleven and Tom Hall.

Both Ellis, who pitched one of four no-hitters in the majors, last year, and Perry, the Cy Young Award winner in the AL, get the starting assignments today. Ellis will go against Philadelphia's Chris Short at Pittsburgh while Perry opposes Milwaukee's Marty Pattin at Minnesota.

In other AL openers, New York is at Boston, Cleveland at Detroit and Kansas City at California. The other NL curtain-raisers are Montreal at New York, St. Louis at Chicago and San Francisco at San Diego. Los Angeles and Houston, who opened Monday night, also go at it again.

The last two teams to see action begin play Wednesday, the champion Baltimore Orioles taking on Washington at home and the Chicago White Sox getting underway with a doubleheader at Oakland.

The Red Sox will operate with a new double play combination of aging Luis Aparicio at shortstop and rookie Doug Griffin at second base. Griffin was acquired from California as part of the trade in which Boston lost outfielder Tony Conigliaro.

The Tigers, who parted with pitcher Denny McLain in a major off-season transaction with Washington, gained the left side of an infield in the deal and will go with Ed Brinkman at shortstop and Aurelio Rodriguez at third base. The Angels now have Conigliaro in a hard-hitting outfield that also includes AL batting champion Alex Johnson. They will open in a night game with Clyde Wright going to the mound against Dick Drago of the Royals.

Boston will send Ray Culp against the Yankees' Stan Bahnsen and new Detroit Manager Billy Martin will open with Mickey Lolich against the Indians' Steve Hargan.

The NL also has a night opener with Juan Marichal going for San Francisco against the Padres' Tom Phoebus, acquired in a trade with the Orioles.

Two 20-game winners hook up at Chicago with Bob Gibson going for the Cardinals against Ferguson Jenkins of the Cubs.

At New York, Tom Seaver will open for the Mets against Carl Morton of the Expos, the NL's Rookie of the Year last season.

Frazier On America: No Time For Crazyiness

Beaufort, S.C. (AP) —The heavyweight boxing champion of the world watched the steady rain fall over his hometown, and slapped a giant-size comb on his leg and said, "It really hasn't changed too much here and I know some damn people ain't never gonna change."

Joe Frazier, dressed in a beige knit suit and multi-colored boots, stretched out in a motel room chair that seemed too small for his frame, and said of his homecoming to this South Carolina coastal city, "I got a mommy down here. I came back because Mom is here. Might not come back if she wasn't here."

Frazier, a beard sprouting, said while back home he would try to buy some land where he could build his mother the new home she needed and, "try to get some rest, which I'm not getting."

He sat in the small motel room with a few newsmen during the dreary, cold day to talk of singing and fighting and of "how all kinds of people work to build America and now you can't sit down and enjoy it."

The man who four weeks ago won a unanimous decision over Muhammad Ali to cement his claim as heavyweight champion, spoke softly, and sometimes hesitantly "of the crazyiness where too many people worry about who is going to live next door to them or what kind of big car they are going to drive."

"There's just no time for this crazyiness," he said. "Life is too short. You gonna walk out one day and your legs gonna collapse and that's it for you. When it happens to me, I just wanna say I lived a happy life and I wasn't hurting nobody."

"All of this," he said, "should never have happened. It needs straightening out. I have seen brother and son go over to the war and come home all shot up and then can't even get a good job. It isn't just the blacks, it's the whites too. And, it is the same damn thing in the North, not just in the South."

"American people keep forgetting. When are we gonna straighten up? It just seems there ain't no time, man, just ain't no time."

Frazier, one of the first blacks to receive an invitation to address the South Carolina Legislature since Reconstruction, said of his scheduled appearance Wednesday in the state house at Columbia:

"It won't be any speech, I'll just rap with those fellas. I never get into politics. It has been many a year since a black man has had a chance to approach this Legislature. I'll just rap with them about the things I feel for about 15 minutes."

Frazier plans to return to Beaufort Wednesday afternoon, stay until Saturday, and then begin work with his musical group, The Knockouts.

Frazier said singing was more relaxing than fighting, "but fighting is still an easy game."

"You don't have to please nobody but yourself when you're in the ring, he said. "When you are singing, you gotta please the audience. You've gotta stay on the stage until your show is over. When you're fighting, you can knock a man out in one round and still get the same pay."

Frazier said little of his boxing plans. "I'll stay as fit as possible. I'll stay on a diet. And, then we see," he said.

An aide said Frazier probably wouldn't fight again until next year and that it was almost certain he would give Ali a return match.

Frazier stood briefly on the second floor balcony of the motel and remarked, "Home again. How about this? Never thought I'd make it."

Stocks, Bonds, Commodities

New York (AP) — Blue-chip issues and certain oil stocks rose moderately Monday, but the rest of the market generally showed the same sluggish tone that has characterized recent sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks climbed 2.63 points to 905.97, its biggest change in six sessions. Advances on the New York Stock Exchange narrowly nosed out declines.

Oil issues on the Big Board's most-active list included Natamox, up 8% at 77 1/2, and Occidental Petroleum, up 1/2 at 20 1/4.

The rise in Natamox followed a news report that Royal Dutch-Shell may put up funds for oil exploration in waters off Sumatra. For Natamox and its stake of a tax-price agreement reached with the Libyan government Friday. Occidental Petroleum is one of the largest Libyan producers. A 100,000 share block of the issue traded at 21.

Among the big losers was a glamour issue, Memorex, off 10 1/2 at 65 1/4. The company reported 1970 earnings over the weekend but gave no year-end figures.

Mail order-retail and oils were higher. Metals generally were lower. All other groups were mixed.

Analysts attributed the indecisive performance to a wait-and-see attitude on the part of institutional investors, many of whom apparently had withdrawn from the market.

The New York Exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks rose 0.10 to 55.88. The Associated Press 40-stock index rose 0.15 to 15.88. Industrial issues were up 3/4, rails up 1/2 and utilities up 1/4.

The 1,681 issues traded on the Big Board, 707 rose, and 697 declined. The 400 issues were touched by 152 issues and 105 by 152.

The most-active Big Board issue was Natamox, with a volume of 297,900 shares.

The American Stock Exchange index rose 0.2 to 26.22. Of the 1,141 issues traded, 456 rose and 445 declined. Volume declined to 3.15 million shares from 3.37 million shares Friday.

Much Liquidation Hits Commodities

Chicago (AP) — Heavy liquidation hit the major commodity futures on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday.

When the session had closed soybeans were down nearly 4 cents a bushel, wheat was down 2 1/4 cents, corn was 1 1/4 cents lower and oats declined nearly 1 cent.

Several factors influenced the liquidation. In Canada, the government announced that farmers in 1971 intended to increase wheat plantings by nearly 50 per cent over 1970.

The United States government also reported that there were indications that Russia's wheat stocks had increased this year and that the Communist country probably would be a formidable export competitor this year.

Soybeans opened 1 cent lower and declined almost steadily to around 4 1/2 cents under the previous close around noon.

In the corn pit, some commercial selling on the opening was absorbed but thereafter prices weakened with buyers scarce.

At the close, soybeans were 2 1/4 to 3 1/2 cents lower, wheat was 1 1/2 to 2 1/4 cents lower, corn was 1/4 to 1 1/4 cents lower, and oats were 1/4 to 1 1/4 cents lower, May 70 1/4 cents.

Clark Says Nixon 'Disrespects' Law

Athens, Ga. (AP) — Former attorney general Ramsey Clark said Monday it was "inherently disrespectful of the law" for President Nixon to announce he would make the final military judgment in the case of Lt. William L. Calley Jr.

Clark discussed at a news conference Nixon's weekend disclosure he would review the facts in Calley's conviction for killing 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai and make the final decision after the case had gone through the appeals avenues under the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

Clark, attorney general under the Democratic administration of President Lyndon B. Johnson, said:

"I don't know how, in a government of laws, you can have an executive indicating his intention to intercede while the system must proceed with the case. It seems to me that's a government of men yielding to the emotion of the moment. It's disrespectful of the law.

"Why this case? What about all those thousands of other cases involving accusations against American troops in Vietnam? Do we believe in the system or not?"

He noted that the President has the constitutional powers to take such action but said such powers "should be exercised in a constitutionally attended way — that is, when the judicial system, whether within the military or ordinary civilian courts, has performed its duty."

"What I believe is," he said, "that there was probable cause to believe the allegations against Calley were true, and there was no alternate but to proceed. No civilization can ever hope to justify the shooting of old men, women and children."

Douglas County Senators Study Redistricting Plan

Omaha (AP) — State Sen. George Syas of Omaha says there is a good chance Douglas County's 12 senators soon will agree on a legislative redistricting plan for the county.

Syas spoke after 11 of the county's 12 state senators met to get a first look at proposed plans. He said Sen. Ernest Chambers did not attend because he has been ill with a back ailment.

The meeting was called to study proposed plans for dividing the county among themselves and the 13th senator who will join the Omaha delegation after next year's elections. Syas said the plan they ultimately recommend is likely to be followed by the legislature.

Youth Reported As 'Serious' In Car-Bike Mishap

William C. Holmstein Jr., 18, of 210 Carolyn Court was listed in "serious" condition Monday at St. Elizabeth Health Center where he is recovering from injuries he sustained when he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle early Sunday morning near 77th and A Sts.

Lincoln police reported that Holmstein suffered head cuts, a concussion and internal injuries. According to police, Holmstein was riding his bike west on A, when he was struck by the car, driven by Barry J. Kuehn, 31, of 3840 W.

Bowman To Head Mainstream

Ed Bowman, former Neighborhood Youth Corps counselor for the Lincoln Action Program, has been named director of the NYC Operation Mainstream project in Lincoln, according to Art May of the Lincoln Action Program.

Bowman will replace Claudia Robinson in the $8,300 a year position.

May, resigning executive director of LAP, made the announcement at Monday night's meeting of the LAP board of directors.

May also informed board members that 55 applications have been received for the position of LAP executive director. The applications are being processed by the board's personnel committee.

A motion was approved directing the personnel committee to submit the names of three candidates for the executive director position to the 33-member board for approval next month.

The directive will alter LAP bylaws which now designate that one name be put before the board for approval on a yes-or-no vote.

May advised board members to consider the matter in executive session and by unanimous vote. He said a split vote would tend to undermine the confidence of the person who would take the executive position.

Religious Journals Accuse U.S. Of Another Crucifixion

New York (AP) — Four national religious journals, Protestant and Roman Catholic, have issued a joint Holy Week editorial saying the United States is "repeating the crucifixion of Christ" in Southeast Asia.

The move came Monday as other religious leaders and groups protested the war on a broad front.

In a "Call to Penitence and Action" the four publications accused U.S. leaders of "cruel deception" about the war, of inflicting massive destruction on the Vietnamese people and supporting an oppressive Saigon government.

"American military might is repeating the crucifixion of Christ," the editorial declared.

It continued: "Let no one say that we are confusing religion and politics. Christ was crucified by soldiers of an imperial army in a conquered land under a ruler who enforced distorted law and maintained oppressive order.

"It is Christ who has taught us that what we do to the least of His brothers we do to Him. There was no clear separation of religion from politics on Golgotha, and there can be none today."

Publications carrying the Good Friday editorial are two lay-edited Catholic weeklies, Commonweal of New York and the National Catholic Reporter of Kansas City, Mo., and two ecumenical, Protestant-founded journals, Christian Century of Chicago and Christianity and Crisis of New York.

One Lives In Town

Madrid (UPI) — The smallest community in Spain, and possibly the world, is Aeneas — population 1. A recent census showed that all but one of the 45 inhabitants of the north Castilian plains village had moved to other towns. Only farmer Otilio Algara, 51, stayed behind to cultivate the land of his ancestors.

Development Construction Begins June 1

Omaha (AP) — Construction is scheduled to start June 1 on a development northwest of Omaha which a spokesman for the Mark Development Co. says could ultimately be valued at $40 million.

Living units planned for the 320-acre development include about 1,400 apartments, 500 townhouses and 240 single-family homes.

Recreation development planned includes a nine-hole, 36-par golf course, indoor swimming pool, bowling alley, indoor tennis court, roller skating rink, rifle and pistol range, archery range and an arts and crafts center.

A commercial area would include a shopping area totaling about 25,000 square feet, a motel with 200 to 300 rooms and possibly an office area. It has been estimated that it will take four to six years to complete the project.

Consulting engineers for the developer are Elliott and Black of Omaha. The Mark company is owned by Omaha developer E. Gene Wilczewski.

Introducing the 1971 Gulf Incentive Plan.

At Gulf, we're in the business of selling gasoline. And so are several dozen other companies.

Naturally, we'd like you to buy our gasoline instead of theirs. So we're offering you an incentive: Better service.

And, since we'll be depending on our dealers to give you that service, we're offering them an incentive:

A chance to win one of 210 brand new Ford LTD convertibles.

Good service for you.

Your incentive is based on research. We've found that one of the most important things you want from a service station is service.

In fact, we've found that our dealers' gasoline sales are almost directly proportional to the quality of service they give you.

Things like a prompt greeting. (Being there with a smile in 10 seconds or less.)

Checking under the hood. (Battery, oil, etc.)

The dealer's incentive is based on common sense. Anything worth having is worth working for.

And to a man who spends most of his time working on other people's cars, a new convertible is definitely worth having.

So this year, as usual, we sat down with our dealers to figure out how much gasoline they could reasonably expect to sell during the coming months.

We agreed on a goal. Then we told them about the convertibles.

We're giving away six in each of 35 sales districts, based on sales during the April-September period.

Any dealer can win.

In each district, two cars will go to small dealers, two to medium-size dealers and two to large dealers.

In each group, the first car will be given outright to the eligible dealer who shows the greatest gasoline sales increase over his goal. The second will be awarded in a drawing among the remaining eligible dealers who have met their goal. (And each half-percent increase over their goal brings them another chance in the drawing.)

In addition, the dealers who don't win a car, but still do a good job, can share in an estimated two million dollars' worth of merchandise awards throughout the year.

You can't lose.

The whole idea behind this plan is to encourage our dealers to give you better service than you can get anywhere else.

We realize we're asking them to work a lot harder at a job that's already hard enough. But we're offering a lot in return.

Because the better care they take of your car, the more you'll come back. And the more you come back, the better their chances of winning their convertibles.

Good service for you. A convertible for him.

Omaha To Get Funds For New Waste Plant

Washington (U) — The Environmental Protection Administration Monday announced a $2,115,000 grant to the City of Omaha for construction of a new waste treatment plant.

The money will be used for a $7.3 million project to extend a large sewer up the Papio Creek Valley to a treatment plant in downtown Omaha.

Omaha City officials announced Monday they are planning to issue $12 million in revenue bonds to pay to city's share of an overall $50 million sewage plant and collection system.

The Papio Valley link will be

Nebraska Given A Draft Quota Of 156 For May

Nebraska has been assigned a draft quota of 156 for May, down 10 from the April call, State Selective Service Director Lee Liggett reported Monday.

At the same time, the state has been authorized to go as high as 125 lottery sequence numbers in calling men for induction, Col. Liggett said. The previous high was 100.

The random sequence number limit to be observed in calling men for physical examinations has been raised from 150 to 175, he said.

Martin Proposes Reinstating 7% Investment Tax

Washington (U) —Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., has introduced legislation to reinstate the 7% investment tax credit for farmers, ranchers and businessmen up to a limit of $25,000.

The legislation is the result of "continuing increases in prices that farmers have to pay and continuing inflation that is threatening the small businessman," Martin said.

He said the Treasury Department estimates that enactment of the 7% investment tax credit would cost the federal government $300 million in revenues, "but it would certainly stimulate business at a time when our economy needs a shot in the arm."

Omaha To Get Funds For New Waste Plant

Washington (AP) — The Environmental Protection Administration Monday announced a $2,115,000 grant to the City of Omaha for construction of a new waste treatment plant.

The money will be used for a $7.3 million project to extend a large sewer up the Papio Creek Valley to a treatment plant in downtown Omaha.

Omaha City officials announced Monday they are planning to issue $12 million in revenue bonds to pay to city's share of an overall $50 million sewage plant and collection system.

The Papio Valley link will be the first stage of the program, Public Works Director Gene E. Jordan said.

NASA Picks 108 To Plan Flights Past 5 Planets

Washington (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has selected an international group of 108 scientists to begin work on unmanned flights past Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto beginning in 1976.

NASA said the five outer planets of the Solar System will soon be in an alignment that occurs only once every 179 years. It would enable the scientists to use the planet's gravitational forces to supplement spacecraft rocket thrust in the unannounced "grand tour" missions.

Services Slated For W. D. Pester, 77, Businessman

Broken Bow (AP) — Funeral services are tentatively planned for Thursday at the Govey Brothers Chapel here for William Dudley Pester, 77, a longtime Custer County businessman.

Pester died Monday in a Grand Island hospital.

Nebraska Given A Draft Quota Of 156 For May

Nebraska has been assigned a draft quota of 156 for May, down 10 from the April call, State Selective Service Director Lee Liggett reported Monday.

At the same time, the state has been authorized to go as high as 125 lottery sequence numbers in calling men for induction, Col. Liggett said. The previous high was 100.

The random sequence number limit to be observed in calling men for physical examinations has been raised from 150 to 175, he said.

Martin Proposes Reinstating 7% Investment Tax

Washington (AP) — Rep. Dave Martin, R-Nebr., has introduced legislation to reinstate the 7% investment tax credit for farmers, ranchers and businessmen up to a limit of $25,000.

The legislation is the result of "continuing increases in prices that farmers have to pay and continuing inflation that is threatening the small businessman," Martin said.

He said the Treasury Department estimates that enactment of the 7% investment tax credit would cost the federal government $800 million in revenues, "but it would certainly stimulate business at a time when our economy needs a shot in the arm."

26-30	16	16	16	16	16	16	16

FOR GREAT ECONOMY — start your ad for 10 times, cancel when you obtain results. You pay only the cost earned at the time of cancellation.

These low-cost rates apply to Want Ads from within the State of Nebraska which are placed for 10 days or less and are paid for within 10 days after the ad expires or is cancelled. Daily rate for ads from outside State of Nebraska is 55 cents per line.

DEADLINES FOR FAMILY WANT ADS—Call before 6 p.m. Monday through Friday for publication on Monday. Call before 5 p.m. on Saturdays for Monday morning publication. Sunday Journal and Star call anytime before 5 p.m. on Saturdays for publication Sunday.

ERRORS: Advertisers should check their ad on first insertion and report any errors at once. Dial 473-7451.

ADJUSTMENTS: The company is responsible for typographical errors or misclassification only to cancel the first day's charge on the portion on or after that may be rendered useless by that error. All ads will be classified properly.

BLIND BOY SERVICE: There is $1.00 additional charge for this confidential service. When using a Blind Boy Number, order the ad to your Want Ad copy, figure the charges from the above table and add $1.00 for Blind Boy Service Charges.

TO PLACE ADS Dial 473-7451

800 742-7315 for outside, toll free ad placement.

[illegible]

A cartoon by Vern Greene. A boy and a girl are sitting at a table. The boy is holding a leaf and a small object, looking surprised. The girl is looking at him. A speech bubble from the boy says: "AUNT MAGGIE KNOWS MORE ABOUT IT THAN SHE DOES!"

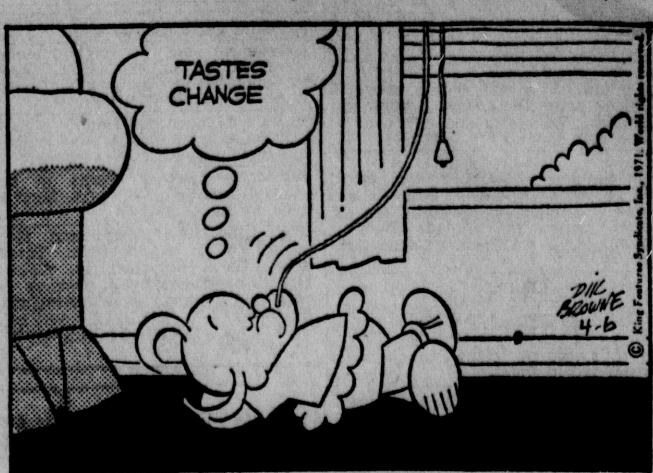

"What I hate about spring is by the time it gets here, you've made such a long list of things to do, you wish it wouldn't."

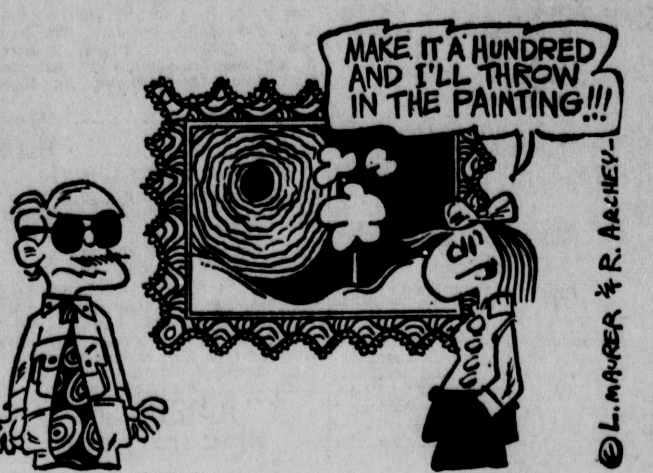

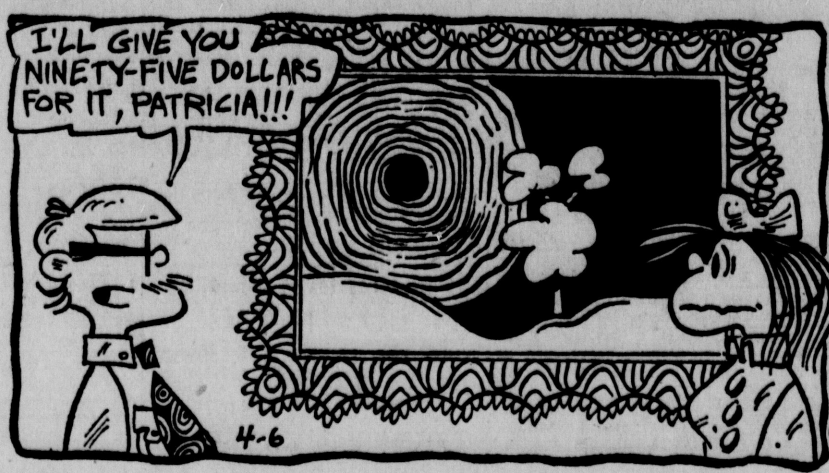

"I think we should have settled out of court."

"It's my time to relax -- PJ is taking a nap."

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

Modern calendars are fashioned to look like slide rules, mobiles and cubes.

When Queen Shubad of Ur died more than 3,000 years ago, four harpists were among the 40 servants entombed with her.

More than 200 million calendars were issued in the United States in 1970.

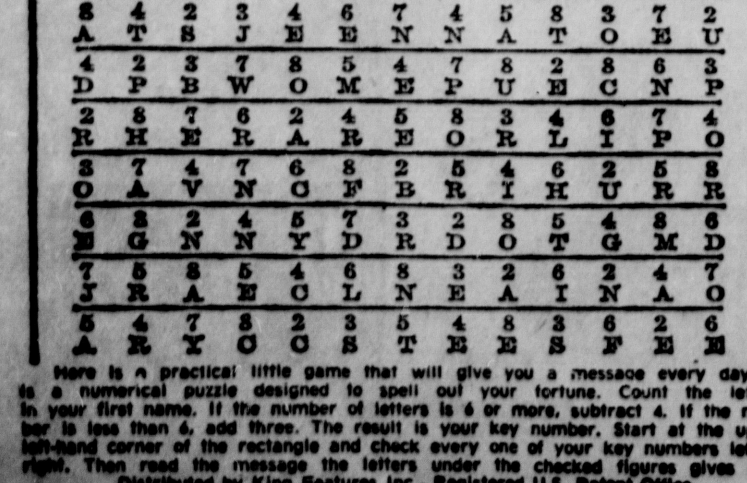

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
